DAVIS HAS HIS WAY

Political Views and News from Center of Activity of State

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU.
Columbus, April 23.
COLUMBUS.—(Special.)—If one takes the trouble to read the newspapers, weekly and bi-weekly, in the villages in these districts, he can learn something. County committees are endorsing men for positions under the new reorganization ripper bill
as if the classified civil service or merit system never had been heard of in all Ohio. They have a real 'emergency.' There are 64 times who have not eaten regularly for ever so long and then there are young-fellows—may they be preserved
from their errors—who are burning with anxiety to get on a payroll which is regarded as certain. These fellows as the editor would call them, explain many things. They let folks know the reason why Senators J. F.
Burke and G. H. Bender are being cursed with a vim for daring to bring the referendum killer to the highest court in the state. The patrons involved also make it plain why the votes were gotten for the so-called emergency clause. But Messrs. Bender and Burke are going on their way undisturbed. The question they have will in due season set to the high court, whether chairmen hunting patronage are pleased or displeased.

Will the court take notice of the fact? Will it preserve that behind the ratifying vote was a mass of patronage deals? Moreover, if the question be presented how much will
it weigh that judicial right to pass upon the constitutionality of any statute will virtually have been considered away if the Ohio Supreme court holds that an emergency can be fabricated out of thin air and a ridiculous situation. These are questions that discussion will develop from day to day. In the presentation of the legal phases there are to be two sets of counselors, so how can any possible case escape them? There is a heavy of eminent counsel of the Democratic faith with a general invitation issued to all and several to get into the game. Next there is Messrs. Burke and Bender and finally there are the two progressive lawyers in the Republican party almost certain to be attracted by the invitation of the Senators to help defend the people's referendum.
Some array? Eh? What?

In order to get the proper interpretation of the newest—or is it merely the next to the last taxon
proposal to the last taxation
proposal to the last taxation
proposal?—one must read it standing up, sitting down, standing on head, right to left, like the Chinese, forwards and backwards. Then you cannot be sure. Hasty persons said it is classification—but the wise old uniform rule folks—and John H.
Chester, the chief of the clan, is no
fool—he really is no concession at all. The truth seems to lie over in their direction. The more the classificationists saw it the more they swore. Oh yes, old man Chester conceded something in principle but he took all the visible property when he was doing it. The fellows who are rich waging losing classification fight before the people swore the night before. They know they cannot collect a green nickel on this proposition for 'education of the committees.' They know that. In the first place, this thing of no deductions for debts will rule every business man, building and less, etc., and then the fixing of a minimum of one half of one per cent on intangibles will make the bondholders swear worse than ever. They wanted, fellow sufferers, about one-tenth of one per cent. Uncle John Chester said there would be no harm in that. It was merely playing fox and goose with other side. Senator Frank E.
Whitmore read it and aid it was a joke. And the steaming lobby said, "So say we all of us."

Temporarily, the attempt to Pennsylvaniaize the Ohio election machinery has been knocked into a cocked hat. This was to have been anticipated after the very raw points in the program had been exposed. It was just another manifestation of fundamental crookedness somewhere. But that down. This old watcher will not attempt to say where, but the sinister motive reated somewhere. Men do not do things for nothing. To the Hamilton-co delegation may be given credit for burning the fact into the minds of the ruralites that the thing was ridiculous in the extreme. All efforts to find out whence came the provision that voters be required to state
their partisan affiliations when reg-

POOR TEAM IS UNHITCHED BY COURT ORDEROld Family Horse and Two-Year-Old Ties Dissolved In Divorce Decree

COLUMBUS.—The old family horse and the two-year-old make a poor team, was one sentence in the decision of Judge Will Stephenson of Adams-co Saturday in granting John J. Lentz, former congressman from the Columbus district, and national president of the American Insurance
Union, a divorce from Alta Ford Lentz.

Judge Stephenson, altho he refused Mrs. Lentz a divorce, asked for in a cross petition, granted her $12,500
alimony, their sedan automobile, the house in which she had been residing, and the custody of their minor child, John J. Lentz, Jr., for six months each year.

Judge Stephenson's decision was not factious. "It is the common experience," he said, "of man, that when the discrepancy in the ages of the contracting parties is in the ratio of 56 to 34, connubial bliss does not run riot."

Speaking of the interest of Mrs.
Lentz in her husband, the court said:
"The heaven, the heaven implanted glow."
"That true hearts call 'love,' ah,
no, ah, no."

Commenting again, the court said
of Lentz, "he submitted to assaults and indignities without number and it must be said to his credit that he was too much of a man to strike the mother of his child. Even courts admire vivacity in womankind and countenance occasional outbursts of temper, but self-preservation demands that feminine vivacity must not be permitted to become amazon-ic."

TAXATION FIGHT STILL ON

Anti-Rent Profiteering Bill Also to Be Disposed of.

COLUMBUS.—Legislative leaders Saturday tightened lines for the finish of their fights in the state legislature.

House and senate members, indicated they would be ready for final adjournment by the week-end and sponsors of two important measures prepared to put their programs thru promptly beginning Monday.

The taxation problem still remained one of the perplexities. A Senate Republican caucus was scheduled for Monday in an effort to agree on a program for this session.
The resolution of the McCoy White-
more for a constitutional amendment will be submitted to the casusary. The separate programs of the senate and the house also will be proposed.

RENT BILL ON PROGRAM
Supporters of the McCoy anti-rent profiteering bill were ready to rush action. The house cities committee has been called for a special meeting Tuesday when the proposal will be considered. The bill has been on the committee for weeks, but a recent decision of the United States supreme court opened the way for its passage.

Another attempt to revive the election reclassification was threatened Saturday night by Representative Graham.
MINIMUM WAGE Women were jubilant over the announcement of Senator Emmert that the senate manufacture and commerce committee in session
Tuesday night would consider the Schrimper minimum wage for women and children. They declared three of the seven members were pledged to support the proposal and Senator Sparks, of Dayton, probably will give his vote.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION
The Donahay bill, increasing workmen's compensation insurance awards and Day measure for a specified fund to fight crime waves were other bills scheduled to be jammed.

DRAWS PRISON TERM
CINCINNATI.—Eighteen months
in the Atlanta federal prison was the sentence imposed in the United States district court here Saturday upon Carl Sweeney, mail truck driver who pleaded guilty to taking goods from the mail. Postoffice inspectors told the court of the "other woman" at whose home in this city
Sweeney stored the stolen goods.
Sweeney, who has a wife and three children, lives in Dayton, Kentucky.

Presented at Present Session.

JOB HUNTERS BUSY

Maiden Speech In Congress
Is Made by Representative Cable

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU

Washington, April 23

WASHINGTON.—(Special.)—

Under the terms of a compromise said to have been agreed upon by Republican House leaders and to have been approved by President Harding, the reapportionment bill to be introduced during the present
special session of Congress will establish a basis of apportionment under the 1920 census that will increase the House membership from 435 to 460.

Ohio, under this plan, will gain
three members of Congress. The new arrangement, if adopted at this session, will become effective for the Congressional elections in 1922.
This means that there will be three additional members of Congress to be voted upon in Ohio next year. As it is not likely that the Governor will call a special session of the General Assembly next year just for redistricting purposes, the chances are that the three new members will be elected from the state at large,
leaving the task of redistricting for the next General Assembly Politics.

At present, the Ohio membership
in the House is solidly Republican,
but there can be no plan of redistricting devised by the Republicans that will not provide for at least a half dozen districts normally Democratic. But it can not be denied that there is a big advantage to the party which is in control of the legislature when a new redistricting bill is passed and undoubtedly this issue will be stressed during the state campaign next year. Cuyahoga-co is certain to get another member, while it is probable that Summit-co will constitute a district unto itself, because of its phenomenal growth in population during the last ten years.

The reapportionment bill passed by the House at the last session fixed the membership of the House the same as at present, 435 members.
Had this bill passed the Senate and been approved by the President,
Ohio would have gained two members, while several states would have lost from one to three each.
President Harding is said to have relocated a proposal to re-introduce this bill at the present session. To do so would deprive several states of one or more Representatives at a time when the Republican national committee is particularly anxious not to give offense in this connection. A number of border states in which the Republican party made important gains last November would be affected adversely by such a program. Vermont, a citadel of Republicanism, which now has two members, would be reduced to one.
Maine and Missouri also would lose one each.

The whole problem of Republican invasion of the Solid South is involved in the reapportionment program.
Analysis of the 1920 census has disclosed material losses in population
in many rural districts, particularly in the South and in the northern states.
The trend for the last ten years has been distinctly away from the country and toward the cities. As there are few large cities in the South,
any movement to reapportion the country on the basis of the new census without providing for an increase in the House membership
would result in immediate or ultimate reductions in the representation of a number of the southern states.
In this connection, tentative proposals are still attributable to war overhang, but there is need for

the economy in the ordinary governmental activities. I believe
President Harding is taking steps
toward that end and he should have
the entire cooperation of congress.

DAUGHERTY WILL PROSE DEATH OF MAJOR CRONKHITE

Major A. P. Cronkhite
Attorney General Daugherty has announced that he will investigate
personally the death of Major A. P.
Cronkhite and the charges growing out of the major's death. A board of inquiry decided Major Cronkhite killed himself during pistol practice. Later Sergeant Roland Pothier was arrested charged with the murder.
Pothier involved Capt. Robert Rosenbluth, who is also charged with murder.

HOPE FOR LOWER TAXES FADESCut Made Difficult by Big Appropriations of Congress.

$4,500,000,000 REACHED

Allotments Already Equal Last Year's Budget.

(By HERBERT W. WALKER)
WASHINGTON.—Congress, despite its volumes of talk on governmental economy, will make an annual appropriation of more than $4, 500,000,000 during the first six months of this year, official reports of the senate and house appropriations committees show Saturday night.

The amount is virtually the same as appropriations made last year and is one of the greatest peace-time allotments ever made by congress in such a short time. Reduction of taxes, which already have shown a big shrinkage because of the slump
in business, is thus made much more difficult, congressional leaders admit.

NEW APPROPRIATIONS

The appropriations, Representative Good, Iowa, chairman of the house appropriations committee, declared, show the necessity for an immediate reorganization and reduction of governmental activities.

To date, the permanent and annual appropriations which have been made since January 1, total $2,806, 029,537.72. This includes the naval bill as it will be passed by the house at the last session. The amount was increased about $90,000,000 by the senate naval affairs committee.
The big total, however, is a reduction of $1,453,485,926 from departmental estimates.

The annual appropriations, being the ones upon which congress has acted directly during the last few months, total $2,420,253,385.85.
Permanent appropriations, which are continued from year to year, unless congress authorizes otherwise, total $1,385,776,380.78. Nearly all of this consists of the interest on the public debt and a sinking fund to retire Liberty bonds.

MORE NEEDED

In addition, during the last week,
congress has received notice that probably $700,000,000, more in appropriations will be needed. Another $400,000,000 will be needed to pay railroad losses, the shipping board wants $170,000,000 more,
the federal board of vocational education $15,000,000 and miscellaneous
requests total more than $50, 000,000. In addition, a bill is pending to authorize the expenditure of another $100,000,000 as federal aid
to good roads.

Because of the large appropriations total, Republican House leaders plan to push the budget bill thru
to final enactment within the next few weeks.
"We must reduce governmental expenditures," said Good. "This country cannot stand the heavy burden of taxation. Our two main hopes lie in effective budget and a complete reorganization and paring down of the government departments."
A large amount of the current appropriations are still attributable to war overhang, but there is need for
the economy in the ordinary governmental activities. I believe
President Harding is taking steps
toward that end and he should have
the entire cooperation of congress.

NEW BERLIN
NOTE TO U.S.
IS AWAITEDGermany's Reply to Hughes
on Reparations Is Expected Any Moment

MAY BRING CRISIS

American, British, French Relations Likely to be Involved In Document

(By A. L. BRADFORD)

WASHINGTON.—Future relations between the United States and France and Great Britain are involved in the reparations reply expected to be received here at any moment from the German government. It was felt in official and diplomatic circles in Washington Saturday night.

The profound effect upon Europe and the whole world of the reply of Secretary of State Hughes to Germany's appeal that President Harding mediate the reparations question, was more vividly impressed upon the state department Saturday night after time had been had to study and analyze the reaction from abroad.

However, the attitude of the United States in the question facing Europe
of how far Germany shall be made to pay for the world war was felt to have overshadowed the important moves being made abroad.

IMPORTANT MOVES

Some of these moves are the conference between Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain and Premier Brundage of France at Hythe; the completion of plans by Marshal Foch to occupy the Ruhr region of Germany
if that country does not make the preliminary payment of $1,000,000, 000 gold marks, due by May 1; the activities of the reparations commission in deciding for presentation to Germany by May 1, of definite and total reparations that must be paid;
and the apparently frantic efforts being made by the German government leaders in Berlin to get the new reparations proposals in the hands of the United States and the allies before Premier Lloyd-George agrees at Hythe to the plan that Premier Briand is believed to have carried to the conference for the occupation of the Ruhr district.

PROBABLE COURSE

Designed to prevent any friction
with France, officials believed that before Secretary Hughes takes any definite action on the German proposals, the United States will have informal exchanges with France and Great Britain and possibly Italy to reach a mutual agreement on whether to accept or reject the German plan.

The whole question of how far the United States and even Great Britain will support France in her dramatic demands on Germany for reparations, it is believed, however, will develop when Secretary Hughes takes up the question of German counter-proposals with the allied governments.

GERMANS DRAFTING NOTE

BERLIN.—Eleventh hour changes were made Saturday night in German reparations proposals to the allies.

The cabinet, after drafting a note
for transmission to President Harding, assembled again early in the evening to retouch its proposals.
"Squabbling developed at this discussion and at eight o'clock the meeting broke up to reconvene again
later."

It was stated that possibly the note could not be completed in time to be cabled here Saturday night.

The cabinet's evident perturbation gave rise to several reports of concessions under discussion. None of these were official, however, and there was no indication that the offer of 50,000,000,000 gold marks
would be altered.

HYTHE.—England.—Premier
Lloyd-George and Brundage of Great Britain and France politically agreed Saturday to tighten the screws on Germany.

America's refusal to act as mediator between the allies and Germany was interpreted at the conference here as permission to proceed with the plans.

Another decision in the two-hour conference was to reject the German offer to reconstruct the devastated regions of France.

OFFICIALS PUZZLED
OVER WOMAN LEPER

WATERBURY, Conn.—Health
officials are in a quandary as to disposition of a case of leprosy, positively diagnosed Saturday after being under suspicion for several weeks.

Pending instructions from the state health commissioner, the patient, a woman, is under strict quarantine in a tenement house. Local authorities who wanted to send her to the government institution for leprosy in Louisiana, have been notified that no more can be accommodated there now.

They expressed belief she had contracted the disease from a New York fish dealer with whom she had been trading and who later was found to be a leper.

BIG BILL IS GIVEN
SOVIET OFFICEHaywood Becomes Chief Propagandist for Russian Reds.

JOINS LENINE AND TROTSKY

Former I. W. W. Leader Aspires to Dictatorship.

(By CARL VICTOR LITTLE)

CHICAGO.—"Big Bill" Haywood aspires to the dictatorship of continental Europe, with Lenin and Trotzky, the present soviet czars of Russia.

This was the reason Haywood, I.
W. W. leader, under sentence to serve 20 years in Leavenworth prison for violation of the espionage act, took refuge in Russia, it was revealed to the United Press Saturday night by Chicago radicals, the ultra-radical minority faction of the I. W. W.
District Attorney Clyne said he had definite information that Haywood went to Russia to become associated with Lenin and Trotzky as the Bolshevik organizer for Europe.

CHIEF PROPAGANDIST

According to Clyne, an agent of soviet Russia called on Haywood and induced him to join the Russian dictators as chief propagandist and organizer in the impending intensive drive to sovietize all of Europe.

Radicals here, who asked not to be quoted, said the reds of Russia believe the time is ripe to start a campaign to establish revolutionary governments in other countries.

They said Haywood was confident the time had arrived for the Bolsheviki to strike for the rule of all Europe. He was convinced the action brought about by the German reparations demand; the British labor situation and other economic conditions in Europe made the workers susceptible to a soviet campaign. The "big three" leaders in the campaign—Lenine, Trotzky and Haywood—hope to dominate the European political situation within a few months, according to the opinion among Haywood's former associates here.

SHATTERED IDOL

Radicals said that Haywood was ambitious to become a world factor in proletarian government. Otto Christensen, attorney for Haywood, said Saturday night it is probably that his client did link his destinies with the Russian rulers.

"Haywood as a leader and organizer, was ambitious," said Christensen, who asserts the fact that Haywood left his American I. W. W. followers in the lurch. "It may be that he joined Lenin, Trotzky and Company, altho I shouldn't think they would have anything to do with a man who threw over his fellow workers in this country by deserting them."

All I. W. W.'s but the ultra-radicals, join Christensen, looking upon Haywood as a shattered idol because of his flight.

Clyne said Haywood's first job
with Lenin and Trotzky would be to spread Bolshevik propaganda designed to rule the morale of the armies and navies of European countries.

SENTENCE UPHELD
COLUMBUS.—The Franklin-co
court of appeals Saturday sustained judgment of the lower courts in sentencing Lawrence "Hinie" Piehl, former saloon-keeper to from one
to seven years in the penitentiary.
He was charged with receiving stolen goods.

HEARING TO BE HELD ON SUSPENSIONDeposed Police Head Victorious In First Legal Tilt
Before Commission

TRIAL THIS WEEK

Mayor Orders the Locks Changed at Headquarters
—Liquor Has Kick

The suspension of Police Chief O.
J. Roush by Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, for "insubordination to superior officers," will be taken up by the municipal civil service commission Monday morning.

The commissioners, altho they had not had legal notice of the suspension, are understood to have met informally Saturday and agreed that Roush has a right to an appeal to that body and that it will hear the case.

Roush, thru his attorneys, George H. Quail and Melvin C. Light, will appear before the commission Monday morning and ask that a date for hearing of the appeal be set, according to Quail.

Under the law the commission must set a date of hearing within five days of the date of the filing of the motion of appeal.

OPPOSITE VIEW HELD

However, Mayor F. A. Burkhardt and City Solicitor Garling, altho
they have notified the commission of the suspension, are of the opinion that Roush has no appeal.

"We are acting under Section 454-17 General Code of Ohio," said Mayor Burkhardt. "It says that nothing in the acts shall prevent a superior officer from suspending a subordinate for 30 days for disciplinary reasons. Garling and I hold that this does not admit any right of appeal but of course that is up to the commission."

The mayor admits that in all probability the fight against Roush will be carried to a finish; that a dismissal will be asked and that the 30 day suspension is only preliminary.

A communication demanding that the mayor submit notice of the suspension to the civil service commission setting out the charges, was received by Mayor Burkhardt Saturday from Roush thru his attorneys.

ORDER IS CERTIFIED

After consulting with Solicitor
Garling, the mayor sent the commission copies of the notice of suspension that had been served on Roush.
"Insubordination to superior officers"
is the charge asserted.

The combination of the safe in the office of the safety director was changed Saturday night by order of Mayor Burkhardt and the new combination was given to the acting chief, Jess B. Hargrove.

"Roush refused to divulge the combination of the safe Saturday morning, so I ordered Safety Director Fisher to have it changed," said Mayor Burkhardt Saturday night.
Fisher opened the safe Saturday and gave Fisher access to the contents," said Roush when asked about the combination but I would not have given it if I had been asked for it, until an inventory is made of the contents. Captain Dawson has the combination and they can get it from him if they want it. There is nothing of any value in it."

LIQUOR IS TESTED

A test of the liquids taken in the state agents' raid just previous to the chief's suspension was made for alcoholic content Saturday afternoon and, according to Mayor Burkhardt, was found to be "somewhat harder than was previously expected." Results of the tests were not given out.

Further changes in the police department personnel may be expected,
according to Mayor Burkhardt, altho he would not say where the axe
may be expected to fall.

FOUR GALLONS OF BEER IS LIMIT

WASHINGTON.—An arbitrary limit of 7.5 gallons of beer and three gallons of wine as the maximum a physician may prescribe at any one time has been set in new prohibition regulations which await the approval of David H. Blair, the new commissioner of internal revenue.

In making the announcement Saturday Prohibition Commissioner Kramer said that while under Attorney General Palmer's recent opinion the amount of beer or wine prescribed by a physician over a given period could not be limited, it was believed that the amount of individual prescriptions could be limited to a reasonable maximum.

It would not be practical, he said,
to require a patient for whom two or three bottles of beer a day might be prescribed, to obtain a prescription for each day.

Insurance of beer and wine regulations, Mr. Kramer said, will depend entirely upon the decision of the new internal revenue commissioner. Regulations as prepared for his approval,
he said, were merely tentative.

PLAN PRETTY AFFAIRS FOR NEAR FUTURE

Coming Week to be Prolific of Social Events of Charm and Interest—League of Women Voters Arrange to Give Play, "Counsel Retained"

(By ROSEMARY CHRISTEN)

WITH the many affairs which are scheduled for the near future, ladies will be kept very busy sitting about, attending all the pretty affairs planned.

Monday evening the Elks' home will be the scene of an attractive affair to be given by the Woman's Board of Managers of the City hospital as a benefit for the hospital. Members of the board have been diligently and earnestly working in making arrangements for the dance and an enjoyable evening will be assured all those in attendance.

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Mercy Circle of King's Daughters will meet at the home of Mrs. Grace Enck, W. Market-st., to complete arrangements for their annual May Day breakfast to be given Tuesday, May 3, at Trinity M. E. church. A number of reservations have already been made for the breakfast, which promises to be even more delightful than in previous years. Anyone desiring reservations will please call Mrs. Clinton Sealts, chairman of the dining room committee.

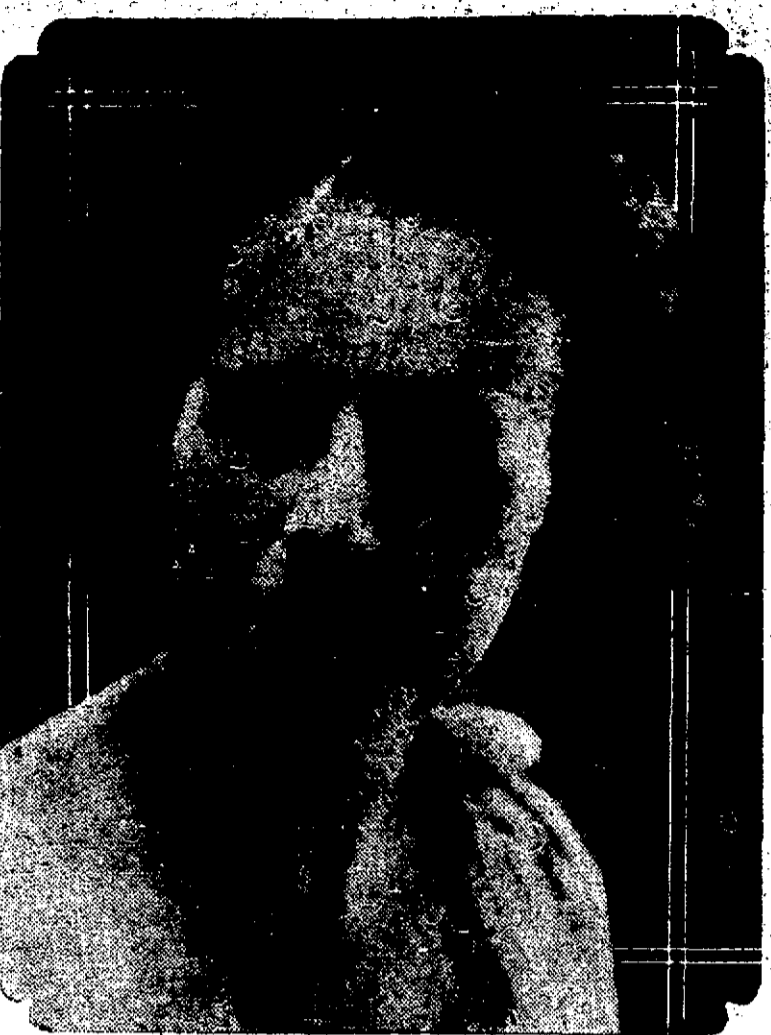

A tea will be given at the home of Mrs. D. L. Sherwood Saturday, April 24, under the auspices of the League of Women Voters.

A program of unique interest and charm is being planned, which will feature a playlet, "Counsel Retained," under the direction of Mrs. Frank Bell, with the cast including Mrs. Oscar Young, Mrs. Berda Ewing, Fritz and Mrs. Phil Crow. Reports of the convention of the League of Women Voters held in Cleveland at the Hotel Statler recently, will be given. Those in attendance from this city included Mrs. Ross Mullen, Miss Drusilla Perry and Mrs. Phil Crow. The public is cordially invited and any non-member of the league may be made a charter member by her attendance at this gathering.

Miss Mae Shawler was tendered a pleasant surprise Friday evening when a number of friends gathered at her home in celebration of her 77th birthday anniversary. The evening was pleasantly whiled away socially and later a tasty lunch was served.

Those present included Misses Wiegert, Helen DeForest, Edna Cox, Gladys Crawford, Hazel Wheeler, Gladys Rutledge, Gladys Moyer, Agnes Wendelmoot, Clara Lawrence, Messrs. Leo Shawler, Charles Porter, Raymond Shawler, Harold Shawler, Anna Shawler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lear, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shawler and Mrs. Funnell.

LIMA COLLEGE GIRL

She was graduated from the Lima Central high school in 1917 and during her four years of college life at Ohio Wesleyan has been very active in all the school affairs.

Mrs. Simons, W. Eureka-st., received the members of the Social Service club at her home Thursday afternoon. The rooms were very attractive with spring flowers and the afternoon hours were whiled away socially. In a clever contest Mrs. James Leming and Mrs. L. Clemens were successful while Mrs. Carl Mast was successful in the floral contest. Guests other than members were Mrs. A. W. Shade and Mrs. H. L. Simons. The hostess was assisted in serving a dainty two course luncheon by Mrs. H. L. Simons.

Members of the "Strollers" club were delightfully entertained at a stag party at the home of Willard James, Bellefontaine-ave., Friday evening was enjoyed in cards and music after which Mrs. E. M. James, mother of the host, served a delicious lunch.

In celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. W. G. Biner, a group of friends tendered her a pleasant surprise at her home on S. Elizabeth-st. Friday. The afternoon was enjoyed socially and later a dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Biner received many very pretty gifts.

Those who called were: Mrs. J. A. Maloy, Mrs. Perry Hartzog, Mrs. Earl Snyder, Mrs. Ross Stapleton, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. I. W. Brown and Miss Helen Sweeney.

Mrs. Guy Kerr, N. Metcalf-st., is improving nicely following a serious operation which she underwent at St. Rita's hospital, Monday.

Young Ladies' society of First Congregational church will not meet Monday as planned because of the death of R. Evans, but will meet Monday, May 2.

In celebration of the sixth birthday anniversary of their son Richard, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Shaw delightfully entertained a group of children at their home Friday. The afternoon hours were happily whiled away in childish games and music, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. Paper hats were presented as favors and Master Richard was the recipient of a number of useful gifts.

Guests included Martha Stevenson, June Kinsler, Winifred Byerly, Lois Gray, Alice Shaw, Dean Ransbottom, Harold Jewell, John Eyer, Paul Hemper, Howard Rinkard, Vernon Shaw, Bobby Hemper and Paul Rinkard.

Young Ladies' society of First Congregational church will meet Monday evening with Mrs. Alfred Gleaves, W. Wayne-st. Mrs. J. A. Jones will act as assistant hostess.

J. G. Hersh, Jr., was host to the members of the "Dubs Fraternity" at their weekly meeting Friday evening. During the business session Joseph Fritz was chosen captain of the "Dubs" basketball team. A social hour followed and a delicious lunch was served.

Members present included Merle Morrison, president; Myron Easton, secretary; Joseph Fritz, Harold Ebling, Clermont Frysinger, Frederick Roberts and the host.

Mrs. D. Green will entertain the members of the Wimodaghie club at a covered dish luncheon at her home on W. High-st. Friday.

Home Makers' class of South Side Church of Christ will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. O. S. Dixon, 112 E. Second-st. All members urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Biner entertained a group of relatives and intimate friends at their home on S. Elizabeth-st. Friday at 6 o'clock dinner, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Biner.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Custer, Baumgardner, Misses Nora and Helen Kraft, Miss Dora Biner and the host and hostess.

St. Rita's Guild will hold its regular meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the hospital.

Clonlan club will meet with Mrs. Will Roberts, 319 W. Wayne-st., Monday afternoon. All members are requested to be present at the annual election of officers will be held.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stokes, W. Wayne-st., left by motor Saturday for Detroit to be the guests of Mr. Stokes' parents. They were accompanied by James Laddin.

Mrs. G. W. Sanders left Saturday for Toledo where she will attend the millinery openings to be held during the coming week.

VARIED SOCIAL EVENTS DURING THE PAST WEEK

Lima Women In Goodly Numbers Attend Convention of Federated Woman's Clubs at Van Wert—Many Witness Production of "Katcha Koo"

ALMOST everyone was kept busy during the past week with its varied social activities. It was an unusually interesting week in that some entertainment or diversion was afforded almost every type of woman, including those interested in club work, dramatic work, social activities and other pleasures.

Of great interest to many women was the convention of the northwest district of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, held at the Y. W. C. A. in an Wert Tuesday and Wednesday. The meeting convened Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and many interesting addresses and delightful musical selections were given. Dr. Josephine Pierce, of this city, won great favor with her audience by her splendid and enthusiastic talk on "Child Welfare." Tuesday evening a banquet and reception was enjoyed in the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium, which was decorated in splendid array for the occasion. Wednesday noon marked the close of the convention, after a most enjoyable morning of important talks, with subjects especially interesting to women.

Those from this city in attendance included Mrs. Beecher Moke, Mrs. D. J. Cable, Mrs. Luah M. Butler, Mrs. Frank Boone, Dr. Josephine Pierce, Mrs. Eugene Lippinott, Mrs. Abrams, Mrs. Heister, Mrs. C. S. Baxter, Miss Leane Smith, Mrs. Howard Fletcher, Mrs. J. W. Roby and Mrs. Maud Mathews.

Friday and Saturday evenings the auditorium at the Elks' Home was filled with appreciative audiences which thoroughly enjoyed the performance of "Katcha Koo," American Oriental musical comedy presented under the auspices of the St. Martin's Guild of Christ Episcopal church. The cast included the best of Lima's talent and each interpreted his or her own part remarkably well.

Wednesday Mrs. M. M. Hyman and Mrs. Benjamin Ackerman received a group of friends at the Hyman home on State-st at an attractive affair.

Mrs. George Eckert was hostess at bridge at her home on W. High-st. Friday.

Numerous other affairs of a pleasing nature were given thruout the week, which made it a most enjoyable one.

Mrs. R. D. Chamberlain, 406 Washington-st., will be hostess to the members of the U. S. club Thursday evening.

Special and literary club, with meet Thursday evening with Mrs. W. T. Kinzer, N. Collett-st.

Mrs. C. R. Langstaff opened her home on Ohio-st. Friday to the members of the A. K. Q. J. club. The rooms were very attractive thruout potted with primroses and profusions of spring blossoms. Pinochle was presented as pastime. Mrs. A. T. Logo, Mrs. Myrtle Boggs, Mrs. E. F. Sienburger, holding high scores, Mrs. Charles Preston favored with a piano solo after which the hostess served a dainty lunch assisted by Mrs. D. Apples and Mrs. Sophia South. Dainty favors were presented each guest and in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. P. A. Sauter, secretary of the club, the president presented her a pretty gift on behalf of the members of the club. Mrs. Joseph Geyer was admitted as a new member and guests other than club members were Mrs. F. M. Laughlin, Mrs. E. F. Sienburger, Detroit; Mrs. D. Apples, Mrs. Sophia South and Mrs. Charles Preston.

Members present included Messrs. Harry Wallburn, John Bowersock, Myrtle Boggs, P. A. Sauter, A. T. Logo, W. M. Perry, C. C. Bathel and the hostess.

Club will meet in a fortnight with Mrs. Ethel Rader, 904 E. Second-st.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Gross, E. High-st., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethel to Dr. John M. Shotz, Barborton. The wedding will be solemnized sometime during the summer.

A few friends gathered at the Hastings home on W. High-st Tuesday in celebration of the 11th birthday anniversary of Miss Ruth.
A theatre party was enjoyed in the afternoon after which Miss Ruth and her guests repaired to her home
where a 6 o'clock dinner was served. Centering the dining room table was a large birthday cake, containing 11 candles and a color scheme of yellow and white was detailed in all the appointments. Yellow nut baskets were presented as favors and dainty place cards marked each cover. Following dinner games, music and contests, in which Miss Steiner and Miss Helen Eversole were successful, were enjoyed. Miss

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the assistance, the kindness, and sympathy extended to us during the illness and death of our dear son and brother, DeWitt Masterson. We tender thanks also to Rev.
T. D. Hathcock and Rev. Collins, and to the choir, and to Rev. L. R.
Mitchell for their consoling messages.

From the Family.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our good friends and neighbors for the many deeds of kindness shown us during the recent illness and death of our beloved husband and father. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mash and Calf Meal at Dorsey's.

Mrs. William Dobbins was hostess to the members of the Floral Guild Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. M. L. Maize as assistant hostess. The rooms were most artistic with potted plants. Twenty-seven members responded to roll call with household hints and the floral committee reported having sent seven bouquets to the city hospital during the month of April. Finance committee reported proceeds of $15.00
from the Bridge-Euchre-Tumble party held at the Elks' home recently. Plans were discussed for a benefit affair to be held the latter part of the month. Mrs. William Roush gave a splendid report of the open meeting of the city Federation of Women's clubs held recently. In compliance with a resolution adopted at the Federation meeting Mrs.
Belle Sharp was chosen club critic.
The only guests of the afternoon
were Mrs. J. T. Nichols and Mrs.
Charles Young. A two-course luncheon served by the hostesses.

Mrs. W. Reigle received the members of the Blue Bell club at her home on Orana-ave Thursday. At the conclusion of the business meeting a program of readings was presented by Mrs. W. Vorkamp and Mrs.
F. H. Healey. In unique contests
Mrs. F. Taylor and Mrs. G. Olson were successful. A two course lunch was served by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. R. C. Whitney.
Mrs. Richardson was the only guest.

Woman's Music club recital to be held at Memorial hall Tuesday evening in charge of the club chorus with Mrs. Millie Sonntag, Ufer as conductor; Miss Nellie Kriele, pianist; Mrs. Gail Watson, cable, violinist, and Miss Hazel Gleason, sopranist.

The following program has been arranged:
(a) "Turn Not From Me", Bononcini
(b) "Dance, Little Maid", Durante
Chorus

Soprano—
(a) "First Meeting", Grieg
(b) "The Night Wind", Parley
(c) "The Bitterness of Love",

Chorus
(a) "After a Dream", Faure
(b) "It Was a Lover and His Lass", J. P. Dunn

(a) Viennese Melody "The Old Refrain", Kreisler
(b) "Swing Song", Barnes
(c) Spanish Dance No. 8, Saracate

Mrs. Gail Watson cable,
"Fantasy on a Russian Folk Song",
Richard Gaines
Violin—Mrs. Gail Watson cable

The chorus is composed of the following: Mrs. C. S. Baxter, Mrs. Roy Banta, Mrs. Charles Barr, Mrs. F. J.
Callahan, Mrs. John Carnes, Mrs. J.
H. Davison, Mrs. J. E. Evans, Mrs.
F. E. Gooding, Mrs. E. A. Hauss,
Mrs. I. R. Longworth, Mrs. Melvin Light, Mrs. J. W. Roby, Mrs. Morris
Thomas, Mrs. Frank Wright, Mrs.
O. N. Young, Misses Christine Baker, Genevieve Blair, Catharine Ciole, Hazel Gleason, Mary Kirk, Violet
Lewis, Florence Priest, Blanche Reed, Edith Schumann, Minnie

C. Feltz, Mrs. Forster Robinson,
Mrs. William Roberts, Mrs. R. O.
Wood, Misses Helen Bowers, Ella
Eysenbach, Eric Hunt, Lou King
and Maud Michael, alto.

The appearance of Mrs. Gail Watson cable, who is now residing in Lima, should demand special recognition. Mrs. Cable was one of Lima's most popular and talented musicians during the time she resided in this city and music lovers
have listened with delight to her playing.

Of special note is the last number
on the program, "Fantasy on a Russian Folk Song" composed by Richard Gaines, Columbus, which received the prize over international competitors given by the Schumann club of New York, recently. Lima is the third chorus to present it, the first being given by the Schumann club April 11, 1921, and the second being given under the direction of Mr.
Gaines in Cincinnati only a few days ago.

Next concert to be presented under the auspices of the Woman's Music club will be the Philharmonic
Orchestra, Friday evening, May 27,

You too, will be proud to show your rugs to friends after we have cleaned them
the new way

Let Us Take Your Rugs When Dirty and Stained We Will Return Them Bright and Clean

The sweeping broom gathers no dirt. It merely stirs it into commotion. The vacuum cleaner suctions dry air and removes only dry dirt. Soap and water well worked in removes dirt, smut and stains that the cleaner leaves.

When we take the rugs and carpets out of your home we take them with all the dirt, dust, grease spots and health-menacing germs—and bring none of them back.
If you want your floor coverings thoroughly cleaned without injury and quickly returned, let us do the work.

The cost will be so little that it will amaze you. The cleanness of your rugs and carpets will amaze you more. Write or phone for us to call.

Shampooing Does Your Carpets Good--It Cannot Do Them Harm

Shampooing is a care-taking method. It is as harmless as it is thorough. Clean water, pure soap, a soft electric brush, a vacuum cleaner—these and experienced operators do the work that saves you work. Let us shampoo your rugs and carpets. It will cost you little—it will pay you big.

GOVERNOR HAS HIS WAY

Political News and Views From Columbus

sterling have been unavailing. Let somebody tell the truth! Where did it originate? The provision was designed to drive 200,000 independent voters from the polls and to repeal the Australian ballot law by implication, or rather indirection. There ought to be more light on these mysteries. Where is the real culprit?

Do our readers recall the stories that came out of Chicago when the Masonic Temple was one of the buildings of the town? Do they remember how the slickers used to sell the temple every few days to some agriculturalists from behind Iowa who thought it waste of time to read the daily papers? Well, no story that ever went out of the Windy City had anything on the bunch of assmen who were gold-bricked by the wily C. C. Crabbe, floor leader of the House of Representatives, a few days ago. The day before this crowd had stormed about protesting that they never, never, never would vote for the completion of the ripper reorganization so long as the Governor did not promise that he would not name J. J. Taber for Director of Agriculture. But Mr. Crabbe told or rather sold them—the right of petition. They were authorized to address a memorial to the Governor asking him not to name the obnoxious (to them) Granger. If being a member of the General Assembly was a real paying job every old fashioned green goods man would start for Columbus because so fine a collection of "fish" might never be found again. Now, there is no use for most of the members will be using their last checks to pay board bills or pickings would be light. In the meantime, Mr. Taber is supposed to be familiarizing himself with the duties of the office.

How complete was the rout of the private liability insurance companies on the Burns-Culbert bill to readmit themselves into Ohio was emphasized by a number of incidents. In the first place, was the Governor's statement that he no longer concerned with the bill, considering that he has promoted the cause of the enemies of workmen's compensation law as strongly as his primary and pre-election pledges justified. Then there was the action of Republican leaders when they assured Representative William G. Muhleman of Zanesville that it would be unwise to bring up the bill in Republican caucus because he had their word it would never be advanced to the calendar. The often mistreated, Mr. Muhleman as a good trusting soul took the bait and said not a word. The caucus, you see, has its eyes on the contributions next year and does not positively wish to dip up any spring on the political term. Nevertheless, the mighty perished in this battle with the workmen.

Did not Ohio lawmakers pass the very peak of statesmanship in the McCoy liquor bill last week? Ohio is flooded with bootleg liquor from Mexico, Canada, the West Indies, France, Spain, South American and isles of the seas. Violations are so open that soon the bootleggers will have regular districts and routes like the men. But what is that to the Anti-Saloon League. It solemnly decreed and had the General Assembly register it that a person who is dangerously ill may have eight-tenths of an ounce of spirituous liquors every day upon a physician's prescription. No more, if death results. The testimony of the practitioners was that when liquor is called for, the people say they would rather buy it from a bootlegger than bother about going to a drug store. Hon. James A. White of the Anti-Saloon League never batted an eye when he heard this. Why should he? He knows, he knows. Whether there is to be a referendum or not is further along, as the old fellow said. The druggists are still mad over the twenty-fifth report that they be trustee of seven to investigate for so little when purity and virtue are at stake.

The way the county official lobby got trimmed in the skirmishes around the Capitol last week was a fright. Dealing with the ordinary politicians was easy enough, but dealing with Mrs. Harry Taylor Upton of Warren was another matter. Mrs. Upton said she said, that there was to be no term extenders because they tended to deprive women of the right to try for the office. And she shook her banks right at the timid lawmakers. They were not moved by the moral side of the matter when mere man urged it, but how they cowered and shrunk when Mrs. Upton's dulcet voice called them to trust to the legislature to keep watch. There are a lot of sneaking individuals around the Capitol, ready to try desperate deeds at the last hour. One of them is a Dayton politician without visible means of support who wanted to be named to a job "with contacts to give out." He was around this week and helped the House of Representatives to wish off the old day lawyer to the people of Montgomery for Common Pleas Judge. So long as birds like this fellow are around, Mrs. Upton better stay right here. He knows what can be done on last nights. Mrs. Upton does not

Doleful, indeed, is the picture drawn by Hon. Charles Brand, Campaign-Go Senator, in asking for a permanent hard time and report upon a remedy. He says conditions are highly unfavorable and there is "stagnation in business" (does he mean normally?) and many persons are idle and the voice of the soup-house is heard in the land. To quote Bill Nye. Waving aside all the extraneous matter, it would appear that Senator Brand and they are getting on as fast. But the wonder grows as to the reason for all this. What, moreover, can be found within the boundaries of Ohio? The remainder of the country is having a tough time of it, too. The first place the inquiry might run would be to Washington to ask why the powers that be insist on strangling foreign trade. As a good Republican, Senator Brand will not rely on information to sets. It is to be feared. Indeed, the inner junta around the legislative hall says that he is "getting in bad." The lack of prosperity is already painful enough without advertising it, they say.

From what Hon. Harry M. Daugherty told the folks at Columbus who jolted with him on his getting up in the world, Eugene V. Debs, late at large, now of Atlanta, Ga. is not to change his residence soon. The country, Mr. Daugherty said between the lines, now has sent word to Washington that there will be some burnings in effigy and other things by patriotic folk if the Socialist is pardoned. But the first rumblings were disregarded and it was not until the protest reached the mightiest of Washington heads. Then to make a census of sentiment was taken. This manner of dealing with mercy and justice is a new one. Because Wilson would not release Mr. Debs hundreds of thousands of votes were lost to the administration last fall, and Mr. Daugherty learned that more can be lost on the reverse side. Class No. 2 now acknowledges itself stung. The first class is the kind that still calls itself German-American. Let it be joined by those "liberals" who fancied the Socialist leader was dreadfully abused by the government.

As long ago as Scriptural times wise men gave warnings that folks who dug pits were likely themselves to fall into them. The truth of this sage advice will appeal to Hon. James R. Hopley, of Crawford, who Debs, late at large, now of Atlanta, Ga. is not to change his residence soon. The country, Mr. Daugherty said between the lines, now has sent word to Washington that there will be some burnings in effigy and other things by patriotic folk if the Socialist is pardoned. But the first rumblings were disregarded and it was not until the protest reached the mightiest of Washington heads. Then to make a census of sentiment was taken. This manner of dealing with mercy and justice is a new one. Because Wilson would not release Mr. Debs hundreds of thousands of votes were lost to the administration last fall, and Mr. Daugherty learned that more can be lost on the reverse side. Class No. 2 now acknowledges itself stung. The first class is the kind that still calls itself German-American. Let it be joined by those "liberals" who fancied the Socialist leader was dreadfully abused by the government.

It is not too early for the politicians to be thinking seriously of the United States Senatorship next year. Democracy, it is supposed, will go battle behind the stalwart form of Hon. Albee Pomeroy, of Canton, who knows duty and duty alone in public life. The G. O. P., however, have a large field to pick from and may decide upon some other basis than mere power in picking the next candidate for Senator. Some even hint they are thinking of making the hat measurement instead of the trousers belt the measuring line. This propaganda comes from the friends of Hon. Carmel A. Thompson of Cleveland. No only can he think, they say, pointing to his help in putting President Harding over, but they say he is intelligent for so did. At this intelligence, Simon D. Fess, who was a Democrat years ago and now has a hundred per cent Republican family—fall on the payroll—has ruffled up a bit and thinks he is as fit as the silent Mr. Thompson, even "Hittner" as the Missourian said. The drubbing he got last year may have eliminated Walter F. Brown, of Toledo who was once a Bull Moose, and never will be forgiven for deserting the good ship Reaction in the perilous days of old.

If there is time for it, no work would be quite so profitable as a thoro probe into the unsavory mess which exists in school legislation. As the late Mr. Hamlet said, "There is something rotten in Denmark." Not being privy to what is going on in some of the inner circles, this zealot for truth does not know exactly how rotten it is, but he does know there is something. The things each faction says about the other is provocative of the gravest suspicion. In the row, which seems to be in part between two sets of school politicians or two sets of school book companies, the children, the Lord bless their innocence, have been forgotten along with the parents and taxpayers. They are not content. There is a real silver lining to the clouds, however, for between the bickering of the rival interests, lurking around like vultures over a sick horse, there may be no destructive legislation whatever. If there isn't, a net gain may be set down for the schools.

One of those wandering appetites for legislation has fallen on the lawmakers in the present week. It is a familiar symptom toward the end of a session and as much to be expected as measles in children. Lofty ideals as well as practical considerations find their place in the category. For instance, some one who knows what he wants and why, is back of the bill to permit "treating" of the streets with tar as well as oil. Nothing is said about "treating the constructors and material men," the real parties in interest. Then Farmer John Thompson of Putnam, the only one voted against the $91,050,000 budget, would prevent employees from having their pay increased more than ten per cent and a Mr. Beck would outlaw persons with unspeakable diseases from working in eating places. Then there are floods of attorneys who having considered the poor chance to get over the constitutional amendment to renew the law's delays of the "good old days" want the lawmakers to tell the Ohio Supreme Court what are cases of "great public or general interest," virtually naming the "hole category" in the list. Every $5 J. P. case is included in the definition. Since much of this rubbish will be swept into the waste basket, the only positive harm is the printing bill and the general confusion that will result. Selah.

CARBONE CASE IS NOT DECIDED

Jury Fails to Reach Verdict After Seven Hours.

ORDERED TO BED BY COURT

Deliberations Will Be Resumed Today in Blackhand Hearing.

After seven hours deliberation a jury in common pleas court, hearing the case of Rose Carbone, charged with sending "black hand" letters to Kilment Naum, south side grocer, had failed to arrive at a decision at midnight Saturday night and was put to bed.

Should a decision be reached Sunday, court will be convened and the verdict will be rendered at 4:35 p.m. The jury took the case at 4:59 p.m. The state rested its case at 1:55 p.m., after the defense had closed and the state had called several witnesses in rebuttal.

Attorney T. R. Hamilton, legal counsel for Mrs. Carbone, occupied more than an hour in his address to the jury. He drew a word picture of a little home in a foreign country, the presence of husband and father and four bright youngsters; of the presence of the mother, the defendant in the case, Mrs. Carbone. Contrasted with that was the picture of the mother, taken away from her little brood, with them left for other less interested hands to care for, thrown upon the sea of time, of the life up of the home—all of which would happen was Rosa Carbone convicted and sent to the woman's reformatory for a long term.

Tears filled the eyes of spectators in the crowded court room when Attorney Hamilton had concluded his plea. Prosecuting Attorney E. T. Lipincott and his assistant based their plea on violation of the laws of the land—the principles of which had been laid by the forefathers and which are as good today as when established. They sought to show there was no doubt of the guilt of Mrs. Carbone.

Judge Becker charged the jury and they were ready for deliberation, after a hard three days' trial, as the shades of early night came on. Mrs. Carbone was on the witness stand in her own behalf Saturday. She approached the witness chair with calmness and answered the questions put to her in a positive manner. She denied that she wrote letters of any kind to Naum or to any one else that were of a damaging nature.

In her replies to her attorney, she related she had nothing against any one. Under cross-examination, she gave clear answers to questions put to her by the prosecutor and his assistant.

ACCUSED WAS GOOD WITNESS
Mrs. Carbone, officials and attorneys who heard her testimony said, proved a good witness for her own cause. She wore a large black dress, and the headgear she had drooping but, the headgear she had affected, trimmed with a big red bow. A black plush coat, dark skirt and waist of peach-bloom completed her costume. Her shoes were high and of the light tan variety. Her little children were dressed in becoming American style.

Mrs. Carbone might pass for an American woman of dark features. She exhibited more than average intelligence in her answers to questions put to her by the prosecutor. During recesses Saturday, her family of children joined her and she spent the time in smoothing the curly hair of her youngest child, a little tot of less than three.

HITSAND AWAITS TRIAL
Mrs. Carbone was indicted by the grand jury on the charge of sending black hand letters to Kilment Naum, 218 S. Main-st. Her husband, Rose Carbone, was indicted jointly with his wife on a like charge. He will be tried at the April term of court.

Mrs. Carbone is the first woman to be placed on trial in Allen-co court of common pleas on a criminal charge in more than a decade. The last case of any importance which came up in court here in which a woman was concerned was about five years ago, when Mrs. Blanche Cleveland, 30, was charged with the murder of her only child, Earline, a girl of nine years, following a divorce from her husband, Howard Cleveland, Vaughnsville. Love for the child and failure to get on financially after separation from her husband is said to have been the cause.

But the case never came to trial. Mrs. Cleveland pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was confined for a time in the woman's reformatory at Marysville. She is now a patient at the Lima State hospital for the Criminal Insane.

FRIENDS AWAIT VERDICT
During the long hours in which jurors were deliberating upon her case, Mrs. Carbone and a company of her Italian friends waited in court house lobby.

They visited each other, chatted as they enjoyed themselves at a party. Rose Carbone was not far away, visiting with men friends.

Small companies of Italians did not leave their seats in the court room, but remained there awaiting the jury's verdict.

LIMA MAN RECEIVES COMMISSION AS FLYER IN THE BRITISH ARMY

Edward Leo Fitzgerald, veteran of the British Air Service and who's now employed in Lima, has received a commission as Honorary Second Flight Lieutenant in the Royal Flying Corps of the British army.

Fitzgerald was one of the first to enlist at the time of the war, his number being 179,173. He was wounded severely in an engagement. He was placed on the pension list of the British army, but because of the fact that he is now living on foreign soil his pension has not been paid. It is believed that this commission is an attempt on the part of the British government to show its appreciation of his services. It carries a yearly remuneration of 50 pounds sterling or around $200 at the present prices of exchange.

LEGEND ON STONE IS A MYSTERY

Cryptic Find Made on Richland-twp Farm.

A mysterious stone was discovered on the west end of the old Hochstetler farm in Richland-twp. It is a piece of sandstone about an inch thick and of a size and shape to be easily held in the hand. There are engravings on each side of a more or less mysterious character.

On one side is a bow and arrow. The arrow is placed in the bow with the string drawn taut. On the reverse side is a tomahawk, the word "war" inscribed in the center. The date 1754. There is also a drawing which seems to represent a map or some kind.

According to Amos L. Hochstetler, 933 N. Broadway, whose father found the stone and who now has the relic, the map roughly describes the landscape of the place where the stone was found. Just what it means, of course cannot be determined but it is presumed that there was a battle with the Indians some time in the year 1754 and this stone was carved to show where and how the battle was fought. The carving is very well done and seems to be the handiwork of a cultured person. It is possible that it was designed as a map to show where some building stood or where something of value was hidden.

Hochstetler is contemplating loaning the relic to the Allen-co Historical society so that it may be seen by anyone interested. Perhaps someone will be able to decipher the legend and tell the story of the cryptic stone.

FISHER'S CONDITION SERIOUS

Advised from the City Hospital Saturday night were that the condition of Harold Fisher, 310 N. McDonough, injured the week ago by falling from a bridge at the new water works reservoir, was very serious. Fisher sustained a fracture of the spine and later submitted to an operation for the removal of shattered bone.

BOY'S HIP FRACTURED

ST. MARY'S—Playing "black man" with students while a visitor at the Chapel school in Washington-twp. near here, Gustave Schroer, 19, collided with another lad and sustained a severe fracture of the hip. Schroer's brother, Carl, 10, is ill of sleeping sickness.

NOTED SINGER AT THE SIGMA TODAY

J. Allen Grubb, Lima's favorite male singer, the added attraction at the Sigma Theatre today. The laughable motion picture feature "Skirts" will prove one of the best laugh makers of the season.

As an added attraction to the very pleasing programme at the Sigma today, Lima's favorite male vocalist J. Allen Grubb will offer a cycle of pleasing songs. Mr. Grubb has been heard in choir and club work and is an engaging Mr. Grubb for the Sigma programme, he has kindly consented to appear at two afternoon and two evening performances, a great treat is in store for all who enjoy good singing.

If you enjoy a good hearty laugh you will want to see the big real feature comedy "Skirts," the picture which has convulsed the patrons of the larger picture theatres of the country.

In offering "Skirts," one of the largest and best comedies of the season will be presented, a magnificent production, headed by the famous Singer Troupe of midgets, who have long been the headliners on the Keith Vaudeville Circuit, and who were engaged for this production of "Skirts" at an enormous expense. 3,000 beautiful and winsome girls, appear in one scene of the picture, showing the expense attached to such a magnificent comedy production. Then Clyde Cook, one of the funniest men on the screen has a comedy part in "Skirts" that far exceeds any character in which he has ever appeared on the silver screen. "Skirts" will keep you in one continuous roar of laughter, if you don't enjoy a good hearty laugh, don't come.

"Bill and Bob" a humorous description of boy's life in the open latest News reel, the Sigma orchestra in musical selections, and Mr. Pond at the magnificent pipe organ completes a programme that should rank among the best in the country.

BATTLE RAGES IN MINING SECTION

Volleys Fired Across West Virginia-Kentucky Line.

TELEPHONE WIRES ARE CUT

Broadcasts Erected in Preparation for Fight.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va.—One man was wounded in the pitched battle early Saturday between unknown men hidden on the mountainside at Blackberry City and residents of the Kentucky mining town of Alburn on the opposite side of the river. According to a report made at state police headquarters here Saturday night.

Captain Brockus, who commanded a detachment of state police sent to the scene of the battle Saturday morning and who returned here Saturday night, said that Ballard Hall, a non-union miner, employed at the Alburn works, was shot thru the ankle. Hall was the only casualty as far as could be learned.

The engagement Saturday morning, the second within a week, started by ten shots being fired from the West Virginia side of the river. These first shots were not answered, Captain Brockus said, but later on the firing became general from both sides.

Judge R. D. Bailey and Sheriff Pinson Saturday instructed an investigation which will likely result in appeals being made to the governors of Kentucky and West Virginia looking to some solution of the lawlessness in that section.

The telephone wires connecting Matestown and Alburn had been cut Saturday morning before the firing began, according to Captain Brockus. He said that the shooting was still going on when he reached the scene Saturday night. Investigation revealed that a broadcast of stone had been erected on the West Virginia mountainside. Many empty shells and other evidence that quite a number of men had engaged in the shooting were found. Bloodhounds were used Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Pinson in an effort to run down the guilty ones.

Judge Bailey stated Saturday night that he would make a report to Governor Morgan of the battle, setting forth the evidence brought out by the investigation.

Officials declared the situation is the most threatening of any since the inception of the strike in this field last May.

LIVESTOCK SHIPPING COMPANY TO ELECT DIRECTORS APRIL 30

Elimination of at least one cog in the present marketing system is contemplated by the Allen-co Farm Bureau. A livestock shipping organization has been incorporated under the name, "The Allen-co Livestock Company."

All members of the Farm Bureau will be permitted to ship their stock without the payment of fees except the actual cost of the handling of the stock. Those who are not members will be permitted to ship thru the organization upon meeting the requirements.

Directors of the new company will be elected at a meeting to be held at Memorial Hall, April 30, at 1 p.m. Members of the Farm Bureau will be eligible to vote at this meeting and are receiving letters this week setting forth the advantages of the new organization and the reasons why they should back the meeting and take an active part in its business. Associations of this character have been in operation at Delphos and at Spencerville and, according to Farm Agent Van Natta, have been very successful.

5 GRADUATE FROM NURSE SCHOOL

Bishop Schrembs to Attend St. Rita's Event, May 12.

St. Rita's hospital will further observe the celebration of National Hospital day on May 12 by the holding of training school graduating exercises in the evening.

The hospital and the Nurse's home and training school will be thrown open for inspection on National Hospital day. Place for holding the graduation exercises of St. Rita's training school has not been fully decided upon.

Private graduation exercises were held last year at St. Rita's, but this is the first public event. The Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Toledo, Bishop of Toledo diocese of Catholic churches, will deliver the address to the graduating class. This will be the first visit of Bishop Schrembs to Lima since his return from a trip to Rome.

Girls of high schools of Lima and surrounding towns are asked to attend the graduating exercises. The public is invited. Graduates from St. Rita's training school this year are Sisters Mary Irene and Mary Agnes, the Misses Josephine Kermans and Miss Bernice Moore, Warren, Ohio.

STEPMOTHER WINS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

CHICAGO.—The story of Cinderella doesn't always work out in real life. For the "cruel" stepmother made little party dresses for the children, took her savings and furnished an apartment for them, sent them to school, tucked them in at night and—

So Judge Arnold in the Juvenile Court here, decided that Mrs. Anna Falco, stepmother, should have the custody of her two little step-daughters instead of their father, Alphonso Falco. A jury of men, agreed with Judge Arnold. The Falcos were married six months ago.

LIGI POINTED OUT AS BOMBER

Scranton Prisoner Identified as Wall-st Dynamiter.

VIEWED BY NEW YORKER

More Witnesses to Be Taken at Pennsylvania City.

SCRANTON, Pa.—Tito Lig, a legged draft evader, was identified today by one man as the person who placed a titanic bomb in Wall-st on September 16. Led from his cell at Scranton by five other prisoners, Lig was confronted by three New Yorkers, who on September 16, saw a man drive a decrepit wagon into the financial district and leave it there to explode.

"This is the man," said one New Yorker.

The other two said they were not certain.

Raymond Clark, a construction superintendent, who talked with the mysterious driver at the time of the explosion, was one of the three. He did not identify Lig.

Charles Scully, of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, revealed these developments Saturday night. He refused to give the names of the two witnesses with Clark.

More witnesses, Scully said, will be brought here Monday. A man, giving the name of Walter Nelles, reported the case Saturday. He said he came from New York, as the representative of an organization interested in seeing Lig's case fair play. He was in frequent communication with Lig's attorney, John Memolo. The latter disclaimed knowledge of the identity of his adviser.

Ligi was sent back to his cell Saturday night, only to be taken out at intervals for renewed questioning. Besides the two witnesses who originally connected him with the Wall-st horror, Lig was questioned by department of justice representatives and New York detectives who have worked on the case.

ENGINEER TELLS SEWER PLANS

Hundred Men Attend C. C. Forum
Dinner, Friday Night

Just how the city expects to eliminate the obnoxious odors of Ottawa river by constructing a $1,250,000 intercepting sewerage system and disposal plant to carry away the sewage now dumped in the river, was explained to more than a hundred persons at the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner at the Elks Club Friday evening.

George M. Fuller and Jesse K. Gelsley of the engineering firm of Fuller & McClintock, designers of the new system, explained in detail the problems confronting Lima and said that conditions here have parallels elsewhere.

Those present were interested in the engineer's story of how a huge sewer will be built along or under the Ottawa river that will connect up the present sewers and carry the sewage to the disposal plant. Two pumping stations will be installed along the sewer so that when the sewer gets too deep the sewage can be lifted and be started on another incline. As much storm water as possible will be sent into the river.

Supervising Engineer Darling explained the new relief sewer system. E. M. Botkin, chairman of the forum committee presided and Jim Grubb directed appropriate singing.

SHIRKEY APPEALS A GARNISHEE JUDGMENT

When the Star Credit Clothing company sought to enforce a garnishee of wages of Clarence Shirkey, 141 E. Wayne-st., Shirkey, against whom the Credit company had obtained a judgment, filed a motion for dismissal of the action.

Justice Ernest M. Botkin overruled the dismissal and Shirkey took his case to common pleas court. The $5 judgment which the Credit company secured was for costs and clothing which Shirkey had purchased of them and failed to pay.

EQUITY UNION CREAMERY COMPANY WITH $200,000 CAPITAL INCORPORATED

The Farmers' Equity Union Creamery company, Lima, has been incorporated at Columbus, with a capital stock of $200,000. Among the incorporators are Judge William Klunger and D. B. Brower. The object of the incorporation is to open a plant in Lima, which will handle milk and storage products. A new building will be erected in which to carry on the business. Work of securing paid in subscriptions is now going on. The company promises to operate on a large scale here, securing products from farmers for a distance of 50 miles from Lima.

WIFE OBJECTS TO NEGLECT BY HER HUSBAND

(By SUSIE SMART)

Dear Miss Smart: All a young married woman, my husband's salary is not very good at the present time, so we are living with his parents. Since we have been living with them my husband does not pay any attention to me and I must put up with whatever happens. I am getting tired of it. Do you think if I would leave him for a short time, that matters would be better?

DISCOURAGED

DO NOT leave your husband. Since his salary is rather small and he is not able to have a home of his own, he is probably a little depressed and does not realize that he is neglecting you. Do not leave him under any circumstances when he needs you the most. Such a move on your part would not improve matters and might only result in a permanent estrangement.

Take an optimistic view. Your husband's parents have been kind enough to offer you their home for the present. Show your gratitude by your cheerfulness and willingness to cooperate and make the best of the situation. Forget about your own troubles by trying to make your husband happy. Encourage him in his work so that he makes progress.

There have been many wives who have had to live with their husband's parents for years. Of course, it must be admitted that it is not always as pleasant as having a home of your own, but when conditions and circumstances necessitate such a way of living, the best has to be made of the situation. Be tactful and considerate and show that you have enough womanhood to make the best of a temporary arrangement of this kind.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) Do you think it is proper or right for a high school boy to send a girl a box of candy every day or so and would you tell him not to send candy so often? (2) Would you advise a girl to give a boy a date who had not called her up for a date from December to January? (3) Do you consider me correct? (4) Do you think it is wrong for a girl to go with a boy six years her senior? (5) How can you tell a man's love? (6) Do you consider all men deceiving?

HAZEL EYES EVERYTHING

(1) No. In the first place the majority of boys in high school cannot afford to buy candy for a girl so often and neither should she accept it. Of course, the girl must be careful to say nothing to offend him, but I think if she were to talk to him in a sensible way he could soon be convinced that it is not the proper thing for him to do while he is so young.

(2) That all depends. You say from December to January. This might easily mean from December 31 to January 1. You will have to be more explicit in the future. (3) Not after a girl is 17 or 18, but I do not think it proper that girls younger than that should go with men so much older than themselves. (4) By proof of his sincerity and steadfastness of devotion and by his unselfishness and thoughtfulness of the pleasures and comforts of the young girl whom he loves. (5) No, all men are not deceiving. There are some, of course, who are deceitful, but there are many women who are afflicted with this same "trouble."

Dear Miss Smart: (1) My eyelashes are falling out and are very thin. What can I use to make them thick and long? (2) What is the meaning of the name Walter? (3) I gave up school two years ago to keep house for my father. Could you suggest some way for me to make a little extra money without leaving home? (4) How is my writing for "agile"?

BOBBY

(1) You should be very careful not to fatigue your eyes, as this often causes falling lashes. Do not spend too much time on fine needlework or in reading finely printed books or papers. This often induces inflammation, which in its turn is likely to cause the disfigurement of falling eyelashes. One of the best methods to prevent this is to bathe your eyelids in very hot water. Soak a piece of old linen or fine cheese cloth in the water and lay it on your eyelids for several minutes. You might leave your home. If you are interested in the following ingredients which should only be placed on the edge of the eyelids: 2.50 grams of vaseline, 2.50 grams of lanoline and .02 ounce of zinc. If you will apply this preparation you will find that your eyebrows and eyelashes will once again acquire lustre and you will no longer have to mourn them. (2) Ruling the host. (3) It is not so easy to make a little extra money if you do not wish to leave your home. If you are interested in needlework you might devote some of your time to this, making some of the little dainty organdie flowers which have become so popular, or the crocheted flowers or any little novelty in this line. (4) Very good.

PARKS TO BE OPENED AND USED. EVEN THO NO FUNDS AVAILABLE

Ways and means of obtaining money to finance the city parks thru the summer were discussed at the first meeting of the new park commission, with Service Director Elmer McClain Friday.

Members of the commission concurred with Service Director McClain in the opinion that the parks should be opened and used by the public, whether funds for their upkeep were obtained or not. The commission, headed by F. E. Barkman, was appointed by Mayor Burkhart, at the request of the park committee of the Chamber of Commerce. It has no legal status, but is merely advisory to McClain.

Anna Q. Nilsson at the Lyric Today "What Women Will Do"—A Truly Great Picture

A photo-drama of a beautiful girl's rise and fall amid the lights and shadows of New York. Life was a game to her and she played it to the limit.

Someone has said that those who know women not at all know most about them and it is true that women are puzzles to themselves and mystery everlasting to men. This story is built around this great fundamental truth concerning femininity and not until you have seen Anna Q. Nilsson in "What Women Will Do" at the Lyric starting today, will you be able to realize what a truly remarkable picture this is.

Life was a game to this beautiful girl and she played it to the limit. She drifted with the tide of pleasure, sure, careless, heartfree until the cross-current of retribution caught her. She fought a battle that can not fail to kindle your admiration and arouse your interest. It's the story of a beautiful girl to whom life was a game that she played to the limit with her cards on the table. You watch her rise; you watch her fall; you glory with her in her successes and you sympathize with her in her failures. You sit entranced as this wonderful drama of New York Life unfolds before you. Amazed at the exposé of all the pitfalls which lie in wait for the young and innocent.

You see a vivid figure amidst all the pitfalls and gayety of New York life. You watch her rise, you see her fall; you are yourself amazed at the subtle changes of her heart and you marvel at the process of her regeneration. It's a sob, a throb, a thrill and a thought blended into one grand ensemble of splendid entertainment. Please come early today to avoid standing.

“THE GIRL HE COULD NOT BUY”

North Stock Company to Present
New Play at Orpheum This Week

French-Indian Mentalist to Be An Added Attraction at Market-st Theatre

MANAGER Shaw of the Orpheum Theatre announces Chief Bae Plears Brookhart The Great French-Indian Mentalist and Supreme Spiritualist, as an extra added attraction in addition to The North Brothers Stock Co. this week. Chief Brookhart was booked here during the regular vaudeville season and it was impossible to cancel his contract, therefore Orpheum patrons will benefit by this arrangement as there will be no advance in price. Chief Brookhart is without a doubt the greatest Indian Mentalist and the press and public throughout the country have nothing but words of praise for this French Indian wonder of the age. He predicted when the war would end, the exact date and time the armistice could be signed. He also predicts that Ireland will be free in 1921. The chief is assisted in his offering by Princess Parillo.

Their offering will be staged between the acts of “The Girl He Couldn’t Buy,” cutting out all unnecessary stage wags. Charles Richards, popular leading man of The North Brothers stock and Heese Dainty, leading lady, will be seen in entirely different parts from those they have played here so far. “The Girl He Couldn’t Buy” is a comedy-drama written for laughing purposes only and is positively guaranteed by Mr. Keene, director, to please you. Each member has a chance to show his or her talent at the very best so you are assured of an A-1 production.

Today Matinee and night concludes the showing of “The Other Wife,” the Anna Q. Nilsson, at the Lyric today.

“The Girl He Couldn’t Buy” is an excellent bill now being presented by this clever company. Seats are now for sale for all performances. Matinees are Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and evenings at 8:15.

The Lyric’s Pictures

THE under and upper worlds—the gaiety of the cabaret, the frenzied excitement of the race course, the life in “dives” and the culture of high society are the backgrounds against which Charles A. Logue, the well-known screen author, has written a potent story of a woman’s regeneration that is thrilling, sensational, gripping and tender. “What Women Will Do” is the interesting title of the story, which opens a four-day engagement today at the Lyric theatre.

What will women do? Is she the product of her environment? Does she reflect the good or evil of her surroundings? In there not, beneath the artifice, a divine spark that can be kindled into a purifying flame? Is she a man’s tool or is he here?

These questions are answered in visual form in “What Women Will Do,” a melodrama combining romance and thrills, that will aim straight at the hearts of old and young, men and women. It is humanly told and almost as uplifting as “The Miracle Man.” And thrills! There is a scene in which Miss Anna Nilsson, who plays the lead, dives off a boat, in the dead of night, and is rescued by her ability to swim. And the horse race is a winner!

The cast makes up in talent and drawing power what it lacks in numbers. The featured beauty and histrionic talent have never been more prominent than in the role of Lily Gibbs, the girl whose better nature responds to the promptings of her conscience. Miss Nilsson is remembered for her wonderful work in “Without Fault” which appeared in the city.

Allan Forest, better known as Mary Miles, is the leading masculine character, while Karl Metcalfe and George Majeron are also prominently cast. Jane Jennings is splendid in the mother role.

“What Women Will Do” is one of the better productions of the year. Don’t miss it.

The Faurot Pictures

“Fatty” Arbuckle, Thomas Meighan and Dorothy Gish are the Paramount screen stars offered at the Faurot this week. Arbuckle’s and Meighan will be seen in new productions, while Miss Gish will give us another view of her big laughing hit, “The Ghost in the Garret,” which convulsed large audiences at the Faurot about ten days ago and is brought back at the request of a host of the patrons of that theatre.

As a rule, according to the press agent of the theaters, the latest picture is the greatest, this or that star has ever appeared in. In the case of “Brewster’s Millions,” the new Paramount comedy in which “Fatty” Arbuckle will be seen at the Faurot today, Monday and Tuesday, it happens that this is really a fact. According to the critics, the role of “Money” Brewster fits Arbuckle like a glove. Of course you know that the original story was written by George Barr McCutcheon, author of many popular “best sellers” and you have seen it in its comedy evolution there on by Webster Smith, the playwright, who has “Turn to Be Right” and “Ghosts” that marred of the stage, to his credit. So here you have a highly successful stage comedy and the screen’s favorite comedian combined in an effort to amuse you and succeeding with every foot of the film. Embellished with unique trick photograph in several of the scenes, with a cast carefully selected and the usual Paramount distinction in settings, “Brewster’s Millions” would be fine entertainment without the presence of the ponderous comedian, but with Arbuckle leading in the continual riot of fun it has been set down as one of the very best comedies of the year. Betty Ross, Clark, Jenni Acker, Charles Ogle and Fred Hunley are among the supporting cast. The accompanying features will be the Pathe News and the Paramount Magazine.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday comes Thomas Meighan, the “good luck star,” as he has been dubbed, in the new Paramount picture, “The Frontier of the Stars.” It is a picturization of a story by Albert Payson Terhune and gives Meighan opportunity for a characterization quite similar to that in “The Miracle Man”—a leader of a gang of crooks who is influenced to go straight by a young girl. The girl, by the way, is Faye Dunaway the actress never commonplace. By force of a splendid sense of constance, Mr. Meighan’s acting of any role his wholesome personality, the naturality of his method and the knack of making every gesture or expression tell he has been a prominent figure in a number of photoplays that have taken the country by storm. He never fails to attract large audiences composed of our most discriminating picturegoers and his appearance in “The Frontier of the Stars” may be set down in advance as one of the important events of the week.

The first engagement of “The Ghost in the Garret,” about ten days ago, was limited on account of the Faurot’s having a road attraction. The howl that went up when a lot of the Faurot patrons found they had missed one of the funniest pictures of the season was as loud and prolonged as the roars of laughter from those who were lucky enough to see it. It is a lively comedy-drama, in which thrills and mirthful episodes are freely mingled. The action sweeps forward at a rattling pace, without a single hitch, to a sensational finish. Dorothy Gish’s funny little tricks of manner and artistic pantomime ability were never better displayed than in her whimsical, energetic portrayal of the heroine.

Aided by a sagacious bull dog and a talented parrot she romps merrily through this picture with happy results for both audience and herself. If you saw “The Ghost in the Garret” on its first visit, you’ll want to see it again. This time take the whole family—it’s good fun for both kids and grown-ups. The engagement is limited to one day only—new Saturday.

LOCAL SINGER AT THE SIGMA

J. Allen Grubb, popular Lima business man and a member of the well-known Presbyterian quartette, will appear as a special attraction today at the Sigma theatre. Mr. Grubb has appeared before Lima audiences many times and has won an enviable reputation as being one of the most accomplished singers in the city. Mr. Grubb will offer a series of vocal selections at each performance today and for the first four days of the week.

CAUSE LOST FOR METHEANY

Lima Man Not Among Davis
Cabinet Members

RIPPER BILL IS PASSED

Reflection of Political Activities
For Week

(By J. W. FISHER.)

Endorsed and re-endorsed for the position of State Highway Commissioner, by the Allen-co Republican executive committee, A. L. Metheany is still outside the money so far as a state position is concerned. He and a lot of other hopefuls were confidently expected that the Lima man would be chosen as State Highway Commissioner when Governor Davis stepped into power, but Leon Herrick drew the prize. Then came the reorganization measure. It was announced that all appointments would be revamped. Hope was revived in Allen-co G. O. P. breasts. The new position created is that of Director of Highways and Public Works. 'Nother endorsement was ladled out in Republican headquarters, third floor rear Holland block.

Again the blow fell. The melancholy days for Metheany returned. Herrick is to continue on the job and if the reorganization measure ever becomes law still to stick. Davis says so and Harry ought to know. Herrick of Nowalk is one of the eight "best" minds of the state designed to compose the Governor's cabinet. Others tentatively announced are: Floyd B. Waite, Cleveland, director of finance, William H. Phipps, Paulding, director of commerce; Edward A. Anderson of Cincinnati or Marshall Shippy of Toledo, director of public welfare; Dr. Edmund M. Baehr of Cincinnati or Dr. H. H. Solvay of Columbus, director of Public Health, Percy Tetlow, Washingtonville, Columbiana-co, director of industrial relation; L. J. Taber of Barnesville of C. A. Dyer of Coalition for director of agriculture; Vernon M. Reigel, of Marion, director of education.

Phipps is a lawyer and under the Taft administration was auditor of the Philippines. Anderson is general superintendent of the Proctor & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati. Shippy is a Toledo wholesale grocer and now temporarily on the state board of administration. Dr. Baehr has also been serving on the state board of administration, appointed as an independent but claims he is an independent. Solvay is surgeon general of the Ohio National Guard. Tetlow is a coal miner by vocation and has long been a labor leader in Ohio. Taber is master of the state grange and Reigel is a Democrat, superintendent of public instruction. His is a constitutional office and he has more than two years to serve, but pressure is being brought to bear to force his resignation.

There you have it, folks. The Davis cabinet, if it ever becomes such, will have a personnel pretty nearly like that outlined herewith.

There is little doubt felt throughout Ohio on the score that the electorate will be accorded an opportunity to express its approval or disapproval of the reorganization measure jammed thru the Legislature by Governor Harry L. Davis. Is the consensus of opinion that the Supreme court will declare invalid the emergency clause of the ripper bill and that the doors will be thrown open for the people to have their say about it, at the polls. This process may be long drawn, but it's bound to overtake the Davis organization before it can get a second whack at state control with one of the stiffest and best oiled political machines ever built in this or any other state.

The Davis reorganization bill is nothing more nor less than a machine. 'Twould make the Governor a czar and if the people ever get a chance at it, there is very good reason to believe they'd knock it into a cocked hat. Under its terms the Governor would hold virtually every position in the state of Ohio in the hollow of his hand, because the bill even provides for the nullification of the civil service statutes. It provides that employees now protected by civil service can be transferred to other duties, from which they can later be removed, as "unnecessary adjuncts."

In the last campaign the G. O. P. orators were simply slopping over about the need of new taxation methods, economy and simpler government. What have we had to date along that line? Simply nothing. There has been no taxation reform and the new budget shows positively that the expenses are to be millions more than ever. Salary reductions? None! On the other hand, numerous increases have been proclaimed. All power is vested in the Governor.

If there is an idea extant anywhere that Harry L. isn't preparing to take advantage of his opportunity as a Sultan, a Czar or an Augustus Caesar, it can easily be dispelled by even cursory investigation into just what is going on. When the reorganization measure becomes a reality in application, the government of Ohio will not be vested in the legislature, nor even in the people, but in Governor Harry L. Davis. And the bill has been passed.

Legislation extending the terms of present county officials, or those who are to soon take office, having been elected in November, cannot be viewed otherwise than taking advantage of the people.

Bills of this character are before the Legislature, having already passed the Senate. Term-extending legislation makes its appearance after a political landslide, such as manifested itself in Ohio last November. For the most part, the rock-ribbed Democratic counties of Ohio were swept by the G. O. P. Republicans who never could have hoped to connect with the public payrolls in any other way were made beneficiaries as a result of the storm which broke.

Now that they are in, or are about to go in, it is only natural that they want to stay as long as possible. And they wish to avoid, if they can, another election in 1923, which might turn the offices back to the Democrats.

County officials maintain powerful lobbies in Columbus whose job is to get all they can for county officials. And these lobbies are now behind a movement to give all county offices four-year terms in stead of two.

In Allen-co a term extender bill would militate to the benefit of the Republicans in greater measure than to the Democrats, for the reason that in the last election more Republicans than Democrats won at the polls.

There are many good reasons that might be adduced in argument for four-year terms for all county officials and there are also other reasons that make it appear proper to continue the terms at two years. There is no denying that there is widespread criticism of many county officials throughout the state on the question of law enforcement and it would seem to be sound wisdom to keep their terms at two years so that they can be turned out quicker if they fail to make good.

The people of Ohio usually are unconcerned about what is done by the Legislature, but when they are aroused by something particularly displeasing, they raise an awful rumpus.

Under ordinary circumstances, since the election of November 1920, there is about as much necessity in the average Ohio county for a meeting of the Democratic county central committee at this time as there is for nine wheels on a wagon.

And in Auglaize-co there is less need for such an assembly than in many other political units of the state, but an excuse was found for a meeting or rather a necessarily manifested itself. The term of Frank J. Mays as a member of the Allen-co city state supervisors of elections was about to expire and there wasn't a single applicant for the job to be made.

A few of the faithful assembled themselves to talk it over. Among the number was E. Benj. Yale, president of the Allen-co Waynefield Chronicle, who in former days was a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, later a Bull Moose and was made secretary of the Democratic committee when he tumbled into that party's corral last year in Auglaize-co.

Looking about for someone to hang the job onto, somebody conceived the idea that Ben ought to stand hitched. The job pays a little very little and there's a lot of work about it. Ben's business is getting out a newspaper and he didn't want after the place. He finally succumbed under one sure and will be commissioned by the Secretary of State.

Striking an attitude that smacks of just a bit of resentment, John L. Sullivan, of the St. Marys Evening Leader, himself a former Republican and Moose, says editorially in his paper: "Yale's endorsement for member of the election board may be taken and accepted as evidence that he is now recovered in full of his illness and entitled to the same rights, privileges, prerogatives, perquisites and papulum as those who have fought, bled and almost died for the glorious cause of Democracy. It is another demonstration of the biblical saying: 'The last shall be first and the first last,' in the distribution of the rewards of service."

And then the Republicans, as rank imitators, named John R. Bennett, also of Waynefield, to represent them on the board.

Charley Kuhlman, assistant postmaster at St. Marys for 10 these many years, has become a gladiator in the arena in contest for the top position in Uncle Sam's stamp shop on the banks of the placid and odoriferous St. Marys river, hard by the designated point where the commissioners are building a bridge across the stream that cuts the western Auglaize-co city in two parts and which also serves as the dividing line when the East Siders and the West Siders squabble about some particular thing, as they often do.

Brough Hamilton, plumber-politician, beat Kuhlman into gladiatorial harness and was setting up pins before Charley thought about it. And Brough has the still further advantage of being recorded in the archives of the party in Columbus and Washington as an active, militant, stay-on-the-track G. O. P. warrior while Charley was spending his time at fishing or some other equally quiet and pleasurable pastime.

And the fact remains that Charley Hunter still has about two years time to serve under his appointment by the Wilson administration. Whether he's to be deprived of his right under civil service depends upon the notion that impels President Harding.

Postmasters of the 4th congressional district, all of them Democrats, in the important office at least and who have nearly two years to serve, really are not worrying half as much about holding their commissions as are Republican seekers to separate them from their jobs. The Washington state of mind relative to action one way or 'tother in the disposition of the veracious postoffice question still refuses to reveal itself and county committees that see no immediate solution of the question of whether the postoffices will or will not be thrown open to party workers, are wisely refraining from reporting endorsements.

You see, there is a possibility that the President will play the game fair and square and if he does, there'll be no need of endorsements, for there'll be nothing to peddle for a year or two. The Auglaize-co committee is one of these. They hate to do things they may regret later on. They're cautious cusses, all. They haven't forgotten that political fortune is a fickle goddess. Besides they don't believe in going fishing until assured that there's some chance of getting a strike.

The Bourbon boys over in Auglaize-co, manhandled by the electorate in the last election, are getting for a comeback. Assembling themselves in council for the purpose of recommending a man for place on the county board of elections, the central committee framed a resolution of protest against the enactment and passage of the Governor Davis ripper bill and especially against the emergency clause, which deprives the people of the state of their constitutional right to review acts of the legislature. The resolutions in emphatic language condemned the Governor and the Legislature supporting the odoriferous legislation.

Also and likewise, despite the fact that the G. O. P. crowd landed everything in sight in the municipal election in Wapakoneta, the Demmes who have their mail addressed to that little city are "figgerin'" that the wresting of places from their hands was only temporary and are even now framing up a plan to present the best they have for the consideration of their fellow townsmen in the election of November 1921.

There's going to be smoke in Wapak this year.

Eagerness for office and emoluments is stirring the G. O. P. rank, like a disturbed nest of hornets, turned loose at a picnic. Despite the fact that P. E. Thomas, warden of the Ohio penitentiary for eight years has a record for achievement that places him in the very fore front among executives of penal and corrective institutions of the United States, plans are already forming to use the crowbar on him, to make way for a deserving party man who helped whoop Governor Davis into office.

George Woods of Bellbrook is claimed to be a seeker for Thomas' place. George is perfectly willing to be made bell wether of the Republican flock in control of the penitentiary. He was deputy warden for six or eight years under the old order of things and very likely the former methods will be in vogue if he's appointed. Woods has been nursing his wrath while Thomas has been making progressive history. 'Twould very likely be difficult for the Greene-co man to adapt himself to the Thomas methods in the conduct of the affairs of the G. O. P., but if he's appointed, he'll have to, or there'll be h— and lots of it.

Former Secretary of State Lansing has written a book and many newspaper articles, in which he subtly features himself. His utterances have aroused criticism among all but the partisan press.

Lansing did not want President Wilson to go to Europe. There's where the trouble began. The break between them was due to the fact that Lansing tried to direct the actions of his chief. Wilson refused to be bossed by his hireling.

His accusation that the President was stubborn, judging by Lansing's own actions, reminds one of the case where one juror claimed the other eleven to have been the most stubborn fools he had ever met.

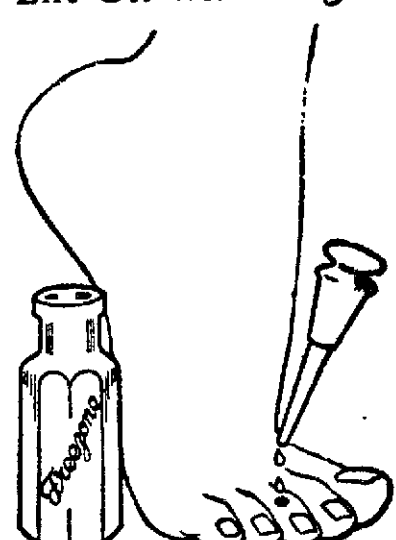

The Lansing book affords an insight into the real Lansing character and it proves his disloyalty to his chief, to whom he owed a far different attitude thru the trying days of the peace conference.

It is likewise quite apparent that Lansing wanted to be the big noise at Paris; wanted to impose his own views over those of others and being disappointed in this, went on and on until his dismissal was the only course open to Wilson.

It appears to have been more

LETTERS REVEAL MISERY OF 15,000,000 STARVING

Chinese Father Depicts Awful Conditions In the Orient as He Writes to His Son, Student at Columbia University.

NOTE—The following letters were obtained by International News Service from P. T. Tsang, a student at Columbia University, New York, who received them from his father.

Chan-tek-fu, Honan.
First Moon, Third Day, Ninth Year of the Republic.
Dear Son—Your letter written during the Winter vacation was brought to me yesterday morning by the postman. It reconciled us to your absence from our New Year festivities.

You tell us a great deal about a party you had, but little about your studies. I wonder if in your two years' stay in America you have not forgotten the virtue of industry which you seemed to have when you were by our side. Do all American university students spend their leisure in dragging young women around a room to the accompaniment of music?

If you knew the terrible conditions about our home here, you would probably feel more stimulated to hard work. Our neighbors and relatives are dying by the dozen for lack of food. Three days ago, Chang the Third who, you remember, lives only one li from our home, hanged himself on a tree by the roadside. It seems that he had wheeled his wife in some place, maybe the village of Kao, in search of food. Disappointed, he started to go home. His wife in the meantime died on the wheelbarrow. He decided to shorten the slow, tortuous death of starvation by hanging himself by the roadside. His younger brother tried to bury him and his wife, but all he could do was to dig a little hole by the roadside and bury them with a few inches of earth. What an occurrence for the first day of the New Year.

Your second uncle wrote from Tachung that the conditions there were equally bad. It seems that five provinces are affected; Chihli, Shan-sung, Shansi, Honan and Shensi. If you remember your geography you will know that not less than sixty-five million people live in this region. Your uncle said that he had read in the Shanghai Shun Pao that not less than fifteen million will die before the Winter will be over.

If I tell you more you will be too saddened to study. We are well. You will remember to take care of yourself in a strange land. Your father, WANG CHI-KWEI.
First Moon, Fifteenth Day, Ninth Year of the Republic.
My Son—Yesterday, when I was going to pay my New Year respects to your Shu-tsu (grandfather's brother), I saw a thing so horrible that it was the first thing to come to my mind when I took up my pen to write you. I was only two li out of the city when I saw a baby three or four years old by the path, wrapped up in dirty cloth of one kind or another. I stopped to look at the child, wondering whether it was dead. In a moment I heard some noise above my head. I turned to see what it was. A woman was up on a branch of an elm tree, picking the few dry leaves and chewing them as voraciously as a cow. There were so few leaves on the tree that I could count them in a few minutes. I don't understand how the woman with her little child could have climbed up. But there she was.

You will ask what I did to help them. I put beside the baby ten coppers which I intended to give to your little cousin, the Eighth, as my New Year present. Then I walked away as fast as I could. I wish I were blind. I would be a little happier then.

I was going to tell you more about our relatives, but I cannot write more to-day. They are well, as well as they can be under the present conditions. You will study, not to disappoint all our hopes in you. Your father, WANG CHI-KWEI.

Second Moon, Ninth Day, Ninth Year of the Republic.

My Shun-tang: Your letter, with an account of your expenses, was on the table when I came back from your aunt's home. You say that you are economizing, but I see that you spent two dollars and fifty cents gold in order to go to a theatre. That gave us much sadness of heart. Two dollars and fifty cents gold will make five dollars in silver, enough to keep a mother and baby alive for a month. Could you not have controlled yourself from having that pleasure?

The elders of our clan were here a few days ago to plan for a charity fund. Everybody gave something. I, as my last resource, gave thirty thousand coppers, a part of the money which I had intended to be your sister's dowry. Two of the elders, Wofu and Lei-min, asked that the money be spent only for the Wangs, our own clan. I was a little angry and told them that if we had hearts we should help all, whether they are surnamed Wang, or Chang, or Li.

If you should come home now you will find our house crowded. Your mother took four girls in and I have kept five boys here. We give them rice porridge three times a day with a little cabbage soup. They will live, I hope.

Your first uncle had a child born two days ago. He came to ask me for a name for the baby. I said, "Che-chung" (helping the multitude), to commemorate this period of national distress when our family is trying to relieve the numerous hungry and cold. I think that is quite appropriate.

An American called Pe-si-sen (Mr. White), was in the city a few days ago. He spoke Mandarin, but not well. He said to the people gathered in front of Kuang-yin Temple that in a few days there will be some food from America. He told the men that if they would go Wei-hwei they would find work in repairing the roads. That is a good measure.

If our officials remembered and practiced the teachings of our sages they would do something of the kind, too. When he finished speaking, people did not call him Pe-si-sen, but Chiu-min-wang (life-saving king). You seem to play a great deal. You said that you had learned skating, but that there being little snow this year you have had little chance to enjoy the sport. I wish America will come to take all the snow from us; then we will not have to burn our barns and our roofs to keep ourselves warm.

You are old enough, I trust, to keep yourself warm, clad, and to eat nourishing food. We are well.

Father, WANG CHI-KWEI.

Under the Lamb, Third Moon, Fifth Day, Ninth Year of the Republic.
Shun-tang, my son: You say you have passed your semester examinations. Good, that comforts your parents. We hope you will be a worthy scion of Wang. Now, only the new learning can save our country from foreign aggression. If you do well, you may have a part in building up the new nation. There is no more that a father can expect than this.

You also said that the Chinese students in your university are staging Mu-lan to get money to send home for the sufferers. If many American friends helped you, you would undoubtedly have made a big sum. America is rich; Americans have the money to help us.

Your former teacher wrote me from Shanghai that the merchants were planning to raise two million dollars for the relief. He said that Nieh Che-Chih, the cotton merchant, was leading the campaign. He may succeed, but it seems to me that two million from one city is slightly too ambitious.

You always said that the Chinese people spent too much money for their funerals. You disliked the Buddhist priests. I agree with you. All this is childish without superstition. But if this famine has taught us one thing it has taught us to bury the dead cheaply. Now, we don't stop to inquire about Feng-shui; we dig a hole anywhere, any way. No coffins; no white mourning cloth; no processions. But the cruel crows prey on the dead bodies! That we should allow the dead to be violated by the animals is too much for me.

Can I hope that after you have learned Western science you will be able to prevent famine for all time? Study then Western science and come back to teach the people how to prevent famine. In a way, it is not the fault of the people, the poor people. In your judgment, you must be kind to them. Two years ago this region was stricken by flood. The poor, thrifty, industrious people paid no attention to it and sowed again the next season. But last year we had no rain. The farmers tilled, sowed and kept the land free from weeds, but the drought killed all.

How can you blame the people? Can you ask more of them than working hard and saving much? Not a day passes now without dozens dying around here. I wonder if in the recent war, the great war, more died than those dead and dying people. In your judgment, you must

the American papers estimated that about seventeen millions died in Europe; well, that is not many more than fifteen millions dying in China now. Do you think that the Christian people of America will understand our distress and come to our help? Of course they have helped, but they must help more, for we have no other source of help.

It is warmer now. Your mother, brothers and sister are all well. I myself don't know whether I am sick or tired. I trust there is nothing serious. Father, WANG CHI-KWEI.

FILMDOM STARS TO BE SEEN

Galaxy of Favor Winners Booked For Appearance in Lima Theatres This Week

List Includes Norma Talmadge, Dorothy Gish, Anna Nilsson and Many Others

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
Be sure you lay aside enough "movie" change this week, for the list of attractions as announced by theatre managers for today and the forthcoming week is a list of plays and players that is sure to inveigle you into seeing each and every one of them. Norma Talmadge, Dorothy Gish, Thomas Meighan, Anna W. Nilsson, Bebe Daniels, Clyde Cook, Louise Lovely and others equally as prominent, are some of the week's featured players.

"The Passion Flower," which became notable as the starring vehicle of Nance O'Neill on Broadway, has been made into a picture with beautiful Norma Talmadge in the leading role, that of Acacia. To say that Miss Talmadge makes a striking Spanish girl is putting it mildly. Harrison Ford and Courtenay Foote play opposite.

"The Passion Flower" is one of the week's best attractions. It opens a five-day engagement on Tuesday, at the Regent theatre.

"Skirts," a five-reel Fox comedy, opens a four-day run today at the Sigma theatre. Clyde Cook is the featured player but the cast is greatly enhanced by the appearance of the famous Singer Midgets and hosts of beautiful bathing beauties.

On Thursday, Louise Lovely, whose return to the cinema stage is but a recent event, will appear at the Sigma in "Partners of Fate."

Another important production on the week's roster of film productions is "Brewster's Millions," which stars Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle. This famous story by Harold MacGrath is splendid material for the popular Mr. Arbuckle. The engagement of "Brewster's Millions" is for three days only.

Thomas Meighan, popular young Paramount star, comes to the Faurot on Wednesday in "The Frontiers of the Stars," while on Saturday, the management of the Faurot is presenting a return showing of "The Ghost in the Garret," with Dorothy Gish. If you missed this sparkling little comedy-drama when it appeared here a few weeks ago, don't miss seeing it on Saturday.

Anna Q. Nilsson, claimed by artists to be one of the most beautiful women on the stage today, is prominently cast in "What Women Will Do" which opens a four-day engagement today at the Lyric theatre. The picture has a strong element of mystery today at the Lyric theatre. The picture has a strong element of mystery and gives Anna Q. the role of Lily Gibbie, a girl crook whose better nature finally comes to the front and she changes her life accordingly. The supporting cast includes Alan Forrest and Earl Metcalfe.

The Majestic's program for the week gets an excellent send-off in "You Never Can Tell" which stars

BAE PIERRE BROOKHART AND PRINCESS PARILLO Orpheum theatre all this week. Extra add attraction with North Stock Co.

Bebe Daniels, the "good little bad girl" of screenland. Harold Goodwin plays opposite.

The Sigma's Pictures

FOLLOWING in the foot-steps of several prominent comedy producers, whose six reel laugh films have become popular, the Fox aggregation has made, and is presenting at the Sigma theatre today, a six-reel comedy production titled "Skirts." The picture has for its shining light, the morose and more or less comical Mr. Clyde Cook, whose antics thru the entire piece are something to be remembered. The comedy has a real plot and the locale is laid in a circus, with Mr. Cook playing the part of one of the razor-backs, until he is found to be the son of a wealthy Peter Rocks, who has deserted his circus wife, the bearded lady, many years before.

One of the nicest features of the entire production is the appearance in many scenes of the Singer Midgets. These tiny people (there are many of them) contribute to the picture many of the most amusing scenes.

A scene of gorgeous splendor is one in which hundreds of beautiful and symmetrical Bathing Beauties appear. The setting of this particular scene is in an immense cabaret and the girls appear as entertainers. There are also several delightful posing pictures of girls in the latest bathing creations.

The circus freaks are all there, from the strongest man in the world to the bearded lady. The usual circus clowns are there also, all of which contributes to the general laugh-producing qualities of "Skirts" as a whole.

A funny little prologue, in which a plaster form, supposed to be Adam, as seen in the garden of Eden, precedes the picture proper. In a few moments there is a beautiful plaster Eve evolved, and the work of vamping Adam begins. This little prologue is unusual and therefore of interest. "Skirts" is to be featured at the Sigma theatre for four days.

It is a point to see it during that time.

J. Allen Grubb, local vocalist, appears at the Sigma theatre today in a cycle of vocal selections.

The Majestic's Pictures

BEBE DANIELS, Realart Star, appears today at the Majestic theatre in "You Never Can Tell." The story gives Miss Daniels the role of Rowena, a check-room girl in a fashionable hotel. One day when she was trying on some of the gorgeous wraps left in her care in the check-room, she attracted the attention of a millionaire, whose attentions were not exactly repulsive to the poor little girl who loved clothes and a good time more than anything else in the world, that is, until she met her ideal, a handsome young man, but supposedly poor.

The picture will give you plenty of laughs and with beautiful Bebe Daniels and Jack O'Hall in the leading roles, it is one of the cleverest productions of the week.

The Regent's Pictures

THE Regent's program for the week contains two excellent features, the most important of which is "The Passion Flower," with Norma Talmadge, which opens on Tuesday for a five-day run. The Sunday feature is "The Voice in the Dark," a mystery drama.

"The Voice in the Dark" tells of the mysterious murder of Dr. Sainsbury, which might have been committed by one of four suspects. The real culprit is kept hidden and when her identity is finally disclosed those who have followed the story are given a distinct surprise. It is thru the testimony of a blind man and a deaf woman that the mystery is solved; the blind man telling what he heard, the deaf woman what she saw.

The cast includes Ramsey Wallace and Irene Rich, two prominent Goldwyn stars. The engagement is for two days only.

Miss Norma Talmadge, the most popular screen actress of the day, comes to the Regent theatre on Tuesday in "The Passion Flower," a Spanish play in which Nance O'Neill was successfully starred on the speaking stage. Miss Talmadge's type of beauty lends itself admirably to the role of "Acacia," the Spanish girl whose hate for her step-father is deep and relentless. She becomes engaged to Norbert, her cousin, thinking that in marrying him she will be given an opportunity to escape from her step-father. How her hate turns into love and how thru the death of her mother, she finds love and happiness, makes one of the most thrilling and thoroughly enjoyable films ever attempted.

Harrison Ford has the role of Norman, the poet. Courtenay Foote is cast as the step-father whom Acacia finally marries. Natalie Talmadge, the youngest of the Talmadge sisters, has an important part in the production of "The Passion Flower." In fact, the entire cast is above reproach and the picture promises to be one of the most talked-of and popular film features brought to this city.

Sydney Chaplin, brother of Charles, three years absent, has released a comedy he wrote, starring himself. It is called, "King, Queen, Joker."

ED WYNN, THE "PERFECT FOOL"

As Ed Wynn, the "perfect fool," who comes to the Faurot Opera House, matinee and night, Saturday, May 7, in his new edition of "The Ed Wynn Carnival," has signed a contract with A. L. Erlanger and B. C. Whilney to be starred for the next five years in a new musical production yearly, the now famous comedian will shelve his present vehicle at the end of the season, which has lasted nearly two years. Wynn says there will never be a number two company presenting any of his shows.

Trio of New Productions Make Bid For Fame and Favor In New York

John and Ethel Barrymore
Appear In "Claire de Lune"

Gossip of the Rialto In Vein that Betokens Under-standing

(BY FREDERICK SCHRADER)

NEW YORK — (Special)—Three new productions are scattered thru the past week, beginning with the Empire Theater play of "Claire de Lune," with John and Ethel Barrymore, followed by the special matinee series of performances by Walter Hampden in "Macbeth" and ending with the last production of the season by the Theater Guild, of "Lilium," with Joseph Schildkraut in the leading role.

Hampden's tendency to be enrolled—if it rests with himself—in the classic, more specifically the Shakespearean school, is emphasized by his present venture into "Macbeth." He is a young actor who first attracted attention by his fine physique and heroic chest tones when he was supporting Nazimova shortly after her discovery by Harrison Grey Fiske as a member of a Russian theatrical company on the East Side. It was in one of these plays with Nazimova that Hampden afforded the critics a glimpse of his capacity. The actor's strike two years ago enabled him, at the several daily benefits for the striking players, to become more widely known by his portrayal of "Hamlet," a scene from which he presented at each performance. Those who came to laugh stayed to applaud. He had the voice and the form for it. And now he is enriching his repertoire with "Macbeth." Is it a challenge to Lionel Barrymore, who so recently essayed the part and gave it that futuristic character which puzzled the critics and sent them prematurely home? Hampden will try no new experiments with Shakespeare, and it is safe to say that Miss Mary Hall, who has the part of Lady Macbeth, will not be told, as Miss Julia Arthur was told, to forget to act and omit to use her beautiful voice.

"My Pym Passes By" moved to the Henry Miller Theater Monday evening from the Carick, the home of the Theater Guild, in order to make room for "Lilium." Franz Molnar is the author of the new play and Franz Molnar will be recalled as the author of "The Devil," which was so well received about 11 years ago. He wrote it for Schildkraut when the latter was still acting in Vienna. Molnar is the foremost Hungarian dramatist. What the present play is about will not be revealed until the latter part of the week. It is described as a modern legend.

Now and then a player of extraordinary ability pops up, as it were, out of the vampire trap of so-called Broadway stage, ready equipped for an artistic triumph. And then people begin to wonder and speculate who the stranger is and where he (or she) came from. The program prints the names of the actors and some current jokes and fashion notes, but you have to be on the stage a long, long time to get a notice in one of the New York theatre programs. And what generally happens then is this: The player, being unacquainted with the struggle of years behind him, feels so flattered that he thinks he is a heaven-born genius and anon wears into a conventional groove. By and by you see every wire which he pulls to make his effects and he begins to bore you.

It is to be hoped that Miss Clara Ames who has been giving such a delightful performance of Mary Stuart in Drinkwater's play will prove an exception to the rule. She has made the Scotch Queen a part of herself. You fancy when you see her that you are actually in the presence of the royal martyr. That means that she has the distinction, the dignity and the fiction. And she has the confidence of a veteran, the she is not. What makes her still more interesting is the information that she is the niece as well as the protégée of Madame Emma Eames, the famous prima donna. Of course genius is inherited, but the perhaps few others could have achieved such prominence in so difficult a part as the Queen, she admittedly owes not a little of her capacity to Madame Eames' polishing and example. She was not expected to go on the stage, but out in her home in Cleveland social life eventually began to bore her and Miss Clara came to New York and in due time graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, considering herself a failure. But being in, she resolved to give them a square, stand-up fight for a place in her train. She obtained her first engagement in 1913 in a historic spectacle, "Liberty," at the Century Theatre. Curiously enough, she was cast for the part of Queen Elizabeth because her aristocratic bearing made an instant impression on the stage director. She played a while on the road and also in a production at the Greenwich Village Theatre, altogether her experience was slight, when fate would have it that she was cast for the same part in Drinkwater's play. Her fame was established after the first night. It is to be regretted that "Mary Stuart" is about to be withdrawn for while it is not a great play, but rather a dramatic sketch, it has an undeniable charm which perhaps mainly is due to the impersonation of the leading part. The producer says he intends to keep the play for next season, to revive it on Broadway, when the regular New York theatre-goers are clamoring for something more substantial than the conventional things in the way of fluffy comedies.

Such is the story of one endowed individual who has stuck it on the Great White Way. A somewhat different story is told by Vincent Lawrence, the playwright. It took him just fourteen years to get a hearing on Broadway. He now has a success in "The Ghost Between," but a long gap intervenes between the production of his first play when he started business, a boy of seventeen, and his present gratifying experience as a successful writer for the stage. In the interim, to make both ends meet he served as golf reporter on the Boston Traveller for four years. But his great ambition was to see his characters walk in the glare of the footlights. He wrote a number of pieces for stock companies and several vaudeville sketches and a fellow Bostonian, Henry W. Savage, encouraged him to keep on until at last he has fortune in his class. After this it will be for him no more difficult to get a play produced than it will be for Miss Ames to get an engagement.

The new production at the Empire.

a disfigured clown and also a merry duce, as the principal figures. It is poetic drama of the Materlinck type, couched in florid phrases that are not all clear, with a suffusion of romantic color that springs from the imagination of certain inner circles of exclusive society life. It was unmistakably a society affair before and behind the curtain. As a popular offering it is too involved in plot and too exotic, perhaps too exclusive. For the ultra modern rabble it looks "punch," but it is a thing of beauty, handsomely staged and well acted. Its appeal to the delicate-minded may insure it patronage over the eight weeks for which it is booked.

"Like a King" is the title of a new play which is almost ready for its premier, and "Princess Virtue," a musical play by B. C. Hillman and Gitz Rice, has been sent on tour for a preliminary spin before entering the sacred precincts of the Rialto. A. H. Woods is advancing with the rehearsals of a new thriller called "The Red Trail" and "The Poppy God" is being made ready for an early opening. At the Bramhall, "The Playboy of the Western World" is now running and the Belasco office announces that "The Gold Diggers" with Ina Claire has had more than 450 performances.

The day is visibly approaching when New York will witness a splendid revival of "The Belle of New York," for which active preparations are now under way. The revival will be made by the Shuberts and by the same manager who directed the production of "Florodora" last season. The musical comedy was originally produced at the Casino Theatre in New York in 1897. In the cast were the late Dan Daly, the late George Fortescue, Harry Davenport, John Slavin, Phyllis Rankin, Miss Paula Edwards, and last but not least, Miss Edna May (Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn). The book was written by C. M. S. McClellan, the music by Gus Kerker. After the great success of the piece in New York it made the round of the civilized world. It also made the fortune of the librettist and the composer.

Kerker is at this moment lying in a critical condition at his home in this city, the result of a paralytic stroke. The merry strains of the "Belle" may be his requiem. With him will pass the originator of the modern musical comedy. The first piece of this genre was "Fun on the Bistol." It was a welcome visitor in its day and generation for a number of years. I have the story from Kerker's own lips how he started his career as a composer. He was a violinist in one of the old theaters in Louisville, Ky. The Hess Opera Company came along and presented "The Chimes of Normandy," which was then a complete novelty. Kerker rewrote the score from memory and it was presented by local talent. It made such an impression on his theatrical friends that they encouraged him to compose something original, and then followed that remarkable output of light musical piece-which with "Fun on the Bistol" made Kerker's name a household word. In the course of time he became the musical conductor at the Casino in New York and in that capacity wrote the "Belle" which made his name equally popular in London, Paris and Berlin. Just before the war he went to Germany and there composed "Two Little Queens," which was afterwards translated and given a production in New York.

DEVELOPING WATERWAYS

In the early days of the development of efforts to bring about a rehabilitation of the canal system of Ohio, many persons smiled derisively and shrugged their shoulders. The propaganda built up by the railroad magnates for the purpose of destroying the waterways still lingered.

But a change has come over the people generally. They now realize that with waterways in competition with railroads in freight hauling, the rate question would perhaps solve itself. And the railroad owners themselves would doubtless be very well satisfied if the canals still existed as of yore, as an aid to transportation. The task is now one that is beyond the railroads to negotiate.

Hence, the suggestion of building barge canals isn't laughed at any more. Transforming the old Miami and Erie into a barge canal would mean much to the Ohio Valley. Urgent industry in the campaign for its construction is demanded. There must be more vim and vigor injected into the work necessary to secure this important artery of trade. Between Toledo and Cincinnati, communities that are located on the route are aiding movements designed to bring about canal construction.

Lima is only a few miles away from the route of the principal canal as proposed. The Miami and Erie is the route best adapted to aid the interests of the Ohio Valley. The proposition means much. A representative of the Detroit board of commerce declares that fully half the 6,000,000 tons now shipped annually by rail by Detroit manufacturers to Atlantic ports would be sent thru the St. Lawrence river. Such a river in Europe would not long be permitted to remain an undeveloped transportation problem. Europe long ago learned the incalculable value of inland cheap water transportation. What Europe has done can be done here at less expense and with greater commercial benefit to a greater number of people. Money so expended should be regarded as a gilt-edged national investment.

REDUCING CORN CROP

DISCOURAGEMENT for the planting of large crops of corn is seen in a statement that has been issued by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. It cites the action of a farm journal in Iowa, which urges farmers to "materially reduce their corn acreage."

The situation in Iowa is termed "scarcely comparable" with that in Ohio. Ohio farmers market only a small part of their corn crop as grain, sending much of it to market in the form of pork. As pork is relatively higher than corn, the Ohio farmers are faring better than their Iowa associates.

It would be well, nevertheless, for the Ohio farmers to keep the general situation in mind in their spring planting, especially those who expect to sell their corn as grain, or who must employ hired help to grow the crop. The general fertility of soils no doubt suffered a considerable depletion during the war, due to a disarrangement of the regular crops and rotations and high cost of fertilizers.

In view of these facts, might this not be an excellent time to grow more nitrogen producing crops?

AN "UNDERGROUND RAILWAY"

PRIOR to the civil war, there existed from the states of the south to the Canadian border an "underground railway" maintained by advocates of the policy of no slavery. Enemies of the traffic in human bodies, abolitionists they were termed, aided escaping slaves along the way from the land of their bondage to Canadian soil. Many are still living who aided slaves to escape.

Now, more than half a century later, there is another "underground railway," that reaches across the sea to the Emerald Isle. Leaders of the Sinn Féin movement in the United States, receive with amazing regularity letters delivered from Ireland to New York by messengers of the "underground railway" system. Harry J. Boland, secretary to De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, has made three trips to the United States via the "Sinn Féin Route." De Valera used the same method of reaching the United States, from his unhappy island country.

DANGERS OF MODERN DRESS

THAT the purity of our country's girlhood is crumbling away because of immodest styles, is the opinion of Judge Arthur Tuttle, of the United States district court, Detroit.

It is likely that the judge is unduly pessimistic and that conditions are not as bad generally as he has perhaps found in a specific instance. He is quoted as expressing the belief that American morals are speeding toward destruction because of a growing delinquency among the country's girlhood, tolerated and fostered by unsympathetic and careless mothers and fathers.

There is no question but that modern clothes spell ruin for many young women of today, but not a great number compared with those who keep themselves morally straight. The Detroit judge believes that fashionable immodesty is the greatest menace to our national life and that a disappearing institution, the family fireside, must be revived to save the American girl in the ideal form.

It is easy to agree with Judge Tuttle in this latter expression. There is need of a return of the family fireside, but how to bring it about is the question that puzzles. We are living differently now than in the olden days and it would be about as easy to go back to old forms in social life as it would be to revert to the use of the fallow dip and the ox cart.

But there is a method of stopping the onrush of girls to wrong paths. Every girl should be furnished with an occupation, mental or manual; abolish congested living conditions—allow no male boarders in the home where young girls are being raised; educate parents to the prevalence and danger of social disease.

And there would be, too, less danger in this direction if fathers would pay more attention to their sons, acquainting them with the duty they owe to pure womanhood and to shun the danger that menaces them in associating with women of known loose morals. Judge Tuttle may be considered by some people "old fashioned" and impractical, but he is not altogether wrong, not by any means. There is food for thought in his severe strictures against modern dress—or rather undress.

THE PASSION PLAY

INTERRUPTED by the war, the Passion Play of Oberammergau is to be resumed by peasants of Bavaria, Germany, it is announced. It was in 1624 that the peasants determined to give a representation of the closing scenes of the life of Christ once in a decade as a manifestation of their gratitude for deliverance from the plague. Because the war killed or seriously injured so many of the assemblage of performers, the spectacle has not been staged since 1910.

The people of the village of Oberammergau have decided to resume the series. Despite the fact that Germany's conduct in the war brought down the most severe condemnation from other nations, it is believed that it will not interfere to any great extent with the usual concourse of pilgrims and tourists from other lands. Germany forgot the lesson taught by the solemn spectacle of Christ's sacrifice when she precipitated such terrible misery on mankind.

The essential spirit of the historic and wonderful pageant has not been destroyed even by commercial exploitation and the little mountain village is a mecca still. The conservation of the entire community to the task of presenting with fidelity and realistic detail the narratives of the gospels has fixed itself profoundly on the life of the people and on the character of the actors themselves.

DOING ONE'S BIT

DURING the world war we heard a lot about "doing your bit" and "giving until it hurts." There ought to be a goodly measure of the same sentiment in piping times of peace, particularly when the world is struggling to readjust itself and recuperate from the misery and the waste of war.

The war taught us emphatically the lesson of thrift—that there was need for conservation. We should not now forget. Every bit of ground that is available should be made to produce something. Plant gardens. Help in the task of feeding the world.

DIPLOMACY.

It was at one of those afternoon teas which mean nothing. You entertain all of your friends, and the cost for doing this is low.

He had arrived before his wife and a middle-aged siren had cornered him. At first he resented it and then he warmed up to the situation. In fact he was getting to that stage where a man talks about himself.

Then his wife arrived. Both women giggled, each other sweetly. He sort of felt that he was out of it.

CONFESSIONS OF A CYNIC.

I am a very wise bird indeed, but the day does not pass in which I do not meet up with somebody who is wiser than I.

I am not superstitious and am very sorry for people who are weak-minded enough to believe in signs, but I never walk under a ladder, I never spill the salt without throwing some of it over my left shoulder and I never make any affirmative statement whatever without knocking on wood.

I always get indigestion when I eat mushrooms, and for that reason, probably, I eat them about three times a week.

I never go to bachelor dinners or other ante-mortems.

I am free to admit that a cold summer has no terrors for me.

I am very fond of any man who does not advise me regarding my personal habits; in which feeling I differ from nobody in particular.

I believe that if every person told the exact truth about everything very few persons would have any friends.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

HUMBLENESS

What is there in skill that should lift you from men?
What is there in fame that should build up a wall
Between you and your neighbor, that never again
You should welcome him in when he ventures to call?
What is there in greatness that you should deny Word of good cheer to the friend who goes by?
Stay down upon earth thru the months and the years,
For all you possess shall remain when you go;
Nor all you have come to shall save you from tears,
Nor all of your greatness shall keep you from woe,
And statesmen, or painter, or gifted of pen,
Must live out their years on this earth among men.
What is there in fortune or fame that should change
The nature God gave at the day of man's birth?
Why should success make a great man grow strange
To the neighbors who gladly rejoice at his worth?
Be humble, be gracious, be kind to the end,
The humblest of men is worth while as a friend.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

Prevention is not only more valuable but more feasible than cure. The treatment of dandruff is a probably preventing or at least postponing baldness in many cases. Just to illustrate our mode of thought, let me name a few of the terms for dandruff: Seborrhea sicca, pityriasis, eczema seborrheicum, seborrhea, lichen circinatus, etc. But the terms are not employed wholly to cause the soul to tremble; there are various scalp or skin diseases; such as psoriasis, ichthyosis (fish-like scales), tinea (ringworm), and favus, which a layman might mistake and mistreat for dandruff.

Dandruff is a functional disorder of the sebaceous or oil-secreting glands, therefore an organic disease of the skin, probably caused by specific germ which is readily conveyed from head to head by the hands, or by direct contact of the scalp or hair. Dandruff is an excessive oiliness or greasiness of the scalp and hair, due to excitement or stimulation of the sebaceous glands by the causative bacteria which gradually burrow down the hair shaft into the gland (the oil gland duct empty always upon the hair shaft depression). Subsequently the scalp becomes less greasy, and the dandruff becomes a dry, scaly, furfureous dandruff (seborrhea sicca). More or less itching may accompany the disease at any stage. More or less falling of hair inevitably accompanies the advanced stage (dry dandruff) for the busy microbes destroy the hair follicle or root as surely if not so suddenly as does the electric needle inserted in the follicle. Along with the scalp oiliness in the early stages of seborrhea, the forehead nose and ears often become unpleasantly oily.

For the treatment of oily or dry dandruff, this formula is perhaps the best, provided it is faithfully applied:
Salicylic acid powder . . . 20 grains
Precipitated sulphur . . . 60 grains (1 dram)
Ointment or rose water . . . 1 ounce
This should be rubbed into the scalp on the tips of the fingers, by parting the hair here and there, going over about one-fourth of the scalp area each day or evening, and interrupting for a shampoo once a week, for two weeks. Then three times a week for some three or four months.
For oily dandruff this lotion has given happy results:
Salicylic acid . . . . . 40 grains
Resorcin . . . . . 40 grains
Grain alcohol, or any toilet water 4 ounces.
A half teaspoonful or less of this may be rubbed into the scalp daily in some instances this leaves the hair and scalp too dry; that may be avoided by adding to the formula some thirty drops of castor oil. (Resorcin sometimes stains white or gray hair yellowish.) This formula may also be applied to the oily forehead and nose.

FROM

RING'S SULPHUR BATHS

Harry Ringier, manager of Ring's Sulphur Baths, says every day I hear some one say they didn't know there was such a place in Lima. That if they had known of it, they would have taken the baths long ago. Others say I have heard that your baths are good and I want to take a course, but I have been neglectful. For the benefit of these people, I send this message. If you have any of the following diseases, get started at once. I can say with all sincerity that the longer you wait the more money it will cost you, and the less chance you have of getting cured. We have cured hundreds at our Lima and Toledo institutions, many of whom were considered hopeless by those that profess to know.

Already many physicians are prescribing our baths in preference to the baths at Mt. Clemens or any of the many other famous bathing places. There's a reason. Get started at once. The following diseases are treated successfully:
Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Muscular Contraction, Eczema, Neuritis, Neurathenia, Colds, La Grippe, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Disorder, Female weakness and general fatigue. Parlor Open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday 8 a. m. to 11 a. m. Hours by Appointment.

TENNIS BUG STIRS JAPS IN ORIENT

NEW YORK.—"Look out for the Japs!"

Bill Tilden 2d, world's premier tennis player, uttered this warning recently in discussing the coming Davis Cup ties and the efforts of Japanese nations to lift the famous cup.

"It is my firm belief that the Japanese team is the most dangerous one in the Davis Cup ties," Tilden continued. "Tehya Kumagae and Senzo Shimidzu, who will play against the American team, are among the world's best tennis players. I have met both players. I played Shimidzu twice, and altho I feel that he is constantly becoming a better player, Kumagae is agile, crafty, a deep student of the game and a great all-round player. It will not surprise me to see this pair come thru to the round before the challenge round and I will be more surprised to see them complete against the American team next summer for the Davis Cup."

Tilden has been playing tennis for nearly a score of years. He has had to be a deep student of the game to attain the lofty place he holds in the tennis world today and he knows whereof he speaks. Furthermore, being conservative to a marked degree he would not make such a statement unless convinced he was right.

PROBABLE LINEUP

As the teams are lined up for the first round in the cup ties it is probable that matches will be played as follows:

Spain vs. England, at Wimbledon.

Australia vs. Canada, either in Canada or the United States.

Czechoslovakia vs. Belgium, at Brussels or Antwerp.

ARE TO MEET

The winners of the Spanish-English and Canada-Australia matches will come together in the second round and will be the victors in the first round matches between Japan and the Philippines and Czechoslovakia. The other second round matches will be played between France and India and Argentina and Denmark.

Speed Kings To Compete For Two State Championships May 30-th

Plans are under way for the staging of a number of motorcycle races here Decoration Day, Monday, May 30, at the Lima Driving Park.

The Lima Motorcycle Club is behind the races, with Charley Rousculp, Indian motorcycle dealer, W. High-st, in direct charge of the arrangements.

Six events are so far scheduled, comprising two sidecar and four solo races.

Both sidecar races will be for state championships, one a five mile event and the other a three mile. Floyd Dryer and Earnest Place, both of Mansfield, and noted racers who have hung up quite a reputation for themselves in the motorcycle world, will be in both of the sidecar events.

SMITH MAY RACE

Charley Smith, who has won much fame on the dirt tracks and who is now head mechanic in the Indian agency here, will ride Rousculp's special race machine in all of the solo events.

Smith was seriously injured in a race at South Bend, Ind., early last fall when his machine plunged thru a fence during a race. He was taken to a hospital, and removed here by Charley Rousculp, a personal friend.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Smith was put under the care of Lima physicians, and was sufficiently improved so as to start work for the Indian concern here last January.

Smith is contemplating racing extensively again this season, and has several lucrative offers from the various motorcycle factories.

All events will be open to the world. Entries can now be made at the Indian motorcycle headquarters, W. High-st.

INTEREST AROUSED

Much interest has been aroused in Lima and surrounding counties since the word was passed around among motorcycle racing fans that the Lima Motorcycle Club was contemplating a race, coupled with the fact that two state championship events are to be held during the afternoon.

Within the next week an extensive advertising campaign will be launched.

SOLDIERS TO GUARD

The Driving Park will be patrolled by the local cavalry troop, augmented by the gathering here of all county constables vested with the power to enforce all rulings of the club and the Driving Park officials.

Efforts are now being made to have a free-for-all two mile race between the Indian scout models and the Harley-Davidson sport models.

ELKS TO STAGE A GLITTERING GORGEOUS STREET PAGEANT

May Festival Dates April 30 to May 7 Announced by Lodgemen

Visitors from All Over Northwestern Ohio to be Here for Week

All the adjectives in the marvelous, wondrous, phenomenal, miraculous, portentous and elegant vocabulary of a circus press agent fall far short of describing the courtly, sumptuous, luxurious, exquisite and beautiful pageant that on next Saturday night will herald the opening of the Elks' week of joy, the "May Festival," April 30 to May 7, by Lima Lodge No. 54, B. P. O. E.

The glaring electric street signs along Lima's "Great White Way" will be dimmed into insignificance by the radiance and splendor of the extraordinary street parade that will pass between the ranks of spell-bound Limaites.

A GORGEOUS PARADE
Headed by a squadron of "Lima's Finest," impressive in their brave blue uniforms of courage and gleaming buttons, the pageant will draw, as the magnet does the needle, the crowds into the walls of the Elks' Home, changed as if by magic into an enchanted palace of frivolity and joy.

The boys of the American Legion, heroes of Flanders fields, Verdun and Chateau Thierry, will be the guests of honor on the opening night and will follow the guardians of the law in the street parade.

Next to greet the eye will be the prancing steeds of Lima's crack cavalry company. Officers of the lodge will follow in motor cars. But wait, now comes the real splendor of the occasion.

Gaudy circus wagons, three iron bars holding confined the beasts of the jungle and forest, all lighted up with electric lights, will follow.

Throughout the lineup will be such features as the newly organized but highly efficient Elks' Zouave drum and bugle corps, composed mostly of ex-army joy killers, but who will do what they can in time of peace to set right the damage done in the wee small hours of an army morning.

JACK BEALL'S TRIBE
Next the wildest, most humorous, entertaining and lowest salaried entertainer before the American people today will appear with his band of expert fun-makers. He is none other than Jack Beall, champion blues chaser. With him will be the original Mutt and Jeff, Briggs, Tarsan of the Apes, Der Captain and der Kids, and many more or less illustrious personages.

the things that they should not have done to arrange for the festival.

DANCING? YES, BOY!
The beautiful banquet hall will be transformed into a summer garden and "park plan" dancing will hold full sway. Evans' "Peerless Orchestra" will distribute the jazz.

Patrons will be able to buy anything for money, marbles or chalk. "Dinty" Moore himself will hold out in the basement next door to "The Philippines" dry bar. "The Bowery" will provide first aid to the more hardened joy seekers.

Home prepared eats will be dispensed by committees directed by Mrs. Arthur Herrett, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Glen Webb.

All in all, the Elks' May Festival will be one solid week of recreation,

DOUBLE CAPACITY OF BARR HOTEL

Seven Story Addition to Connect with St. Elmas-Apts.

BARRS ACQUIRE PROPERTY

When Complete Hostelry Will Have Total of 186 Rooms.

Plans have been completed whereby the Barr Hotel, Union and High-
sts. will become the largest hostelry in the city. The present capacity of 90 rooms will be increased to 186
when contemplated alterations and additions have been completed.

Construction of a seven-story addition on a lot between the present building and the St. Elmas apartments will be started in the near future. This lot and the apartments have been acquired by the Messrs.
Barr and when the connecting building is completed the entire block
will be joined into one building.

There will be 48 guest rooms in the new building, each with bath and hot and cold soft water. The materials used in the building and the furnishings of the rooms will be of the same character as the present structure. Fire proof construction will prevail throughout and everything will be of the latest design.

LARGER DINING ROOM

A new dining room will be provided on the first floor of the addition,
more than doubling the present capacity. This will call for an enlarged kitchen and serving room and the space needed will be taken from the present dining room. The remainder of the space will be added to the lobby, making it twice its present size.
A ladies' rest room will be a feature of the new building and will be located just back of the writing room.

Family apartments, served from the hotel are contemplated. These will be in the St. Elmas building and will consist of 48 rooms in all. Another elevator will be installed, giving adequate service to both the regular hotel rooms and the apartments.
This will be the only hotel in the city
having apartments in connection with it.

PARK IS PLANNED

A little park is also being planned for the north side of the present building. A new entrance will be provided, opening from the lobby into the park and will provide a novel feature never attempted here in the past. The park will be surrounded by a hedge and trees and shrubs planted.

The new building will have a dimension of 45x100 and will cost approximately $100,000. The present structure was erected in 1916 and is owned by E. J. and O. O. Barr.

YORK FUNERAL MONDAY
Funeral services for William York, 1887 Hughes-ave, who died suddenly of heart failure, Friday atternoon, will be held Monday at 2 o'clock at the Second-st. M. E. church.
The Rev. Charles Fulkerson, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

LIMA MUSICIANS AT LEIPSIK.
Mrs. Andrew Diamond, cellist; Mrs.
G. C. Dunifon, violinist and Miss Leona Feltz, pianist, provided music for an oratorical contest, held at Leipzig Friday evening. Dr. Andrew Diamond and G. C. Dunifon accompanied them to that place.

COLUMBUS—Live hog prices declined 50 cents a hundred to $7 and for hogs and $7.50 and $8
for mediums and other grades.

SIX CASES TO BE INVESTIGATED

Only Seven Witnesses Summoned Before Grand Jury.

Probably the smallest number of cases to be considered by any grand jury which has been convened in the last couple of years will be that of the April term, which meets Monday.

Only half a dozen cases are on the calendar. Seven witnesses only have been called to testify Monday.
Persons who have been summoned for grand jury service are Wil-

The following men have been nominated to fill the vacancies in the Board at the close of the present association year: Paul W. Crawford, George A. Heriott, Homer A.
Herrett, Homer A. Stonecker, Glen
V. Stephens, Frank A. Thomas, Elmer D. Webb. These men will serve, if elected, for three years.

Brief but interesting reports will be given by the chairman of committees as follows:
Physical, by Dr. J. B. Poling.
This will include not only the regular gymnasium work but bowling,

dress.
Dinner will be served at 6:15
Wednesday evening at the association building.

$1,000 LIQUOR TAX TO BE LEVIED AGAINST PROPERTY

Violation of the Crabbe act in the future will mean that the property in which the act was committed will be held
good for tax of $1,000.

Provisions of the Miller law and explanation of the sections, was received yesterday by County Auditor Phillips.
This ruling is provided for by amended senate bill No. 17.
Names of violators will be certified from time to time, by the state auditor, to County Auditor Phillips, to be placed by Phillips on the liquor assessment duplicate. The $1,000 tax and penalty of 20 per cent becomes a lien on real estate
where the trafficking was done.

The eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution
makes it illegal to traffic in intoxicating liquors and the Miller act imposes a tax on violators of the law. Settlement will be made as formerly under the Dow-Aiken liquor law,
many of the sections of which are still in force.

SECURE FACTS ON HOUSING NEEDS

Commerce Chamber Committee
Using Questionnaires.

BOOST BUILDING OF HOMES

Realtors Meet Monday Night—
Real Estate Changes.

Definite action toward the solving of the housing problem in Lima has been taken by Fred B. Williams, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce housing committee. A survey has been started to learn how many people are ready to purchase homes,
if the opportunity is afforded them,
at a price within their reach and with payments being made the same as rent.

A questionnaire was prepared and circulated among the industrial workers in an effort to learn what price home would be the most popular, how many rooms would be desired
and what location would be the most desirable. The prospective home owner is also asked whether he is now the owner of a lot and whether it is fully paid for.

As soon as this information has been assembled steps will be taken to finance a house building program.
Several plans are now under consideration and the one best fitted to the purpose will be used.

Any Lima citizen is privileged to make application and can secure a questionnaire from Fred B. Williams at 115 W. High-st. These answers are desired as soon as it is possible to get them in. Form of questionnaire is printed herewith and may be clipped from this paper for use

if desired.

Sidney Tucker has sold his home
at 1144 Hazel-ave to E. A. Leeson.
Boys' Work secretary of the Y. M.
C. A. He will give possession this week as Tucker is moving to Philadelphia. Dwight F. Fullerton handled the deal.

Glen H. Alexander has purchased the Berryman home, located in the Berryman addition, thru the Elmer Webb Co. This is one of the most beautiful and modern suburban homes near Lima. With it is a two acre tract of land.

Other deals reported by the Webb
Co. are: The Dr. Doty residence on W. High-st. purchased by Mr.
Mauk; The Schenk home on Albert-
st. sold by Mrs. Schenk to Davis Johnson and the sale of a home owned by L. Wilkinson on W. Vine-st
to Miss A. Y. Crider.

Brice B. Applas has purchased a house located at 422 Marlon-ave
from Harold G. Stedman. The consideration was $5,500. Applas has also sold a lot on W. High-st. near Collett-st. These two deals were made thru J. H. Hofer who also sold a home on the Spencervillerd for Clarence W. Baker to G. O. Dupuls. The consideration in the latter sale was $3,000.

Dr. Frank Smith has purchased the Frank Meyer home at 429 S.
Nye-st, thru Morris' and L.

The monthly business meeting of the Lima Real Estate Board will be held at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Monday evening at 7:30. Talks will be given, M. R.

McPherson will tell "How and Why
We Should Build Homes in Lima." W. S. Shepard will show the "Advantages of living in the West and of Lima," and D. L. Fullerton will point out "Why we should Beautify the Home." Entertainment will be furnished by Courtad, Courtad and Zeit.

Additional real estate transfers

announced late Saturday evening were as follows. A property in the Brice addition has been sold by Adelia Sydetricker to Robert Sunderland. J. E. Young handled the deal.

Motter and Green sold a house on McKibben-ave for Miss Ethel Mow-
en, who is now residing in Phoenix, Arizona. Ben Heffner was the purchaser.

Here Is What the Rosemary Makers Say in "Vogue" About Their Rosemary Summer Dresses

These captivating cotton frocks, creations of the renowned Rosemary designers are Paris inspired due to deft style touches imparted by members of our own staff but recently returned from the French capital.

Each of these six cotton dresses is made of a foreign fabric, permanent finish, organdie from Switzerland, the embroidered novelty voile is a French voile, likable linen from England and dainty dotted swiss from Switzerland.

Rosemary Dresses by reason of their rare exquisiteness and intense appeal are widely imitated; but as the shadow can be likened to the substance, so only, can the copy be compared to a Rosemary Creation.
It is a Rosemary Dress only if it bears the Rosemary label.

HALLORAN AGAIN CALLS TRY-OUTS FOR SUNDAY

Team Must Be Picked By Next Sunday, Date For Opening Game

Practically no developments occurred during the past week to throw any light on the Lima semi-pro team which opens its season next Sunday at Fort Wayne, when they tackle the Lincoln Lions.

Negotiations are on in an effort to secure several old Toledo Rail-Light players and the Dayton Rubbers, altho nothing definite along this line has been announced by either Manager Halloran or Callahan.

Since the weatherman has played havoc with scheduled try-outs for the past two Sundays, it is hoped that he will show his cards today so that they can be held in an effort for Halloran to determine on how much local material he can count on.

Several good Lima players are being considered for births on the squad. Word last week from Alvin Ahoor, Mich., indicated that Vernon S. (Slicker) Parks is considering an offer to play each Sunday under the middle of June for the local squad.

WHO HE IS
He is a pitcher who was declared ineligible for college baseball after he had confessed to playing in the Coast League last summer as a professional. As soon as he flashes his studies at Michigan University this spring he goes on the regular line-up of the Tiger.

Parks pitched the Michigan baseball squad to two consecutive victories in the Big Ten conference.

No dope has yet leaked out as to who the other players are that Halloran is endeavoring to line up.

Don Rohe, Lima pitcher, is looming up as a big contender for a job on the mound. Altho he is young in years, he has the earmarks of developing into something good before many seasons roll around.

ROHE IS POPULAR
He has pitched for the Lima team several times, and has always had local fans back of him. His hitting is good, and he started several weeks ago to get in trim with the hope of landing a baseball job. Last fall he signed a contract with the Virginia State League, but was released a short time ago after the league had changed managers, and a misunderstanding as to his case developed.

Halloran is pleased with Rohe and it is probable that he will give the local boy a chance in the box in a short time.

CLASSIC PENN RELAYS OPEN FRIDAY WITH CREAM OF AMERICAN AND FRENCH COLLEGES ENTERED TO COMPETE

DRAKE RELAY RACES BREAK OLD RECORD

DES MOINES, Ia.—One American record was shattered and two Drake relay marks were bettered when 63 middle west universities, colleges and high schools fought out the 12th annual Drake relay classic at the stadium here Saturday.

The brilliant two-mile relay team of Iowa State College smashed its own American collegiate record for the two mile relay, hung up here last year, by stepping the distance in 7:52.25. The old mark was 7:53.45. Oxford University of England placed the world's record for this event at 7:50.3-5. Little, Cornell College, from Mt. Vernon, Iowa, now holds the Drake relay records for the one-mile and two-mile relays for colleges.

Her team set marks of 3:21.1-5 and 8:11.4-5 respectively for the two events. The old marks were 3:26.1-5 and 8:15 held by Wabash and Northwestern.

Deering of Nebraska took the century dash in 10 seconds flat, while Wright of Nebraska won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.25 seconds. Over 6,000 persons filled the Drake stadium.

the same role for the Dempsey affair, it is thought.

Dempsey also will use Jimmy Darcy, a fast light-heavyweight, who is a member of the Kansas stable. Tex Rickard has not announced the exact site in Jersey City where he will bring the champion and the challenger together on July 2, but that is a matter of slight concern to the ordinary fan. To the man out in Podunk, it is of no interest to know whether the contest will be fought on Huckleberry-st or in Watermelon-alley.

RESERVATIONS MADE

Altho the seat sale doesn't open until May 1, in Jersey City and at Madison Square Garden, close to $100,000 worth of reservations already have been made thru the mail. Rickard expects to have at least 75,000 guests in his "country home" for that "little week-end party."

PHILADELPHIA—Hundreds of athletes—the cream of schools and colleges from all parts of the country—are to gather here for the classic Penn relays Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania.

Franklin Field, the scene of hundreds of brilliant performances on track and field in other years, will be the stage on which the fleet and brawny stars will vie for honors, and the games are expected to attract a record attendance.

The entry of a team from France, representing the leading schools and colleges of that valiant nation, gives the 1921 relays an international flavor.

The French team is led by Georges Andre, quarter-mile champion of France, and the relay team will include Andre, Gaston Fery, Maurice Mercery and either Maurice Delvart or Devaux. Ali-Kahn, the sensational French territorial sprinter who won his way into the final heat of the 100-meter race at Antwerp last summer, and De Nys, one of the best long-distance runners in France, are the individual entrants.

Yale, Harvard, Penn, Penn State, Princeton, Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse, Michigan, Illinois, Chicago, Virginia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, Redlands, Boston College, Carnegie Tech, U. S. Navy, Missouri, Dartmouth, Iowa State and hundreds of other colleges from all sections of the country will be represented by relay teams.

Preliminary heats in many of the grammar and high school events and some of the collegiate events are to be run off Friday. The big events on the program, such as the two-mile international classic, the one, two and four-mile college relay championships and the medley relay fixtures will be decided on Saturday.

CHANGES FROM LAST YEAR

There are several new events on the program this year. The two-mile international takes the place of the three-mile race of last year, which was won in such brilliant fashion by Gordon Nightingale, then of New Hampshire State, now of Virginia, who defeated Montague, the Oxford star, by literally running the heart out of his rival.

A Class B high and preparatory school championship will take the place of what was formerly the first class of high and prep school. The City College championship and the normal schools event are also new.

The entire list of institutions represented in the relays this year includes 413 schools and colleges, but as many of the leading schools will have more than one team in the championships there will be close to 500 teams competing.

Records are expected to fall in many events. The hurdle races, the sprints, the distance runs, the relay classics and the various field events from javelin to shotput, not to mention the pentathlon championship, should bring out the most brilliant competition ever witnessed on historic Franklin Field.

Last year the setting of a new world's record in the 440-yard hurdles by Wait, of Cornell, who ran the event in 54.1-5 seconds, the great performance of Nightingale and the winning of the pentathlon by Everett Bradley, of Kansas University, featured the final day of the meet.

NIGHTINGALE FAVORITE

Nightingale will undoubtedly be a favorite in the two-mile international event, but he will find himself up against the strongest kind of proposition Romig, of Penn State, the inter-collegiate cross-country champion, Furnas, of Purdue, the Western cross-country champion; Wharton, of Illinois, the Western two-mile champion; Baker, of Bates College, the New England cross-country and two-mile champion, together with Higgins, of Columbia, are all in the event. The latter proved himself one of the best distance runners in America during the recent indoor season, as he did 4 minutes 21 seconds for the mile and 9 minutes 34.4-5 seconds for the two miles, winning the latter race handily. In addition to these there are several other fine men, any one of whom may win even against the above cracks. Watson, of Kansas State; McMahon, of M. I. T.; Hiler, of Drexel; Massey, of Kansas University; Leath, of New Hampshire State, are all capable of beating 9 minutes 40 seconds for the distance. Two dark horses are found in Hayes, of Pittsburgh, and Booth, of Delaware, both of whom have shown remarkable form recently. With such a fine lot of runners in the event, it would not be surprising to see the winner compelled to beat 9 minutes 30 seconds for the distance. No matter what French runner is brought over he will have to be first class to win against such fast two milers.

Following is a list of the most important relay events, but it is necessary to explain that the following original drawings for one, two and four, the sprint medley and the distance medley relay championships are more nominations than actual entries. These drawings had to be made early so that condensed schedules could be printed and sent to all team managers to facilitate the running off of the carnival. The managers of the big teams thus have to enter all events in which they hope to be represented, but they bring to the games only those teams that show sufficient class to warrant their being placed in the championships.

Carpentier To Train At Manhasset, L. I.

NEW YORK—Georges Carpentier will train for his world's championship fight with Jack Dempsey at Manhasset, L. I., it was announced here Saturday night by Captain Thayer Mallet, personal representative of the Frenchman.

The site selected consists of 12 acres of land on an inlet of Long Island sound which will give the bathing facilities favored by the Frenchman in his training. On the ground are a 12-room modern house and two large barns which will be converted into gymnasiums. An outdoor ring will also be erected.

LEASE IS SIGNED

The selection was made and the lease signed after the place had been inspected by Mallet Jack Curlew and Gus Wilson, Carpentier's trainers.

It is not known where Dempsey will train. He is now doing light work at Freddy Welch's farm at Summit, N. J., and may decide to pitch the camp there, altho his manager is said to have a fondness for Atlantic City, where the revenue from sight-seers would be greater.

IS AFTER JEANETTE

Carpentier has wired terms to Joe Jeanette, the big colored heavyweight, to act as one of his sparring partners. Jeanette turned him for the Lovinsky fight and will accept the same role for the Dempsey affair, it is thought.

Dempsey also will use Jimmy Darcy, a fast light-heavyweight, who is a member of the Kansas stable.

Tex Rickard has not announced the exact site in Jersey City where he will bring the champion and the challenger together on July 2, but that is a matter of slight concern to the ordinary fan. To the man out in Podunk, it is of no interest to know whether the contest will be fought on Huckleberry-st or in Watermelon-alley.

RESERVATIONS MADE

Altho the seat sale doesn't open until May 1, in Jersey City and at Madison Square Garden, close to $100,000 worth of reservations already have been made thru the mail.

Rickard expects to have at least 75,000 guests in his "country home" for that "little week-end party."

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

Herbert Spencer Knew A Thing Or Two—Dressing In Season And In Reason—Glove-Soft Summer Suits—The Saucer Brim On Straw Hats—Lightening The Waistcoat

By ALFRED STEPHEN BRYAN

New York, April 23

WASNT it Herbert Spencer who wrote: "To be a good animal is the first requisite to success in life, and to be a nation of good animals is the first condition to national prosperity?"

To be a good animal, to feel in fine fettle for the day's tasks, one must dress in season and in reason. We Americans are too often encrusted with the stucco of habit. We do not differentiate enough between seasons which prescribe a sensible change of clothes. Merely to go waistcoatless, or to substitute a straw for a felt hat, is not sufficient. The weights and weaves of one's outer suits should be adapted to warmer, sultrier days, and the same thing is true of one's undersuits.

Keeping cool is as much a state of mind as a state of body, and the consciousness that one's clothes tally with the weather seems to make a man less susceptible to fanning, fuming and the petty irritations of oppressive days. True fashion is rooted in common, or rather, uncommon sense. It is no martinet. To be fashionable does not mean to be uncomfortable. Such a notion is as antiquated as detachable cuffs.

Portrayed in the foregoing sketch is a fashionable square-front, single-breasted suit of wool crash, linen, silk-or-linen, batiste, silk or, indeed, any cool, light, air-open material. This suit is tailored so softly, that the lapels melt into the front, forming one unbroken line. The waistcoat, which may be left off, is of ditto fabric. The white collar is smartly low and the four-in-hand is the narrow knitted type.

Taking their cue from the soft hats and derbies of Spring, the more modish shapes in straw hats for the summer season of 1921 show a leaning toward narrowish brims and smallish crowns, though this is a matter of preference, rather than propriety. Broader brims and higher crowns are also available, if you like them.

The two straw hats most worn by the generality of men are the split (fine-woven), and the sennit

(coarse-woven) braids. The shape is variously known as the sailor, yacht or boater, all meaning the same thing. Illustrated at top of second column is the sailor straw with the unstiffened soft brim, known as the dish or saucer effect. Illustrated at bottom of column is the shape with the straight, stiff brim.

Belying popular impression, there is no fixed date when fashion ordains that straw hats must be put on. The weather and thesection are the sole determining factors. The farther South, the earlier straw hats appear. In the North, from May 1st to May 15th is the customary time.

Many men prefer to omit the waistcoat with the advent of oppressive weather, but garments of tan surah silk or pongee silk are light and cool. One of these is pictured above. It is the 5-button type, with cut out (athletic) armholes to allow free arm-play and shoulder away. Look-ahead men, plan their wardrobes in advance of the season.

NOTE—Questions concerning Correct Dress for Men will be answered by Alfred Stephen Bryan, if addressed to him in care of this newspaper. To insure a reply, a stamped envelope must be enclosed.

"PROHIBITION" PANTS NEWEST IN MEN'S WEAR

Walk up and cast your eye on the latest style yet to make its appearance. It is "prohibition pants." That's the latest for the male members of the family. They are provided with hip pockets which come in either quart or pint sizes, according to the wishes of the customer.

Coats will be worn longer this year in order to combine with the hip pockets in making each and every one look the part of a law abiding citizen. They also will be worn longer in time as well as inches.

Cuffs too, are to worn again as before. They likely will be received with open arms after their absence for the last few seasons. Some, of course have used them right along, but the more stylish men had abandoned them to keep up with the times.

Have you decided just what you will wear in the matter of straw lids? We have. How we live through it. No doubt the new styles, although radical, will not look so bad as we think after a few have appeared in the new bonnets.

Low collars and thin knit ties are taking well in Lima and will no doubt continue in their popularity throughout the summer.

Buy Your Coal Direct From Mine—Big Saving

The high cost of coal is a thing of the past. At least there are no complaints on this account—since the removal of government restrictions—among those who have learned how to buy coal. The way to buy coal is to get it direct from the mines. This saves several middlemen's profits. It saves hauling expenses. Anyone can now buy at mine prices, whether a carload buyer or one who uses only ten or fifteen tons a year. This has been made possible through a plan evolved by a large and old-established concern, THE BERNICE COAL COMPANY, with main offices at 282 Como Building, Chicago.

This company has thousands of customers in various sections of the United States who receive all of their coal direct from the mines. These customers are pleased not only because of the low prices they save every year, but also because of the quality of coal they are getting. Many write that they never before had coal that makes so little dust, that burns so well, leaving so few ashes. If you are a coal user—whether you use hard or soft coal, much or little—it will be greatly to your advantage to write the Bernice Coal Co. at once for prices, stating kind and quantity of coal you use.—Adv.

Too many people buy an automobile from the outside in, instead of from the inside out.

Good lines give distinction, but a good motor gives results. The Willys-Knight body is a thing of beauty, but its Sleeve-Valve Motor is a thing of duty, and duty comes first.

Many cars will intrigue you with their lines. But the Willys-Knight adds to the grace of a beautiful body, the quiet cumulative efficiency of the Sleeve-Valve Motor—the only motor that grows finer and fleetier with use.

THE GOLD GIRL

By JAMES B. HENDRYX

Dismounting, before her cabin, she dropped her reins, pushed open the door, and entered. Her eyes flew to the little dressing table. The packet was gone! With a thrill of exultation she carefully inspected the room. Everything was exactly as she had left it. No blundering McCoy had been during her absence, for well she knew that McCoy could no more have invaded the cabin without leaving traces of her visit than she could have flown to the moon. It was midday. She had intended to rest when she reached the cabin, but her impatience to establish once for all the identity of the cunning prowler dispelled her weariness, and after a hurried luncheon, she was once more in the saddle.

Upon the summit of a high ridge she paused and gazed down into the little valley where she had located the false claim. A few moments more and she would know to a certainty the identity of the prowler who had repeatedly searched her cabin. Certain as she was whose stakes she would find marking the claim, it was with a rapidly beating heart that she urged her horse into the valley and across the creek toward the rock wall. Yes, there was a stake! And another! She swung from the saddle and examined the spot. The rock fragments she had selected from her father's samples were gone! And now to find the notice! As she turned to search for the other stakes, her glance rested upon an object that held her rooted in her tracks. For a moment her heart stopped beating as she stared at the little patch of gray buckskin that lay limp and neglected where it had fallen. Slowly she walked to it, stooped and recovered it from the ground. It was a gauntleted riding glove—Vil Holland's. She could not be mistaken, she had seen that glove upon the hand of its owner too many times, with its deep buckskin fringe, and the horseshoe embroidered in red and green silk upon its back.

For a long time she stared at the green and red horseshoe. So it was Vil Holland, after all, and not Monk Bethune, who had systematically searched her cabin. Vil Holland, who had watched continually from his notch in the hill, and the others had been wrong. Everybody disliked Bethune, and disliking him, had attributed to him all the crookedness of the hill country, and all the time, under their very noses, Vil Holland was the real plotter—and they liked him! She could see it all now, how with Bethune for his scapegoat, he was enabled, unsuspected, to plan and carry out his various schemes, and with no possible chance of detection—for he himself was the confidential employee of the ranchmen—the man whose business it was to put an end to the lawlessness of the hill country.

Slowly she turned and, still holding the glove, mounted and headed for the cabin on Monte's creek. At the door she unsaddled her horse, bobbed him and turned him loose. She realized that she was very tired, and threw herself down upon the bunk to think. She was angry now, and the longer she thought the angrier she got. "I can see it all as plain as day," she muttered. "There isn't anything he wouldn't do. He did cut that pack sack, and he ran the sheep man out of the hills because he knew it would be dangerous for him to have a neighbor that might talk. And the Samuelson horse raid! Of all the diabolical plotting! With his outlaw friends holding trusted positions on the ranch, and old Mr. Samuelson sick in bed! Oh, it was cleverly planned! And that Pierce was right in with them. No wonder he wanted to lock me in his cellar!"

At the first faint glow of dawn the girl caught up her horse and, headed for the false claim. It was but the work of a moment to locate the stake to which the notice was attached by means of a bit of wire. Removing the paper, she thrust it into her pocket and returned to the cabin, where she ate breakfast. Hurriedly washing the dishes, she picked up the glove and thrust it into the bosom of her shirt, and drawing the crumpled notice from her pocket, smoothed it out upon the table. Her glance traveled rapidly over the penciled words to the signature, and she started like one in a dream. The blood left her face. The next moment she was upon her bunk where she lay shaken between fits of sobbing and hysterical laughter. She drew the glove with its fringed gauntlet and its gaudily embroidered horseshoe from her shirt front and ran her fingers along its velvety softness. Impulsively, passionately, she pressed the horseshoe to her lips, and leaning to her feet, thrust the glove inside her shirt. Stepping lightly to the table, she re-read the penciled lines upon the crumpled paper, and over and over again she read the signature: RAOUIL BETHUNE, known also as MONK BETHUNE.

The atmosphere of the little cabin seemed stifling. Crumpling the paper into her pocket, she stepped out the door. Her horse stood saddled where she had left him, and reaching up the reins she mounted and headed him at a gallop for the little tent beside the creek to see if Vil Holland had returned. She wondered, as she rode thru the timber how it was she had been so quick to doubt his grave, unsmiling hillman upon such a mere triviality as the finding of a glove. And then she wondered at her changed attitude toward him. She had feared him at first, then despised him. And now she recalled with a thrill, the fearfulness of him, the unsmiling eyes, and the unsmiling lips—now, at least, she respected him, and she no longer wondered why the people of the hills and the people of the town held him in regard.

The huge rock behind which crouched the little tent loomed before her, and hastily removing the glove from its hiding place, she came suddenly upon his camp. A blackened coffee pot was nestled close against a tiny fire upon which a pair of trout and some strips of bacon sizzled in a frying pan. She glanced toward the creek. At the same moment that Vil Holland turned at the sound of her horse's footsteps, and for several seconds they faced each other in silence. Suddenly each realized that he was stripped to the waist, but he never left the point high on his upper arm, almost against the shoulder, where a blood-stained bandage dangled untidily.

"You're hurt!" she cried, swinging from the saddle and running toward him. "Nothing but a scratch. I got nicked a little, night before last, and I just now got time to do it up again. It don't amount to anything—don't even hurt, to speak of. Can't let that go, if you'll just—just anything else, except just attend to that wound—so there! Sit right down beside the creek, and I'll look at it!"

Scooping up water in her hand, Patty applied it to the bandage, and after repeating the process several times, began very gently to remove the cloth. "Why it's clear thru, she cried, as the bandage came away and exposed the wound. "Just thru the meat—it missed the bone. That cold water feels good. It was gettin' kind of stiff. 'What did you put on it?' " "Nothing. Didn't have anything along an' wouldn't have had time to fool with it if I'd been packin' a whole drug store."

"Where's your whiskey?" "I ain't got any."

"Where's your jug? Surely there must be some in it—enough to wash out this wound."

The man shook his head. "No, the jug's plum empty an' dry. I ain't been to town for most a week."

Patty was fumbling at her saddle for the little "first aid" kit that she faithfully carried, and until this moment, had never found use for.

The girl secured the wound full of salve and adjusted the bandage. "Now," she said, authoritatively, "we are going to rub straight on Samuelson's ointment. The doctor will be there and he can dress this wound right, run along, now, and I'll stay here while you fix up your dressin' and when you're thru, you can drink a cup of coffee, if you'll see fit."

"You've asked," the man replied, gravely. "A few minutes later Vil Holland emerged from the tent. 'Sorry I ain't got a table,' he apologized, 'but a few pan outfits always suited me best—makes a fellow feel kind of free to put stakes up' drift when the notion hits him."

"But you've camped here for a long time."

The man glanced about him. Yes, a long time, I guess. I know every place in the hill for a hundred miles round an' this is the pick of 'em all, according to my notion. It lays fine for a ranch. Sometimes, maybe, I'm going to home-stead it. I'll build the cabin right there, close by the big rock, an' I'll build a porch on it so in the evening we could watch the lights way up there on the snow."

Patty smiled. "Who is 'we'?" she asked, mischievously.

The man regarded her gravely. Things like that works themselves out. If there ain't any 'we,' there won't be any cabin, so there's nothin' to worry about."

"Did you catch the horse-thieves?"

Vil Holland's face clouded. "Part of 'em. Not the main ones, tho. I suppose you're wondering how I came to be among those horses?"

"I figured you'd got mixed up in it at Samuelson's somehow. The boys didn't know nothin' about it except Pierce—an' he guessed wrong."

"I rode down there to get him to go for the doctor. Mr. Samuelson was worse, and there was no one else to go. And when I started on for town, the horses swept down on me and carried me along with them."

When they had finished washing the dishes the girl glanced toward the buckskin that was snipping grass in the clearing. "It's time we were going. The doctor may start for town this morning and we'll meet him on the trail."

Without a word the man picked up his bridle and walking to the buckskin, slipped it over his head and led him in. He saddled the horse with one hand and as he turned toward the girl she held out the glove.

"Isn't this yours?" I found it last evening—out in the hills. Holland threw his hand into it. "Yes, it's mine. I'm sure obliged to you. I lost it a couple of days ago. I hate to break in new gloves. These have got to feel to 'em."

"Do you know where I found it?" "No. Couldn't guess with twenty miles or so."

Patty looked him squarely in the eyes. "I found it over where Monk Bethune has just staked a claim. And he asked the particular claim because it was the spot I had indicated on a map that I prepared especially for the benefit of the man who has been searching my cabin all summer."

Holland nodded gravely, without showing the slightest trace of surprise. "Oh, that's where I dropped it, eh? I figured Monk thought he'd found something, the way he came out of your cabin the last time he searched it, so I followed him to the place you'd said for him." He paused, and for the first time since she had known him, Patty thought she detected a flicker of amusement in his eyes. "He didn't waste much time there—just clawed around a few minutes where you'd pecked up the dirt, an' then sunk his stakes an' wrote out his notice, an' high-tailed for the register's office. I looked your plant over after he'd hit for town to file, an' when I tumbled to the game I let him go ahead."

"But suppose the rock had been right? Suppose it had really been daddy's claim?"

"Buck can run rings around that cayuse of his any old day. I expect, if the rock had been right, Monk Bethune would of met up with an adventure of some sort a long ways before he hit town."

"You know he was searching my cabin all the time?"

"Yes, I knew that. But, I saw you was a match for 'em—him an' the fake lord, too."

"And you knew that they always followed me thru the hills?"

"Yes, an' they wasn't the only ones that followed. Clendenning ain't as bad as Bethune, for all he'd throw'd in with him. The days

Bethune followed you, I followed Bethune. An' when Clendenning followed you, I prospected mostly. 'You thought Bethune might have attacked me?'

"I wasn't takin' any chances—not with him, I wasn't. One day, I thought for a minute he was goin' to try it. It was the day you an' him et lunch together—when he pretended to be so surprised at runnin' onto you. I laid behind a rock with a bead drawn on him. He stopped just exactly one step this side of hell, that day."

"They had mounted and were riding toward Samuelson's, and as they rode side by side, under the cover of her hat brim, Patty found opportunity to study the lean brown face."

"Where's your gun?" The man asked the question abruptly, without removing his eyes from the fore-trail.

"I left it home. I only carried it once or twice. It's heavy and anyway it was silly to carry it. I don't even know how to fire it, let alone carry it! Bethune would hardly hit anything. But, why should I dare harm me, and anyways, now that he thinks he has stolen my secret, he wouldn't have any object in doing so."

"You're goin' to keep on huntin' your dad's claim, ain't you?"

"Of course I am! And I'll find it, too."

"An', in the meantime, what if Bethune finds out he's been tricked? These French breeds go crazy when they're mad—an' he'll either lay for you just to get even, or he'll see that he gets the right dope next time—an' maybe you know what that means, an' maybe you don't—but I do."

HER OWN CAREER

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

FERN'S VISIT

Gwenda went back to her work with renewed energy. And true to his word, Sam Davis raised her salary. With the raise, Gwenda promptly went out and brought her father a kodak. The very one he had always longer for, but never had dared to buy for fear of his wife's tongue-lashing. Mrs. Channing had long since designated amateur photography as "a lot of silly nonsense." This done, she dispatched a huge basket of fruits to the now convalescing Fedya and a wreath for Natalie Stepanoff's coffin. Natalie was buried the next day.

Two days later she went to the hospital to see Fedya and found him very white and still much shaken from his recent experience. He was pathetically broken, and clung to Gwenda's hand like a child. "It is so good to see you, Gwenda! It is so kind of you to make time for a visit to the old Fedya, in spite of all your business."

"They avoided the subject of the tragedy, by mutual consent, and after a half hour's visit Gwenda left, promising to return the next afternoon."

"And the little Fern, what is she doing? Won't she find time, too, to come and see Fedya?" he pleaded. "I want to see her so much, so much, poor child. She has changed greatly, our Fern, hasn't she, Gwenda?"

"Yes, she is much quieter," said Gwenda, pensively. "But she could not be sweeter than she always was, to my way of thinking."

"It is this quality of quietness that makes her like a new girl to me. It makes her so interesting and so, so beautiful."

Gwenda stared at Fedya for a moment as he said this, then dropping her eyes, she pressed his hand once more and left the room. But in that look she had guessed his secret.

Fern called to see him the same day, and spent an hour with him. She cheered him with her conversation and fussed about his pillows in a most motherly way totally new to her. Fedya lay watching her with a look of quiet happiness in his eyes, and sighed with contentment as she told him of her escape from the horrors of publicity, thanks to Gwenda's quick wit.

She brought with her a sheaf of June roses and arranged them artistically in different vases about the room. The scent of them seemed to bring new life and a glow to Fedya's pale cheeks, and before she left Fern was convinced that he was on the road to recovery. In fact, would soon be able to leave the hospital. To be sure, his left arm would be useless for some time, but then, that was after all a small thing, compared with what might have been.

He kissed her hand deferentially when she was leaving and begged her to come again the first moment she was free.

"Dear old Fedya looked so much better when I left today," she announced across the supper table that night. "He seems to be happier all round the last few days, for some unknown reason, doesn't he Gwenda? Or do I maybe imagine that?"

"No, you are quite right about it, my dear," answered Gwenda. (To be continued.)

ALL-LIMA HOTEL, THE ARGONNE, TO BE OPENED TO PUBLIC WITHIN SIXTY DAYS

Public Interest Grows In New Hostelry Now Nearing Completion

Block of Capital Stock to be Offered Lima Citizens Soon

NINETY-FIVE per cent completed, the new Argonne, an all-Lima institution, will be ready to receive the public within 60 days. This statement was made Saturday by owners of the new hostelry, one of the finest in this part of the state.

The inside work is rapidly being completed and within a very short time the furnishings will be installed.

The public, which has watched the growth of the beautiful 10-story building at High and Elizabeth-sts., is taking much interest in this enterprise because it is distinctly a Lima product. Every dollar in it is Lima capital—every person interested in it a Lima citizen.

It will continue to be a Lima institution. Within a few days the general public of this city will be given an opportunity to invest in a block of the capital stock which has not been placed. It will be kept in the city in order that when the magnificent monument to Lima enterprise is completed it will still be all-Lima.

MATTER OF CIVIC PRIDE
There is nothing selfish in this desire of the men back of the enterprise. It is civic pride and the knowledge that Lima can and will foster one of the most valuable improvements in recent years. To this end those who have not a cent a stake are giving their time and efforts that everything connected with the concern shall be 100 per cent Lima.

Confidence of the financial institutions of the city in the project has inspired those backing it to go ahead and this same confidence has resulted in the support it is receiving from disinterested sources.

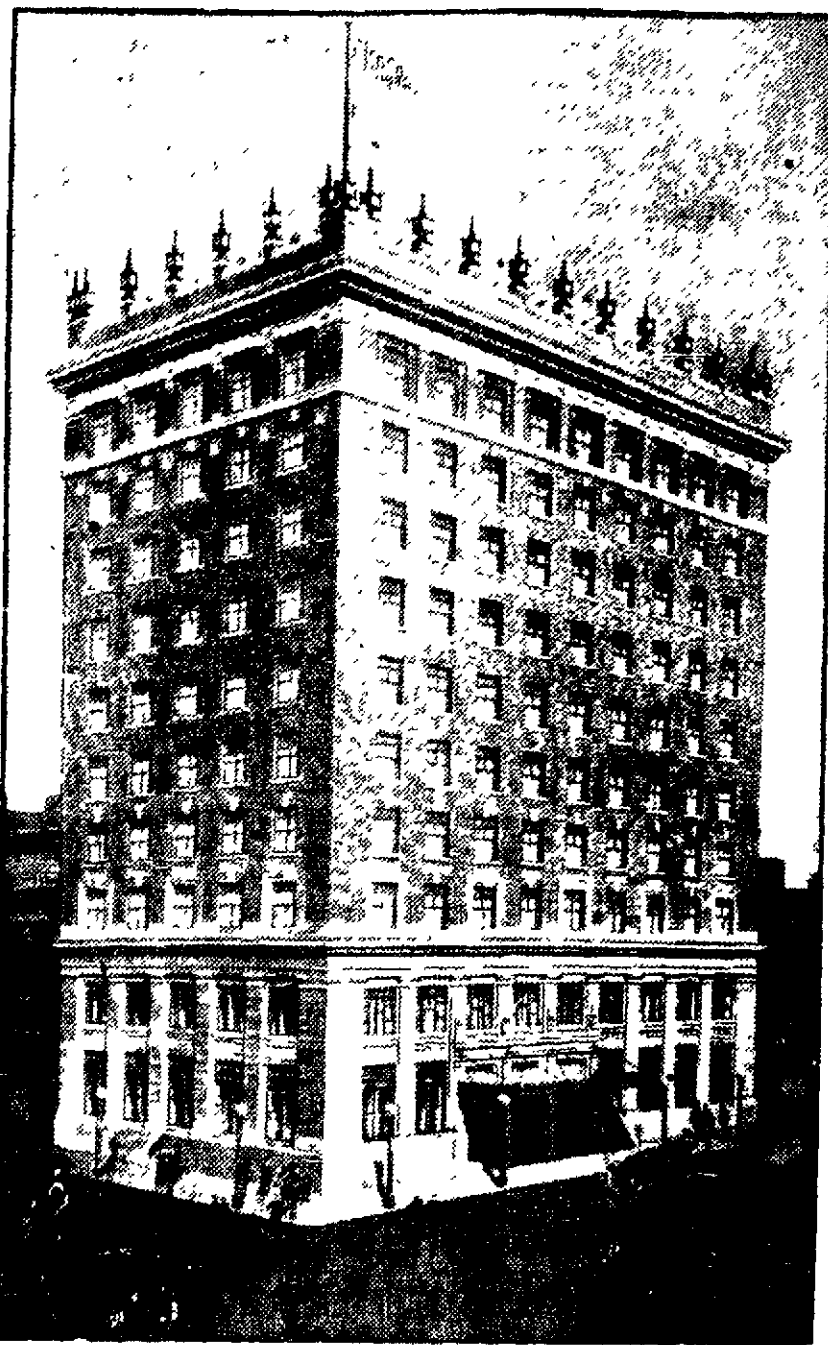

Four big building and loans of the city were the first to come forward to boost the enterprise and have invested a very large sum. The building, when completed, will represent a value of $500,000. It will be close to $600,000.

ORGANIZED FOR $300,000
The company erecting the hotel was organized in May, 1919, with a capital stock of $300,000, all common and with a par value of $100 a share.

Work on the building was started in August, 1919. It will contain 150 rooms, all with bath and running ice water. The building is of the latest type of construction, thoroly fire-proof and equipped with every modern device to make it the ideal hotel the owners have planned.

The hotel will be operated by the owners. Service will be the keynote, and it will be known thruout the country as "The Tourists' House," Lima being on the cross-roads of the nation, hundreds of tourists stop here and especial arrangements will be made for their comfort and entertainment.

THE NEW ARGONNE HOTEL

Above is the new Argonne hotel, which will be opened to the public within the next two months. It contains 150 rooms and will be one of the most modern hosteries in this part of the state when finished.

CLINIC PATIENTS ARE RECOVERING NICELY

Patients who were before the clinic at St. Rita's hospital Tuesday are recovering and in splendid condition, according to Mother Margaret Mary, superintendent of the hospital. A number of children were taken to the hospital that day for the removal of tonsils and adenoids and a number of other operations were performed at that time for the benefit of visiting doctors. Reports from all of these indicate the work was most successful and in every case patients are recovering rapidly. The operations were performed by the regular staff of physicians of St. Rita's hospital.

REDISTRICT OHIO;
ADD TO CONGRESS

Reappointment Bill to be Presented Soon

JOB HUNTERS ARE BUSY

Maiden Speech in Congress Made by John Cable

agreement has been reached to favor the adoption of a constitutional amendment limiting the membership of the House to 500 for all time. This amendment, introduced during the last session, has again made its appearance and probably will be considered in conjunction with the reappointment bill. President Harding is said to have indicated his approval of this amendment and it has strong support from those members who fear that unless a constitutional limitation is provided, the House membership will in time become too unwieldy in size to permit efficiency and dispatch in legislative operation.

Both Ohio Senators voted this week to ratify the Colombian treaty, the first important administration measure to be disposed of since the beginning of the special session. Senator Atlee Pomerene, Ohio's Democratic Senator, has been an advocate of ratification of the treaty since its submission by President Wilson in 1913 and made one of the principal speeches in support of its adoption during the recent debate. His colleague, Senator Frank B.

Willis, Republican, indicated plainly in letters addressed to numerous constituents, that he was out of sympathy with many of its provisions, but said he would support it because as the Republican Senator from the President's home state he regarded it as unwise to break with the President on his first important measure dealing with the foreign policy of the new administration. Senator Willis voted for the Bona amendment which would have included a declaration that the United States was in no way responsible for the revolution in Panama and had not at any time violated its obligations to Colombia. This amendment was defeated by a combination of Democrats and administration Republicans. The treaty debate engendered much bitter feeling in the Republican ranks and served to restore the line of cleavage between the progressive Senators who are devoted adherents still of Theodore Roosevelt and the regulars, which was so much in evidence during the closing months of the Taft administration. Republican supporters of the treaty smarted for eight days under the taunts that they were voting for a treaty, which, when submitted to the Senate by a Democratic President, they had opposed on the ground that it was a "black-mail treaty" and an admission that the United States had sinned against Colombia throughout the negotiations that led to the establishment of the Canal Zone.

It was reported this week that Senator Pomerene had written a letter to President Harding in which he registered an objection to the proposed appointment of George Upson, of Warren, Ohio, husband of Harriet Taylor Upson, leading Ohio suffragist and Vice-Chairman of the Republican National committee, as Judge of the United States Customs Court of Appeals. It is rather unusual for a Senator of opposite political faith to protest to the President against an appointment before it is announced, but it is said that Senator Pomerene based his objection solely on the grounds of fitness and qualifications, and not on politics. Inwardly, the Republicans from Ohio are deriving much comfort from the report of the Pomerene letter; they are becoming resentful because so many choice plums are falling in the laps of Ohio "regulars" who never have been connected actively with any party organization in the state. None of them, however, has had the courage to voice an audible protest, for fear of reprisals later. The story is that Mrs. Upson was promised this job for her husband's return for her consent to come to Washington to take charge of the organization of the women for the 1922 campaign. If the appointment goes thru, Mr. Upson will be located permanently in Washington at a salary of $8,500 a year, the best paying job that has yet gone to an Ohioan, excepting, of course, the Attorney-Generalship and the Ambassadorship to France.

Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty is more beset by hungry office-seekers these days than is President Harding. When he arrives at his office in the Department of Justice building in the morning there is a line of them in front of his office door. His ante-room always is filled and sometimes the line extends into the outer corridor. All of them seem to regard the indorsement of Mr. Daugherty as the prime requisite for appointment. In addition to the ordinary run of applicants there are Senators and Representatives who come to give their indorsements to candidates for United States Judgeships, District Attorneyships and other important offices that belong to the Department of Justice. This often raises a knotty question of priority rights to admit Mr. Daugherty has two willing assistants in Howard Mannington and Jess W. Smith, his former lieutenants in Ohio politics and they manage to divert a large number from the path that leads to the inner office of their chief. It is no wonder that Mr. Daugherty looks with such relief to his occasional week-end visits to his Ohio home, where for a time, at least, he is able to concentrate his thoughts on other matters beside patronage.

Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer, the President's private physician, is developing fame as an after-dinner speaker. At the annual dinner of the Chemical Warfare Service officers recently, he revealed a talent that is certain to make him sought-for at dinner functions in the capital. Dr. Sawyer began his speech with the remark that he had been forty-eight years trying to be a doctor and eight days trying to be a Brigadier-General and aroused much amusement by relating some of the experiences he had encountered since donning the uniform. Then he made a real speech, outlining some of the policies that the new administration is planning to put into effect.

Representative John L. Cable of Lima made his maiden speech in Congress Thursday, ten days after he had taken the oath of office. He spoke on the immigration bill, which he supported as a member of the Immigration Committee and on the floor of the House. It is unusual for a new member to take the floor so soon after his induction into office, but Mr. Cable had a few ideas on the subject which so appealed to the chairman of his committee that he was allotted five minutes in which to present them to the House. He is the first of the new Ohio members to make a set speech in the House.

Arrangements were made last week by Mr. Cable for passports for George E. Bayly, William E. Bayly, L. S. Galvin, Benjamin F. Thomas, Thomas R. Thomas and Dr. John A. Blattenburg, a sextette of Lima, Ohio, citizens who are leaving soon for a trip abroad. The party will visit England, France, Belgium, Italy and Switzerland, the tour to include a visit to battlefields and scenes made memorable during the late world war.

C. C. Committee Staging Campaign for Pledges

A personal appeal to all owners of property with "crippled" sidewalks to make repairs is being made by the members of the Chamber of Commerce good sidewalks committee, headed by Chairman Charles V. Hageman.

Hageman is asking the members of the chamber of commerce to "clean their own skirts first," saying that if the members of the Chamber of Commerce repair their sidewalks, much good will have been done.

Cards asking property owners to agree to put their sidewalks in good condition, with pledges to that effect to be signed are being distributed by the committee.

The committee this week will personally interview property owners with poor sidewalks within four blocks of the public square. The Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs will be addressed by members of the committee and they will be asked to sign the pledge.

CARD OF THANKS
I desire to thank my relatives, neighbors and friends for the kindness and tender sympathy shown me in my recent sad bereavement in the death of my husband, John R. Marshall, also all who contributed machines and the beautiful floral offerings.

I especially wish to thank the singers and Rev. Layport of Columbus Grove for their consoling messages.

Mrs. Mary Marshall.

PAGE PLE RULES TO INSURE HEALTH

Physical Director of "Y. W." to Instruct Girls.

HOW TO KEEP THE BODY FIT

Classes Are Arranged by Miss Mary E. Garford.

"Health Insurance" is characterized by Miss Mary E. Garford, physical director of the Y. W. C. A., as the most important asset of the employed girl. This means keeping the body fit at all times, in order that the work done will be 100 per cent and that no time will be lost from work
 because of poor health.

Most of the common ailments
 such as colds, coughs, indigestion, nerves and rheumatism, can be prevented by following simple rules of health. These rules are not many,
 neither are they difficult to follow,
 yet they mean much to every working girl. Right living will entirely do away with these troubles and will establish a safety valve or a margin of safety which will aid in the warding off of disease and the successful combatting of it, should it be contracted.

To aid in the establishing of this
 "Health Insurance" the Y. W. C. A.
 is instituting a short term of gymnastics, beginning April 25, which will be of special benefit to the employed girls. This will include tennis, baseball, track work and camping. The schedule for each week will be as follows:

Monday: 4 p. m. Junior high interpretive dancing, advanced class.
 7:15 p. m. Industrial girls' gymnastics. 5 to 6 p. m. 'Clog' dancing.
 Wednesday: 2 p. m. Special Publics. 7:30 p. m. Industrial girls social dancing.
 Thursday: 9:30 a. m. Matrons' gym.
 Friday: 4 p. m. Children's gym and dancing with junior dancing following. 7:30 p. m. Industrial girls' gym, followed by interpretive dancing.

Miss Garford says that she is "just itching" to show Lima girls how they can secure this most necessary
 "Health Insurance." The industrial girls are urged to sign up for as many of these classes as they can and not only have a wonderful time but reap many benefits in a health way.
 She will be glad to talk to the girls
 any time they can call at the Y. W.
 C. A.

LIMA PHYSICIANS TO ATTEND STATE MEDICAL MEETING AT COLUMBUS

There will be a shortage of physicians in Lima on May 3, 4 and 5, not because the humanitarians will be on strike, but because a large number of them will be in Columbus attending the seventy-fifth annual meeting of the Ohio State Medical Society.

The doctors who ordinarily work
 all hours of day or night usually suspend business for a few days to attend the annual meeting, as it serves as a post-graduate school in reviewing the scientific advantages of the year.

Dr. C. H. Clark, president; Dr. J.
 H. Tillotson, secretary and Dr. P. I.
 Tanning, treasurer of the Allen Co.
 Medical Society, will head the Allen Co.
 delegation and will be guests of honor at a luncheon given by the State association.

Dr. T. R. Thomas is the delegate from the local society and will represent it officially. Dr. A. F. Basinger is a member of one of the active committees.

Among the doctors from this section of the state who will participate in various scientific sessions are:
 Drs. F. L. Bates and Oliver Steiner
 of Lima; Carl W. Sawyer of Marion; Arlington Miles of Shelby and C. H.
 Skeen of Napoleon.

CARD OF THANKS
 To our many friends, neighbors
 and relatives who so kindly remembered us in our sad bereavement
 in the loss of our darling little boy, after he has suffered intensely for three weeks without a word of complaint. He had on Easter Sunday, the day previous to attack of his last illness, affiliated with the Grace Methodist church and was baptized at Akron, Ohio. This of his own volition.

His kind and affectionate disposition has made it so dreadfully hard for us to submit to our fate, which is in the Will of God. However,
 the magnificent display of sympathy so appropriately rendered with the most beautiful flowers, words
 of condolence and also many other acts of kindness. The beautiful words of commendation for our darling and consolation for us by Rev. Dr. Cole. The music so beautifully rendered by Mrs. R. D. Kahl and Mrs. J. H. Baker and the kind consideration and splendid service
 given by the City Undertaking com-

HI-Y CLUB TO SET UP CAMPAIGN OF FRIENDSHIP AT MEETING ON MONDAY

Junior Hi-Y Club will meet Monday at 5:30 p. m. for their bible class and discussion. On the same day at 4 p. m. the two committees
 from the Hi-Y clubs will meet to set up the Campaign of Friendship, an international movement among Hi-Y clubs for the purpose of helping boys to decide on their careers.

Tuesday evening the news boys bible class will meet and there will also be a banquet for new members.
 There will be a meeting of committees from the different organizations connected with the Boys' Department, relating to the collection of $200 for the foreign fund. Lima is to raise the above amount as part of the $5-000 budget which is to be secured by the boys of Ohio to support Arthur Gobben in Madras, India. More than half of the money has been raised.

Wednesday the South Hi-Y club
 meets to perfect plans for the campaign of Friendship. Thursday is the regular meeting of the Central Hi-Y Club. These clubs are securing Dr.
 K. L. Parent to address the boys of the high schools soon on an important issue of the day.

 Community work is being carried on by the Boys' Department in the east and south ends of the city and baseball teams are being organized and a number of overnight hikes and short camps will be held as soon as warm weather comes.

R. T. EVANS FUNERAL AT VAUGHNSVILLE MONDAY

Funeral services for Richard T.
 Evans, 70, who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. W.
 Swanger, 869 W. Wayne-st., will be held Monday at 10 o'clock at the Congregational church in Vaughns-ville, his former home. Interment will be Turner cemetery, near Columbus Grove.

Evans was a former resident of Putnam Co. near Vaughnsville. He came to reside with his daughter
 when his health failed some months ago. Death followed a complication of disease.

A Real Range Style Show The Largest, Most Complete and Most Beautiful Exhibition of Stoves and Ranges In Western Ohio —And Every Range Is a FAVORITE

EVERY woman in Lima and the surrounding country will find pleasure and profit in accepting our invitation to visit a real style show of stoves and ranges.
 No matter whether your home is large or small; or whether your family is one or ten; or what fuel you use, you will find here on display the very range that will meet every requirement in your household.

Perhaps you may not want to buy now—no matter—
 you will at least receive some ideas and information that you can apply profitably later on.

YOU will be especially interested in the beautiful glistening porcelain ranges. The Favorite All Porcelain Ranges are the last word in stove construction. Their beauty, their convenience, their fuel economy and their practically ever-lasting durability cannot fail to awaken your enthusiasm. They are absolutely sanitary. A damp rag is all you need to clean them. Just as easy to clean as a piece of Haviland China.

ALL PORCELAIN FAVORITE GAS RANGE

NO. 118-64

On the right is illustrated
 the most beautiful gas range ever built. Every outside part is all porcelain enamel, nickel trimmed. All steel parts in white porcelain and cast iron parts may be had in either Favorite Royal blue or light gray porcelain enamel. This is the "Rolls-Royce" of gas ranges, but the price is surprisingly moderate.

Take your time when you visit this Favorite Range Style Show. Every member of our sales force will be delighted to explain to you every detail of any or all of the stoves and ranges on exhibition. Every woman wants to keep abreast of the time and things that concern
 her home and here is the opportunity to learn about the finest stoves and ranges ever built. Sooner or later you will have a Favorite Range
 in your kitchen and if you have not already done so you should get acquainted with them now.

Favorite Stoves and Ranges are made in one of the most complete and modern stove manufacturing plants in the United States. For over seventy years this company has been in the vanguard of stove construction. The stoves and ranges on exhibition in our windows and on our floor are at least a year in advance of any others. The quality of Favorite Stoves and Ranges is unequalled. The never-failing satisfaction they give have made them truly Favorites in every city and state.

NO. 416-40 ALL PORCELAIN
 FAVORITE GAS RANGE

No. 416-40 Favorite All Porcelain Gas Range illustrated above is every bit as beautiful and as durable as the
 No. 118-64, but it is smaller and more compact, and for this reason it will prove very popular for small families;
 or for use in small houses and apartments where kitchen space is at a premium.

FAVORITE LIBERTY
 COMBINATION RANGE

This is positively the lowest priced
 all porcelain gas range manufactured.
 This is the all-year-round range. You can use gas, coal or wood for fuel and it gives equally satisfactory results winter and summer. Mechanically this is the strongest and simplest of any combination ranges in use. It is easy to change from one fuel to another. There is nothing to get out of order.

FAVORITE FIRELESS GAS RANGES

These are the wonder ranges for cooking and baking after your gas has been turned out. They possess every advantage of the ordinary gas range in addition to the features of a fireless
 cooker, but without the necessity of removing food from the oven. With a Favorite Fireless you can spend the afternoon at a theater, or go motoring, comfortable in the knowledge that your dinner will be cooked "just perfect"
 when you return.

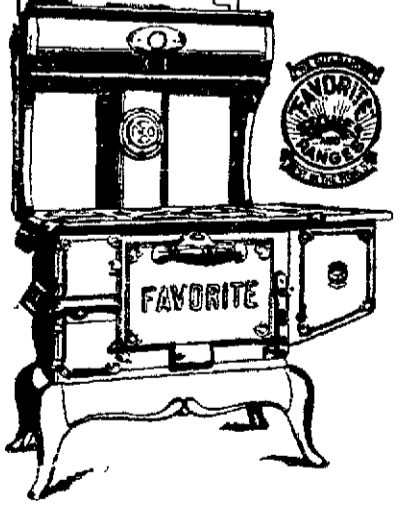

FAVORITE "M" CAST RANGES

Positively the lowest priced six-hole
 top all cast iron range on the market today. If you are interested in a dependable coal range of high quality and the lowest possible price, do not fail to ask about the Favorite "M."

FAVORITE "K" CAST RANGE

Favorite Cabinet Gas Ranges have the distinction of all porcelain oven interiors. It is absolutely sanitary. Impossible to rust or discolor. No other ranges made with this highly desirable feature.

FAVORITE "K" CAST RANGE

Here is another Favorite—the maximum of real service and life long durability at the minimum cost. Remember this—that you can have a Favorite Range from the cheapest that is good
 to the best that can be made.

Let us talk to you about our special sales plan during this display. If you desire we will be glad to offer you the advantages of our extended payment system. Why not start this Spring season right. Do away with your old worn out range and install a new, beautiful Favorite that will not only be a source of pride and satisfaction, but which will actually pay for itself in the saving of food and fuel.

This Special Favorite Display Begins
 Monday
 Do not fail to reserve
 at least one day for it.

ISN'T SURE HE IS DIVORCED

Decree Granted Wife in Missouri Doesn't Satisfy Clarke

John C. Clarke, 1048 N. Jefferson, says he is not sure his wife, Mabel A. Clarke, was divorced from him, so he filed action himself. He had heard she was divorced in a Missouri court and is now re-married and living in Pittsburgh. But Clarke refused to take chances. Clarke charges his wife abandoned him and their daughter, Juanita, 1, shortly after the child was born, since which time Clarke says he has seen his wife but once. He asks her lower in his N. Jefferson-st property and in real estate in Floyd Co., Ky., he married. The couple were principals in a wedding in Lima on December 27, 1918. Married little more than a year ago, Ruth Montgomery filed suit for divorce from her husband, William Mack Montgomery, now a prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary. Montgomery was sent up from Allen Co. The Rev. Shock married the couple at Ottawa, the petition says, on March 2, 1920. The plaintiff's maiden name was Ruth Greene. She charges he didn't provide her with a home or necessities of life.

COURT ACTION BEGUN TO ADJUST AFFAIRS OF SULLIVAN ESTATE

Complications which arose in a distribution of the funds left by Mrs. Patrick Sullivan at her death, caused D. C. Henderson, administrator of her estate, to file suit in common pleas court Saturday for an order for disposition.

In her late-time Mrs. Sullivan and her husband had a joint account at a local building and loan company, which the petition says Mrs. Sullivan inherited her property from her husband. Neither left any children.

The estate amounted to $5,375.54 and since administration there is more than $1,500 left. Mary McNamara, Johanna Kelley and Michael Flavin, sisters and brother of Mrs. Sullivan, claim the entire fund, while Abbie McNamara, sister of Sullivan, seeks one-half of the estate.

CARD OF THANKS For the many acts of kindness and sympathy and the beautiful floral offerings during our sorrow at the loss of our grandfather B. K. McCellan. We wish to thank our neighbors and friends and the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Daughters of Veterans and also the minister and singers for their kind words and songs of comfort. We especially thank those who donated their care and also the undertaker H. H. Hamilton for their efficient service. Mrs. Emma McCellan and Grandchildren.

The Sun of PROSPERITY is rising

The Clouds of Doubt and Uncertainty Have Rolled By

WE ARE emerging from the shadow and entering the Sunshine of PROSPERITY. We are standing upon the threshold of a New Day. Out of imaginary chaos and temporary depression come OPTIMISM and CONFIDENCE in the Future. Speculative orgies are rapidly being replaced by Sound Constructive Business Policies. Fictitious Values and High Prices have had their fling and now step aside to make way for REAL VALUES based upon present Replacement Costs.

THIS is a Prosperous Condition and we are proud that our 312 DEPARTMENT STORES were among the VERY FIRST TO LOWER PRICES and thus help bring about this new PROSPERITY that promises to be SOUND and ENDURING.

ROSE—THE JEWELER

Renew your romantic jewels

YOU'LL find renewed joy in the treasured diamonds and precious stones of years ago if they are remounted in the newer settings of the present day.

No small part of our service consists in making over these treasures or in setting them in designs from our stock. Frequently we design the new mountings which are made up to individual order.

You'll appreciate the care with which such work is handled. And you'll be agreeably surprised at the small cost it entails.

Wedding rings can be re-made without the loss of sentiment. The gold is re-molded in narrow NEW SHAPES carved in the new designs—and may be re-alloyed with white gold if desired. We'll be very glad to have you come in and consult us.

Jewelry Manufacturing Department

We are prepared at all times to do any kind of work pertaining to the Jewelry Trade, whether it be the repairing of old Jewelry, making over or the manufacture of new, and it will be our earnest strife to please you at all times and in all respects, endeavoring thereby, to make you a satisfied and permanent customer of our store. A trial will convince you of the truth of this statement.

BRINGS MESSAGE FROM CHINA

Miss Elterich Speaker at Missionary Meeting

200 VISITORS EXPECTED

Session to be Held Here Tuesday And Wednesday

Mrs. Helen Elterich, Chicago, China, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of Lima Presbytery, to be held in Market Presbyterian church Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Elterich is a missionary in the far east.

She will have for her subject Tuesday evening, "The New China and Mission Work." She will speak Wednesday morning on "School Work in China." The meeting will open Tuesday afternoon. The closing session will be held Wednesday afternoon. Members of both the women's and young people's organizations plan to attend. Names of delegates and those who plan to attend are being received by Mrs. J. E. Grogan, 112 N. McDonald.

Young people will enjoy a dinner Tuesday at 4 p. m., when the Westminster guild of Market street church will entertain visiting guild and circle girls, patronesses, C. E. members and leaders of light bearers. Mrs. S. J. Dunning, synodical secretary for young people, will speak on "Young People's Responsibilities to Missions."

OFFICERS OF SOCIETY

Community Work." Mrs. R. E. Hughton will give "Messages from the Boards." Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Mrs. W. A. Graham and Mrs. A. L. Garman, members of the committee on resolutions, will report. Mrs. J. F. Black will be in charge of "The Utter Hour."

More than 200 women will come to the city to attend the meeting, from all parts of northwestern Ohio.

OBITUARY

Lee A. Boyzell, veteran of the Civil War, having served as Lieutenant of Infantry in 69th, O. V. I. was born Feb. 22, 1845, at Tarlton, Pickaway County, Ohio, where he spent his boyhood and youth. When Lincoln's call for volunteers came in 1861, he, with three older brothers, enlisted in the O. V. I. and served continuously until the close of the war. He was in active service with the army of the Cumberland, was at Shiloh, Vicksburg, Look-Out Mountain, and with Sherman on his march to the sea. He was twice married. His first wife, Cassie Shoemaker, died in 1883. In 1884 he was united in marriage with Lavina Mowery, who, with two sons, and four daughters, survives him. More than 45 years ago he came to Cridersville, and ever since has been identified with the business interests of this village. Here, surrounded by his beloved family, he passed his peaceful life. A few months ago his health began to fail, and on the evening of the 20th of April his long useful life of 76 years drew peacefully to a close. A good husband and father, a kind neighbor, a faithful friend passed from our midst.

The Measure of Your Curtains

That's the first thing we look into when you send your curtains to us. They're measured carefully before washing and then they're dried to measure—their original size and shape is retained exactly.

Our special curtain dryer insures it. Without pins or blocks or hooks to rip and tear, it holds your curtains smoothly, while they're drying.

Every little scallop is kept in place, and perfectly shaped. Your curtains are returned to you as dainty and graceful as when you hung them for the first time.

And we're just as careful in washing them. We use the mildest of white soaps, the softest of rain-water and a gentle sousing process that cannot injure the finest fabric.

When you're housecleaning send us your curtains—it will save you time, and you'll note a delightful improvement in the hang and finish of your draperies.

CAST CHOSEN FOR JUNIOR PLAY

Comedy, "When Smith Stopped Out," Friday

Cast for the comedy, "When Smith Stopped Out," to be presented by the Junior Class of Central High school Friday, has been announced. Wm. Earnest as Uncle Bill, plays the lead and should be a hit. His part is a hard one but Earnest will be able to handle it satisfactorily. The remainder of the cast is equally well chosen. Some difficulty was encountered in selecting the cast as there are only eight people in the play and a great number of excellent amateurs were tried out.

The plot of the play is humorous. Uncle Bill is absent-minded and leaves his home for a walk, forgetting to take his watch and carrying a revolver. He discovers that his watch is missing and thinking that it has been stolen by a man he meets, he holds him up and recovers a watch, only to find upon his return home that he has robbed a stranger.

Many difficulties arise and Uncle Bill is in danger of being arrested but as usual everything turns out all right in the final scene.

The love story that runs thru the play should keep an audience interested. The Junior play is given each year to provide funds for the reception given the graduating class by the Juniors in June.

Miss Zella Foster, head of the English Department, is directing the rehearsals. Tickets have been on sale for several days and indications are that the auditorium will be filled when the play is presented.

DELPHOS MAN PURCHASES LAND AT SHERIFF'S SALE

Twelve acres of land owned by William S. East and others, located west of Lima, on the Fort Wayne Van Wert and Lima Electric Railway, was sold Saturday at public auction by Sheriff Baxter to satisfy the court action of Louis A. Geiger against William S. East and others.

The Citizens' Building and Loan company held a judgment for $5,000 against East and others. The land and appurtenances thereto, included with the property, was appraised at $12,370. It sold for $9,007. Elmer E. Truesdale, Delphos, was the purchaser.

IN COLORED CIRCLES

ALEMITE

HIGH PRESSURE LUBRICATING

What it Means to You:

With the ALEMITE LUBRICATING SYSTEM, you can grease the chassis of your car with ease in twenty to thirty minutes

All the disagreeable features of the old process are eliminated.

RESULT

Longer life for the car. A better riding car.
Marked decrease in operating expense.
Installation costs for cars not equipped is very moderate.
Adopted as standard equipment by 172 car manufacturers.

OUR BATTERY SERVICE IS FREE

How it Pays Us—and You

OF course we're in business to make money. You have probably wondered why we maintain the expense of free inspections for batteries. We have two reasons:

1. It enables us to get acquainted with automobile owners.
2. It gives us a chance to demonstrate our exceptional ability to care for and repair batteries.

In a word, this free inspection is the best advertising we can possibly do.

It pays you to avail yourself of this service, because it will help you get longer life from your battery; and prevent battery troubles on the road.

Layport, Columbus Grove, home and freedmen treasurer; Mrs. William Wilson, Lima, foreign and contingent treasurer; Mrs. Louise McDonald, Lima, sub-editor Synodical News letter.

Mrs. R. E. Hugheson will call the meeting to order Tuesday at 2 p. m.

p. m. Mrs. Samuel Huecker, Lima, will conduct devotional service. Mrs. L. F. Cooper, McComb, will read minutes of the previous Presbyterial and executive session. An open executive meeting will result in roll call, to be responded to by reports of the year's work by auxiliary delegates and discussion of auxiliary problems.

The Rev. Samuel Huecker will conduct devotionals at the Tuesday evening session at 7:30. Harley Holmes will give a violin solo and Mrs. Roy Banta will favor with a reading. Miss Elterich's address will be followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. F. E. Gooding. Mrs. Smith Orday of the Woman's Home Board, will speak on "The Needs of the Hour."

Mrs. George W. Gore, Columbus Grove, will offer devotionals at Wednesday morning session at 9 o'clock. Reports of Presbyterial officers will be made. The president will give her report and make recommendations. Mrs. S. J. Dunning will head the young people's conference. Miss Henrietta Breckbill, Columbus Grove, will favor with a vocal solo and Miss Elterich and Mrs. Orday will speak, the latter on "Glimpses of Porto Rico."

Mrs. W. Cunningham, Bluffton, will have for her subject, "Wooster School of Missions."

MANY VISITORS COMING

Mrs. S. J. Dunning will speak on "Christian Social Service" at the Wednesday afternoon session at 1 o'clock. Miss Eunice Trumbull, Child Welfare worker in Lima, will tell of "Practical Plans for Community Work." Mrs. R. E. Hugheson will give "Messages from the Board." Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Mrs. W. A. Graham and Mrs. A. L. Garman, members of the committee on resolutions, will report. Mrs. J. F. Black will be in charge of "The Plot Hour."

More than 200 women will come to the city to attend the meeting, from all parts of northwestern Ohio.

OBITUARY

Lee A. Boyess, veteran of the Civil War, having served as Lieutenant of Infantry in 69th O. V. I. was born Feb. 22, 1845, at Tartan, Pickaway County, Ohio, where he spent his boyhood and youth. When Lincoln's call for volunteers came in 1861, he, with three older brothers, enlisted in the O. V. I. and served continuously until the close of the war. He was in active service with the army of the Cumberland, was at Shiloh, Vicksburg, Look-Out Mountain, and with Sherman on his march to the sea. He was twice married. His first wife, Cassie Sionaker, died in 1883. In 1884 he was united in marriage with Lavina Mowery, who, with two sons, and four daughters, survives him. More than 15 years ago he came to Cridersville and ever since has been identified with the business interests of this city. He was surrounded by his beloved family, he passed his peaceful life. A few months ago his health began to fail and on the morning of the 20th of April his long useful life of 52 years drew peacefully to a close. A good husband and father, a kind neighbor, a faithful friend passed from our midst.

LODGE NOTICES

The Measure of Your Curtains

That's the first thing we look into when you send your curtains to us. They're measured carefully before washing and then they're dried to measure—their original size and shape is retained exactly.

Our special curtain dryer insures it. Without pins or blocks or hooks to rip and tear, it holds your curtains smoothly, while they're drying.

Every little scallop is kept in place, and perfectly shaped. Your curtains are returned to you as dainty and graceful as when you hung them for the first time.

And we're just as careful in washing them. We use the mildest of white soaps, the softest of rain-water and a gentle sousing process that cannot injure the finest fabric.

When you're housecleaning send us your curtains—it will save you time, and you'll note a delightful improvement in the hang and finish of your draperies.

CAST CHOSEN FOR JUNIOR PLAY

Comedy, "When Smith Stepped Out," Friday

For the comedy, "When Smith Stepped Out," to be presented by the Junior Class of Central High School Friday, has been announced. The cast is as follows: Uncle Ben, played by Wm. Earnest; a hard one but Earnest will be able to handle it satisfactorily. The remainder of the cast is equally well chosen. Some difficulty was encountered in selecting the cast as there are only eight people in the play and a great number of excellent actors were tried out. The cast comprises William Earnest, George Smith, Omer Moore, Richard Kree, Dorel Creps, Bob Shanley, James Backus, Mrs. George Smith, Helen Hamilton, Mrs. Muriel Armitage, Helen Moore, Miss Winslow, Helen East and Hilda Christine Baker. The plot of the play is humorous. Uncle Ben is absent-minded and takes his home for a walk, forgetting to take his watch and carrying a revolver. He discovers that his watch is missing and thinking that it has been stolen by a man he sees, he holds him up and recovers a watch, only to find upon his return home that he has robbed a stranger. Many difficulties arise and Uncle Ben is in danger of being arrested but as usual everything turns out all right in the final scene. The love story that runs thru the play should keep an audience interested. The Junior play is given each year to provide funds for the reception given the graduating class by the Juniors in June. Miss Edna Foster, head of the English Department, is directing the rehearsals. Tickets have been on sale for several days and indications are that the auditorium will be filled when the play is presented.

DELPHOS MAN PURCHASES LAND AT SHERIFF'S SALE

Twelve acres of land owned by William S. East and others, located west of Lima, on the Fort Wayne Van Wert and Lima Electric Railway, was sold Saturday at public auction by Sheriff Baxter to satisfy the court action of Louis A. Gaiser against William S. East and others. The Chittenden Building and Loan company held a judgment for $5,000 against East and others. The land and appurtenances thereto, included with the property, was appraised at $12,370. It sold for $9,007. Elmer E. Truesdale, Delphos, was the purchaser.

Mrs. Nora Gill of S. Jackson-st. visited a few days in Columbus last week. Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, W. Springfield, entertained the Brotherhood last Monday evening. Lou Patterson was host to The Cheerful Workers Friday evening. Miss Minnie Morin is still confined to her home, with gripe. Mrs. Minnie Scott of Toledo attended the lecture given by Mrs. Talbert, Wednesday. All members of Samuel W. Clarke Lodge No. 67 are requested to be present Tuesday evening. The B. L. L. will meet Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, of Columbus, are visiting in Lima, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lowery. Mrs. Robinson is a sister of Mr. Lowery. Captain Peter McGovern will read a paper entitled "A Brief History of the Colored Residents of Allen-co" at a meeting of the Allen-co Historical Society, at Memorial Hall, Friday evening. All residents of Allen-co are invited to be present and the following named old citizens are especially invited: Aunt Mary Moss, Uncle Henry Robinson, Uncle Isaac Mines Sr. and Uncle Benj. Shaffer. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jackson entertained with a dinner party, Tuesday evening, in honor of E. M. Parsons, E. G. C. Masonic Lodge, of Dayton. The table was prettily decorated with hand crocheted doilies and station candles. A four course dinner was served to the following: Mr. E. M. Parsons, Dr. and Mrs. Bradfield and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hamilton, Captain and Mrs. McCown and Lou Patterson. The A. M. E. Sunday school will hold election of officers Sunday, after the lesson period. Mrs. Mary Talbert of Buffalo, N. Y., delighted an audience at St. Paul A. M. E. church Wednesday evening, in a lecture on her recent trip to Norway, where she went as a delegate to the International Council of Women. A drive for this association for membership will be started this week. Fay Murrell of Cleveland is visiting relatives here. The Aeolian Club met in a business session with Mrs. Nora Shoecraft Thursday afternoon and the following persons were elected as officers for next year: Mrs. Talbert is considered one of the best informed women of the negro race and while she filled the chair as president of The National association of Colored Women she visited every state in the Union, to ascertain conditions of the negro people. Among other good things Mrs. Talbert spoke of was the work of The N. A. A. C. P. being done in America. President, Mrs. Clara Galloway; vice president, Mrs. Bertha Jackson; secretary, Mrs. Clara Heathcox; assistant secretary, Mrs. Tiny Tucker; treasurer, Mrs. Millie Collins; secretary and treasurer of charity, Mrs. Linnie Hansbarger; custodian, Mrs. Linnie Richardson; pianist and chorister, Mrs. Hattie Morin; assistant pianist and chorister, Mrs. Emma Masterson; parliamentarian, Mrs. Albert Harrison, Mrs. Emma McElwee; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edith Bradfield; flower committee, Mrs. Bertie Bailey, Mrs. Bertha Ramsey; program committee, Mrs. Nora Shoecraft, Mrs. Chattie Hamilton, Mrs. Mattie Turner, Mrs. Josephine Vaughn, Mrs. Linnie Richardson; house committee, Mrs. Minnie Howard, Mrs. Hattie Morin; membership committee, Mrs. Althea Goings, Mrs. Nora Shoecraft.

It has been the year of the aeroplane. Airships have had small part in the commercial history of commercial aviation.

The year 1921 may see strides in application of the lighter than air machines to problems of commercial transport. The Air Ministry has handed over to the Civil Aviation Department five airships, the R 34, R 36, R 37 and the surrendered Zeppelin L 64 and L 71. These are to be used experimentally in determining adaptability of airships for commercial trips.

'JOY HOPS' IN AIR THING OF PAST—England's Pleasure "Sailing" Gives Way to Regular Trips

TURNED INTO TRADE USE—Commercial Flying Makes Great Progress, Writer Says

By EARL C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON.—Lloyds have started an aviation record for the purpose of supplying insurance companies information on which to base rates of insurance.

It means that the world of hard-headed business has recognized that commercial flying has left the experimental stage and is today a recognized and important section of the world's transport system.

How important is shown by inquiry into the "air history" of the year 1920. Such inquiries reveal some striking facts.

The leading "stunts" of the year were the successful London to Melbourne flight, a flight from London to Capetown, and the Italian flight from Rome to Tokio.

STEADY COMMERCIAL FLIGHTS—But behind these the steady progress of civil aviation continued almost unnoted. Figures covering May to September, the months of heavy traffic, show actually more than 11,000 fewer flights in 1919 than in 1920. But during the former year there was a craze for joy rides of a few minutes while the figures for 1920 cover chiefly actual commercial flights as distinct from pleasure joy rides. Miles flown increased from 450,300 in 1919 to 647,300 in 1920. Traffic between England and the Continent reached a peak in August, when there were 247 arrivals and 270 departures, or an average of about ten per day.

GOODS BY AIRPLANE—During fifteen months $2,500,000 worth of goods were imported into England via the aeroplane route. During September 16,000 letters were carried.

Mr. Handley Page estimates that the commercial services have reached an efficiency of 94 per cent. His method of reaching this figure takes into account many technical factors, but a summary of commercial, experimental and test flights, prepared by the Air Ministry, covering a period from May 1, 1919, to September 30, 1920, gives striking illustration of his point.

The information is presented as follows: Machine miles, 1,381,500; passengers carried, 100,285; number of flights, 58,478; pilots killed, 7; pilots injured, 13; passengers killed, 8; passengers injured, 15.

RAILROAD'S FINANCIAL POLICY CALLED UNWISE—CHICAGO.—The New York Central is endeavoring to place the result of an "unwise financial policy" on the shoulders of its employees, according to claims filed with the United States railway labor board late Saturday.

The charge was made by the union leaders in the fight to prevent lowering of wages.

The railroad is over-capitalized $128,540,677, the unions alleged.

"The present annual cost of over-capitalization is placed at more than $6,000,000," the exhibit said.

Cash dividends paid by the road for the period of 1870-1919, are said to aggregate 285.5 per cent and it is asserted the proportion of such dividends that may be allocated to stock representing over-capitalization amounts to $163,099,650, an average of $3,261,993 a year.

STRONGEST DRY FORCES MEET—(By HAROLD D. JACOBS.)

NEW YORK.—The two strongest prohibition forces in the world—William Jennings Bryan and Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright—met in conference here Saturday afternoon. Among the results of this meeting to which the United Press was exclusively invited, were:

Bryan assured Enright that in a public address Sunday, he will urge "all the moral forces in the city" to support the police department in enforcing the new state prohibition law.

Enright emphasized that he "means business," and intends to make New York the driest city in the world in fact as well as in name.

The "Commoner" declared the ruling of former Attorney General Palmer, permitting sale of beer as "medicinal," would be revoked either by Attorney General Daugherty or by congress. Referring to the alleged practice of liquor runners in establishing bases in the British West Indies, Bryan said he had in mind "a plan to inform Great Britain that the United States considers it an unfriendly act to harbor bootleggers and smugglers close to our borders."

"We are gaining ground in prohibition enforcement here," Enright declared, citing the 1,800 arrests and seizure of great quantities of liquor to date as evidence of police activity.

"There is no question that New York is dryer than it ever was before and it will become increasingly dryer as law enforcement machinery runs smoother."

"There is every possibility that all flagrant violations of the law will be wiped out within a couple of months, altho, of course, there will be minor violations indefinitely, the same as in any other law."

SLUMP SHOWN IN IMMIGRATION—Increase of 358,442 Foreign-Born in U. S.

WASHINGTON.—An increase of only 358,442 persons was shown in the white foreign-born population of the United States for the ten-year period ended January 1, the census bureau Saturday showed in an announcement of vital import to business men, manufacturers, farmers and the government. The increase in the previous ten-year period regarded as normal, was 3,131,728 per cent.

The census bureau announcement is expected to reopen the entire question of immigration restriction legislation for months. The total white foreign-born population of the continental United States now is 13,703,987, as compared with 13,345,545 in 1910.

Although it was well known that the war greatly restricted the infusion of new blood into the United States population, there was no indication that such a drastic curtailment of the foreign-born population had taken place.

The revolt against rent-paying is growing.

There is a wide-spread revival of the ideals of the early American settlers when every family owned the roof over its head.

The country is now beginning what is probably the greatest home-building movement in the history of the world.

The war has brought on a distressing housing shortage and a resulting wide-spread condition of distress.

You can quickly and easily find out the relative costs of the different types of dwellings. You can easily choose a desirable and advantageous location.

Building material costs are down and labor is plentiful.

A Comfortable Home For a Family of Two or Three Or An Ideal Summer Cottage

If you do not actually need a large house, here is an ideal little home that can be built at very small cost. Compactness and economy are two features that make this cottage worth considering.

This little house is cunningly planned and quite as attractively complete in interior and exterior arrangement as many much more expensive dwellings. Has all the essentials or a real domicile and what more could a small family ask? Has large living room, bedroom, kitchen, bath, closet space, porches and a cute little breakfast room arrangement at end of kitchen.

Breakfast room has built-in seats, for breakfast room uses when the family's alone—in case of "company," table can be spread in the living room, which has cozy fireplace and looks upon goodly sized porch with stone steps and rubblestone foundation and pillars.

Get Busy

If you build right now you save time, worry and money. First, labor is more plentiful now; second, with quick service and ample help, your building can be more satisfactorily built; third, building material prices are way down. Ask us about the cost.

Changing the Commonplace House Into a Real Home

Every community has its old brick dwellings. The somewhat out of date, the structure is substantially good.

Wonderful old homes these, but the elements have begun to exact their toll, as is evidenced by the loose mortar joints and the stained weather-beaten walls, if painted: the surface scaled and colorless.

It is difficult to restore attractiveness to the rundown brick house.

Ordinary means are at best temporary, costly and wasteful, affording little or no change. Yet the old brick house offers splendid possibilities if handled rightly—a modern touch here and there and an overcoating of—

ROCBOND Stone-tone Stucco

Will make the transformation complete and permanent. This cost is negligible, the results most pleasing. Rocbond bonds perfectly on brick and frame, reducing the cost of alterations to a minimum. The beauty of Stone-tone surfacing removes every trace of joint structure, unsightly surfaces and air-seal lines are obliterated. The old brick walls are made weather tight and damp resisting, preserved indefinitely. Future upkeep is ended. Rocbond can be applied in the coldest weather and under conditions that would utterly ruin ordinary stuccos.

Let us submit you samples and concerning details.

SHORT SHAVINGS

"I reckon," said Farmer Cortosel, "as how mebbe barbed wire ought to be counted as one of the most useful inventions of the age."

"When there's a lot of work to be done barbed wire makes it impossible for a feller to sit on the fence and look on."

William Jennings Bryan tells this story of the most attentive auditor he ever acquired in all his experience of public speaking.

He was delivering an address up Minnesota way and soon noticed a man right down in front who was concentrating attention upon him in a most unusual way. The speaker went on and on, but this fixed concentration never varied. It fascinated the speaker, gratified him. He spoke right to this man, acquiesced himself rather better than usual because of his attentive inspiration.

When the address was over he came down from the platform, shook this man by the hand, thanked him for his evident appreciation and told him what a help it had been.

"I would like to ask," he said, "if it is not too personal, just what quality it was in my performance that held you so unwaveringly to it?"

"Well," said the stranger, "I have heard a great many speeches. I always go to all the speakings that are held round here. But you are the first man I ever heard speak whose back teeth I could see all the time."

"Pa, what's a counter-irritant?" "A counter-irritant, by son, is a woman who makes a dry goods clerk show here everything on the shelves and then buys a yard of muslin."

CUTICURA HEALED BABY'S PIMPLES

At Over Body When Six Months Old Could Not Sleep

"When baby was about six months old pimples broke out all over his body. They were small and when he scratched they would turn to a scale. At times his feet itched so we had to stick them in cold water and he couldn't sleep."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. I bought more, and when I had used one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. A. Loken, Skaneateles, Minn.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are ideal for every-day toilet use. Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 2, Medina, N. Y." Sold every-where. Keep the Ointment in the tin. Talcum in the box. Cuticura Soap always without tag.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step farther, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

The Paige Daytona model, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world. And the motor that you will find under a 6-66 hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.
